The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1299, entitled:

An Act to repeal section one of the act, approved the eleventh day of April, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-two, (P. L. 451), entitled "An act providing for the publication of certain accounts and notices in the counties of Bedford and Somerset," in so far as it applies to Bedford County.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, this is a bill for the repeal of a special act relating merely to Bedford county. The constitution provides that in such a case there must be an advertisement published in the local papers for the repeal of such a bill thirty days before the act is called up for passage in the Legislature. The constitution also provides that evidence of such advertisement having been printed in the papers must be submitted in the Legislature. I have the evidence here, being the affidavit from the publisher of the local paper, stating that this provision of the constitution has been complied with.

Shall the bill pass finally?

An Act to amend article three of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-six) entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder" by adding section three hundred and twenty thereto providing double compensation for injuries to minors under eighteen years of age injured while employed illegally and for death resulting from such injuries

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That article three of the act approved the second day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-six) entitled "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee in the course of employment establishing an elective schedule of compensation and providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder" is hereby amended by adding thereto a new section which reads as follows:

Section 320 (a) If the employee at the time of the accident is a minor under the age of eighteen years employed or permitted to work in violation of any provision of the laws of this Commonwealth relating to minors of such age compensation either in the case of injury or death of such employee shall be double the amount that would be payable to such minor if legally employed The amount by which such compensation shall exceed that provided for in case of legal employment may be referred to as additional compensation

(b) The employer and not the insurance carrier shall be liable for the additional compensation Any provision in an insurance policy undertaking to relieve an employer from such liability shall be void provided however that the Board may upon proper showing determine that such additional compensation cannot be collected from the employer in which event it may order the insurance carrier to make payment thereof and the insurance carrier shall be subrogated to the rights of the employee or the dependents against such employer

(c) Where death or the nature of the injury renders the amount of future payments certain the total amount of the additional compensation subject to discount as in the case of commutation shall be immediately due and payable It shall be deposited subject to the approval of the Board in any savings bank trust company or life insurance company in good standing and authorized to do business in this State

Where the amount of the future payments of compensation is uncertain the board shall upon the approval of the agreement or the entry of an award determine as nearly as may be the total amount of payments to be made and the additional compensation so calculated shall immediately upon such determination become due and payable by the employer The amount may be redetermined by the Board and any increase shall then become due and payable and any excess which shall be shown to have been paid shall be returned to the person paying the same Upon determination of the amount due it shall be deposited as above provided Payments of compensation out of deposits shall be made to the employee or dependents as payments of other compensation are made Provided however that the Board may in its discretion and upon inquiry as in cases of commutation accelerate such payments

(d) The provisions of the foregoing paragraph (c) shall not apply to employers who are exempted by the Bureau from the necessity of carrying insurance or to cases wherein the insurance carrier under order of the Board has been directed to make the payments of additional compensation

(e) Possession of a valid employment certificate duly issued and transmitted to the employer in accordance with the provisions of the child labor law and receipt thereof duly acknowledged by him shall be conclusive evidence to such employer of his legal right to employ the minor for whose employment such certificate has been issued

(f) The possession of an age certificate duly issued and transmitted to the employer by the school authorities of the school district in which a minor resides shall be conclusive evidence to the employer of the minor's age as certified therein

(g) If neither party has elected not to be bound by the provisions of article three of the act to which this act is an amendment in the manner prescribed by section three hundred and two of said act they shall be held to have agreed to be bound by the provisions of this act and to have waived any other right or remedy at law or in equity for the recovery of damages for injuries occurring under the circumstances herein described

Section 2 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

The SPEAKER (Aaron B. Hess), in the Chair.

Rev. Martin W. Schweitzer, Ph. D., offered the following prayer:

Teach us, Almighty God, the responsibility of great knowledge, great wealth, and the possession of a great land.

Cause us to remember that we have come into this great inheritance, not thru any superior qualities on our part, but thru thy great love and kindness.

O Lord, thou who art our God and our fathers' God, aid us to impress upon this generation the lessons that can be learned from the past.

Especially would we thank Thee for the good examples of those who having fought in defense of liberty and right do now rest from their labors.

Hasten the happy day when war shall be learned no longer, and all battle flags be furled. Let us have peace.

God bless our native land. Amen.

Section 2 Authorization of Voting Machines—Any county city borough or township may by a majority vote of its qualified electors voting thereon cast at any general or municipal election authorize and direct the use of voting machines for registering or recording and computing the vote at all elections held in such county city borough or township or in any part thereof

The third section was read as follows:

Section 3 Placing the Question on the Ballot Election thereon—(a) The county commissioners may upon their own motion submit to the qualified electors of the county or of any city borough or township thereof at any election the question "Shall voting machines be used in the (county city borough or township) of?"

(b) The county commissioners upon receipt of a request from the council of any city or borough or from the commissioners or supervisors of any township said request being evidenced by the filing of a copy of a resolution certified by the secretary or clerk of the council commissioners or supervisors or upon the filing of a petition with them signed by qualified electors of the county city borough or township equal in number to at least one per cent of the total number of electors who voted in said county city borough or township at the preceding general or municipal election but in no case less than fifty unless the total number of electors who voted therein at the preceding general or municipal election was less than one hundred in which case one half of the number so voting shall be sufficient shall at the next general municipal or primary election occurring at least sixty days thereafter submit to the qualified electors of such county city borough or township the question "Shall voting machines be used in the (county city borough or township) of?"

(c) The county commissioners shall cause the said question to be printed upon the ballots to be used at the election in the form and manner provided by the laws governing general and municipal elections

(d) The election on said question shall be held at the places during the hours and under the regulations provided by law for holding general and municipal elections and shall be conducted by the election officers provided by law to conduct such election The election officers shall count the votes cast at the election on said question and shall make return thereof to the prothonotary of the county as required by law Said returns shall be computed by the court of common pleas or other return board and when so computed a certificate of the total number of electors voting Yes and of the total number of electors voting No on such question shall be filed in the office of the prothonotary and a copy thereof certified by the prothonotary shall forthwith be furnished to the county commissioners

(e) If a majority of the electors of any county city borough or township voting on such question shall vote against the adoption of voting machines the question shall not again be submitted to the voters of such political subdivision within a period of one hundred and three weeks

(f) Whenever under the provisions of this section the question of the adoption of voting machines is about to be submitted to the electors of any county city borough or township it shall be the duty of the county commissioners or other authority which levies taxes for county purposes in such county to ascertain whether current funds will be available to pay for said machines if adopted and purchased or whether they have power to increase the indebtedness of the county in an amount sufficient to pay for the same without the consent of the electors and if such current funds will not be available and the power to increase the indebtedness of the county in a sufficient amount without the consent of the electors is lacking it shall be the duty of the county commissioners or other authority aforesaid to submit to the electors of the county in the manner provided by law at the same election at which the adoption of voting machines is to be voted on the question whether the indebtedness of such county shall be increased in an amount specified by them sufficient to pay for such voting machines if adopted

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

Amend section 3, page 5, line 5, by striking out after the word "such" and before the word "The" the word [election] and inserting in lieu thereof the word "elections"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The fourth section was read as follows:

Section 4 Installation of Voting Machines—(a) If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the question shall vote in the affirmative the county commissioners of the said county shall purchase for each election district of such county city borough or township one or more voting machines of a kind or kinds approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and shall notify the Secretary of the Commonwealth in writing that they have done so The county commissioners shall provide machines in good working order and shall preserve and keep them in repair Voting machines of different kinds may be used for different districts in the same county city borough or township

(b) Such voting machines shall be installed either simultaneously or gradually in political subdivisions which adopt them Upon the installation of voting machines in any election district the use of paper ballots therein shall be discontinued except as otherwise provided herein

(c) If voting machines are installed gradually they shall be introduced in the case of counties in alphabetical order by cities boroughs and townships so that they will first be used in the city borough or township the name of which is first in alphabetical order and then in the city borough or township the name of which is next in alphabetical order and so on In cities boroughs and townships they shall be introduced in numerical or alphabetical order by wards and election districts if any so that they will first be used in the first election district of the first ward and then in the second election district of the first ward and so on After they have been installed in all the election districts in the first ward they shall be installed in the same manner in the second ward then in the third ward and so on In any event the machines shall be installed as rapidly as practicable after the electors have voted in favor of them

(d) If the question hereinbefore provided shall have been submitted to the qualified electors of the county city borough or township and the majority of the electors voting thereon shall have voted favorably thereon and if the county commissioners shall not within one year have executed their contract or contracts for the purchase or procurement of voting machines for use at the next general municipal or primary election occurring at least one year and sixty days after the referendum then the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall forthwith in writing notify the said county commissioners that after the expiration of thirty days he under the authority of this act on behalf of the said county will award make and execute such contract or contracts unless the said county commissioners meanwhile shall have made and executed the same

(e) If upon the expiration of said thirty days the county commissioners still shall not have made and executed the contract or contracts aforesaid the Secretary of the Commonwealth on behalf of the said county and upon the approval of the Attorney General as to form shall thereupon award make and execute a contract or contracts for the purchase or procurement of one voting machine approved as required by this act for each election district within each such county city borough or township and the cost of such voting machines including the delivery thereof and of making and entering into the said contract or contracts including the preparation and printing of specifications and all other necessary expense incidental thereto shall be the debt of the said county and upon the certificate of the Secretary of the Commonwealth it shall be the duty of the controller if any to allow and of the treasurer of the county to pay the sum out of any appropriation available therefor or out of the first unappropriated moneys that come into the treasury of the county

(f) Provided That if the county commissioners or the Secretary of the Commonwealth as the case may be shall find it impracticable to procure a voting machine or voting machines for each election district of the county city borough or township for use at the general municipal or primary election then next ensuing they or he shall provide as many machines as it shall be practicable to procure and as soon thereafter as practicable shall provide the remainder of such machines required hereunder The machines shall be installed in the election district or districts in the manner provided for the gradual introduction of voting machines in Paragraph (c) of this section

(g) Any county city borough or township may by a majority vote of its qualified electors cast at any general election held not earlier than one hundred and three weeks after they have voted to adopt such machines direct the discontinuance of the use of voting machines at elections held in such county city borough or township The question for the discontinuance of the use of such voting machine shall be submitted to the voters in the same manner and subject to the same requirements as to petition and signatures thereon as is required for the submission of the question on the authorization of the use of such voting machines

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 6 Examination and Approval of Voting Machines by Secretary of Commonwealth—(a) Any person or corporation owning manufacturing or selling or being interested in the manufacture or sale of any voting machine may request the Secretary of the Commonwealth to examine the machine Before the examination such person or corporation shall pay to the treasury of the Commonwealth an examination fee of four hundred and fifty dollars ($450)

(b) The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall thereupon require such machine to be examined by three examiners whom he shall appoint for the purpose of whom one shall be an expert in patent law and the other two shall be experts in mechanics and shall require of them a written report on such machine attested by their signatures and the Secretary of the Commonwealth himself shall examine the machine and shall make and file in his office together with the reports of the examiners appointed by him his own report attested by his signature and the seal of his office stating whether in his opinion and in consideration of the reports of the examiners aforesaid the kind of machine so examined can be safely used by electors at elections as provided in this act If his report states that the machine can be so used the machine shall be deemed approved and machines of its kind may be adopted for use at elections as herein provided

(c) No kind of voting machine not so approved shall be used at any election

(d) When a machine has been so approved no improvement or change that does not impair its accuracy efficiency or capacity shall render necessary a re-examination or re-approval of the machine or of its kind

(e) Neither the Secretary of the Commonwealth nor any examiner appointed by him for the purpose prescribed by this section shall have any pecuniary interest in any voting machine or in the manufacture or sale thereof

(f) Each examiner appointed hereunder shall receive a compensation of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for each different type of voting machine examined by him which shall be paid by the proper fiscal officer of the Commonwealth upon the proper voucher or certificate of the Secretary of the Commonwealth out of any moneys received as fees for the examination of voting machines

The seventh section was read as follows:

Section 7 Requirements of Voting Machines—No voting machine shall be approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth or by any examiner appointed by him unless it shall satisfy the following requirements

(a) It shall provide facilities for voting for such candidates as may be nominated and upon such questions as may be submitted

(b) It shall permit each voter at other than primary elections to vote a straight party ticket in one operation and in one operation to vote for all the candidates of one party for presidential electors

(c) It shall permit each voter at other than primary elections to vote a ticket selected from the nominees of any and all parties from independent nominations and from persons not in nomination

(d) It shall permit each voter to vote at any election for any person and for any office for whom and for which he is lawfully entitled to vote whether or not the name of such person appears upon a ballot-label as a candidate for nomination or election and to vote for as many persons for an office as he is entitled to vote for and to vote for or against any question upon which he is entitled to vote

(e) It shall preclude each voter from voting for any candidate or upon any question for whom or upon which he is not entitled to vote and from voting for more persons for any office than he is entitled to vote for and from voting for any candidate for the same office or upon any question more than once except in districts and for offices where cumulative voting is authorized by law

(f) It shall be capable of adjustment by election officers so as to permit each voter at a primary election to vote only for the candidates for non-partisan nomination if any and for the candidates seeking nominations by the political party in which he is enrolled if he is enrolled as a member of a political party and so as to preclude him from voting for the candidates seeking nomination by any political party in which he is not enrolled

(g) It shall permit each voter to deposit write in or affix upon receptacles or devices provided for the purpose ballots containing the names of persons for whom he desires to vote whose names do not appear upon the machine

(h) It shall permit each voter to change his vote for any candidate or upon any question appearing upon the ballot-labels up to the time he leaves the voting machine

(i) It shall permit and require voting in absolute secrecy and shall be so constructed that no person can see or know for whom any other elector has voted or is voting save a voter whom he has assisted or is assisting in voting as prescribed by law

(j) It shall have voting devices for separate candidates and questions which shall be arranged in separate parallel rows or columns so that at any election one or more adjacent rows or columns may be assigned to the candidates of a party and shall have parallel office columns or rows transverse thereto

(k) It shall have a counter or other device the register of which is visible from the outside of the machine which shall show during any period of voting the total number of voters who have operated the machine during said period of voting

(l) It shall have a protective counter or other device the register of which cannot be reset which shall record the cumulative total number of movements of the operating mechanism

(m) It shall be provided with a lock or locks by the use of which immediately after the polls are closed or the operation of the machine for an election is completed all movement of the registering mechanism is absolutely prevented

(n) It shall be provided with a screen hood or curtain which shall conceal the actions of the voter while voting

(o) It shall be constructed of material of good quality in a neat and workmanlike manner

(p) It shall when properly operated register or record correctly and accurately every vote cast

(q) It shall be so contructed that a voter may readily learn the method of operating it

(r) It shall be safely transportable

(s) It shall be so constructed that each separate voting device which is not to be used at an election may be locked against use during that election

(t) During the progress of voting it shall preclude every person from seeing or knowing the number of votes registered for any candidate and from tampering with any of the registering mechanism

The sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-first and twenty-second sections were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 16 Instruction of Voters Before an Election—(a) During the sixty days next preceding an election the county commissioners may place on public exhibition in any public place and at such times as they may deem desirable one or more voting machines containing the ballot-labels and showing the offices and questions to be voted upon the names, and arrangement of parties and so far as practicable the names and arrangement of the candidates to be voted for Such machine or machines shall be under the charge and care of a person competent as custodian and instructor No voting machine which is to be assigned for use in an election shall be used for such public exhibition and instruction after having been prepared and sealed for the election

(b) During such public exhibition and instruction the counting mechanism of the voting machine shall be concealed from view and the doors or cover concealing the same shall be opened if at all only temporarily and only upon written authorization from the county commissioners

(c) Prior to any election the county commissioners may cause copies of any diagram or diagrams required to be furnished with voting machines at polling-places to be made either in full size or in reduced size and to be posted published advertised or distributed among the electors in such manner as they may deem desirable

Section 17 Instruction and Assistance of Voters on Election Day—(a) The election officers shall with the aid of the diagrams herein authorized and the mechanically operated model instruct each voter before he enters the voting machine booth regarding the operation of the machine and shall give the voter opportunity personally to operate the model

(b) No voter shall be permitted to receive any assistance in voting at any election unless he shall first state distinctly and audibly under oath or affirmation which shall be administered to him by the judge of election that he cannot read the names on the voting machine or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to see the machine or prepare it for voting or to enter the voting machine booth without assistance The voter shall state the specific physical disability which requires him to receive assistance Thereupon he shall be permitted by the judge of election to select a qualified voter of the election district to aid him in voting and the judge of election shall forthwith enter in writing on the record of assisted voters (1) the voter's name (2) the fact that the voter cannot read the names on the voting machine if that be the reason for requiring assisance and otherwise the specific physical disability which requires him to receive assistance and (3) the name of the person furnishing the assistance but

(c) If any voter after entering the voting machine booth shall ask for further instructions concerning the manner of voting he may choose an election officer or any qualified voter of the district who shall give him such instructions but no person giving a voter such instructions shall in any manner request suggest or seek to persuade or induce any such voter to vote any particular ticket or for any particular candidate or for or against any particular question After giving such instructions and before the elector votes the election officer or qualified voter shall retire and the voter shall forthwith vote

Section 18 Manner of Voting (a) The election officers shall ascertain as required by law whether each applicant to vote is entitled to vote If he is found to be entitled to vote and not otherwise the election officer in charge of the ballot check list shall insert therein opposite the voter's name the letter B and shall enter his name on one of the numbered lists of voters and he shall be admitted within the voting machine booth and shall be permitted to vote

(b) The election officers shall permit within the enclosed space at any one time not more than twice as many voters waiting to vote as there are voting machines in use in said district

(c) No voter shall remain within the voting machine booth an unreasonable length of time and if he shall refuse to leave after a reasonable period he shall be removed by the election officers Provided however That they may grant him a longer time if other voters are not waiting to vote

(d) As soon as a voter leaves the voting machine booth the election officer in charge of the voting check list shall insert the letter V opposite his name therein and shall enter his name on the other numbered list of voters

(e) In primary elections before a voter is admitted to the voting machine it shall be adjusted by the election officer in charge thereof so that such voter will only be able to vote for the candidates of the party in which he is enrolled and for candidates for non-partisan nomination if any

(f) It shall be the duty of the judge of election and machine inspectors if any to have especial charge of the operation of the voting machine and to see that the provisions of this section are enforced

Section 19 Voting for a Person Other Than a Nominated Candidate—(a) No irregular ballot shall be cast on a voting machine for any person for any office whose name does not appear as a candidate nominated for that office except it be deposited written or affixed in or upon the appropriate receptacle or device provided in or on the machine for that purpose

(b) Where two or more persons are to be elected to the same office and the name of each candidate is placed upon or adjacent to a separate key handle pointer or knob and the voting machine requires that all irregular ballots voted for that office be deposited written or affixed in or upon a single receptacle or device a voter may vote in or by such receptacle or device for one or more persons whose names do not appear upon the machine with or without the names of one or more persons whose names do so appear

(c) With these exceptions no irregular ballot shall be cast on a voting machine for any person for any office whose name appears on the machine as a nominated candidate for that office Any ballot so cast shall be void and not counted

(d) Nothing in this section contained shall prevent the use of ballots at any election when and as permitted by sections twenty-one and twenty-two of this act

Section 20 Voting for Presidential Electors—(a) At any general election at which presidential electors are to be chosen each elector shall be permitted to vote by one operation for all the presidential electors of a party For each party nominating presidential electors a ballot-label shall be provided containing only the words "Presidential Electors" preceded by the name of the party and followed by the names of the candidates thereof for the offices of President and Vice-President and the corresponding counter or registering device shall register votes cast for said electors when thus voted for collectively

(b) If an elector desires to vote a ticket made up of the names of persons nominated by different parties or partially of names of persons so in nomination and partially of names of persons not in nomination by any party he may write or deposit a paper ballot prepared by himself in the receptacle provided in or on the machine for the purpose

(c) The machine shall be so constructed that it will not be possible for any one voter to vote a straight ticket for presidential electors and at the same time to deposit a ballot for presidential electors in a receptacle as hereinabove provided

(d) When the votes for presidential electors are counted the votes appearing upon the counter or registering device corresponding to the ballot-label containing the names of the candidates for President and Vice-President of any party shall be counted as votes for each of the candidates for presidential elector of such party and thereupon all candidates for presidential electors shall be credited in addition with the votes cast for them upon the ballots deposited in the machine as hereinabove provided

Section 21 Voting by Ballot If a method of election for any candidates or offices is prescribed by law in which the use of voting machines is not possible or practicable or in case at any election the number of candidates nominated or seeking nomination for any office renders the use of voting machines for such office at such election impracticable the county commissioners may arrange to have the voting for such candidates or offices conducted by paper ballots In such cases ballots shall be printed for such candidates or offices and the election conducted by the election officers herein provided for and the ballots counted and return thereof made in the manner required by law for such candidates or offices in so far as paper ballots are used

Section 22 Unofficial Ballot-Labels Repair of Machine or Use of Paper Ballots (a) If ballot-labels for an election district at which a voting machine is to be used shall not be delivered to the election officers as required by section fifteen (e) of this act the judge of election of such district shall cause other labels to be prepared printed or written as nearly in the form of official ballot-labels as practicable and the election officers shall cause the labels so substituted to be used at the election in the same manner as near as may be as the official labels Such labels so substituted shall be known as unofficial ballot-labels

(b) If any voting machine being used in any election shall become out of order during such election it shall if possible be repaired or another machine substituted by the custodian or county commissioners as promptly as possible for which purpose the county commissioners may purchase as many extra voting machines as they may deem necessary but in case such repair or substitution cannot be made paper ballots printed or written and of any suitable form may be used for the taking of votes

The twenty-third section was read as follows:

Section 23 Canvass of Vote and Disposition of Machine—When the polls are closed all qualified voters who are then waiting within the voting room to vote shall be permitted by the election officers to do so As soon as the polls are closed and the last voter has voted the election officers shall immediatly lock the voting machine against voting and shall then sign a certificate stating (1) that the machine has been locked against voting and sealed (2) the number of voters as shown on the public counters (3) the number on the seal which they have placed upon the machine (4) the number registered on the protective counter or device and (5) that the voting machine is closed and locked The election officers shall compare the number of voters as shown by the machine with the number of names written in the numbered lists of voters which lists shall then be placed in envelopes and sealed The election officers in the presence of the watchers and all other persons who may be lawfully within the polling-place shall then make visible the registering counters and for that purpose shall unlock and open the doors or outer covering concealing the same giving full view of all the counter numbers The judge of election shall under the scrutiny of the majority and minority inspectors and the watchers and in the order of the offices as their titles are arranged on the machine read and announce in distinct tones the designation or designating number and letter on each counter for each candidate's name the result as shown by the counter numbers the votes recorded for each office for persons other than nominated candidates and the designation or designating numbers and letters on each counter and the results as shown by the counter numbers for and against each question voted on The counters shall not be read consecutively along the party rows or columns but shall always be read along the office columns or rows completing the canvass for each office or question before proceeding to the next The vote as registered shall be entered by the election officers in ink on duplicate return sheets and also on a general return sheet and statement and shall be signed by the election officers The vote for presidential electors shall be computed and returned as provided hereinbefore in section 19 of this act The registering counters of the voting machine shall remain exposed to view until the said returns and all other reports have been fully completed and checked by the inspectors During such time any candidate or duly accredited watcher who may desire to be present shall be admitted to the polling place The proclamation of the result of the votes cast shall be announced distinctly and audibly by the judge of election who shall read the name of each candidate the designation or designating numbers and letters of his counters and the vote registered on each counter also the vote cast for and against each question submitted During such proclamation ample opportunity shall be given to any person lawfully present to compare the results so announced with the counter dials of the machine and any necessary corrections shall then and there be made by the election officers after which the doors or other cover of the voting machine shall be closed and locked Immediately upon the close of the polls the election officers shall so lock or seal the operating lever or mechanism of the machine that the voting and counting mechanism will be prevented from operation Any ballots deposited written or affixed in or upon the voting machine shall be inclosed in properly sealed packages and properly indorsed and shall be delivered by the judge of election as hereinafter provided The judge of election shall promptly deliver to the county commissioners or their duly authorized representative the keys of the voting machine inclosed in a sealed envelope if the construction of the voting machine shall permit their separate return said envelope shall have indorsed thereon a certificate of the election officers stating the number of the machine the election district where it has been used the number on the seal and the number on the protective counter or device at the close of the polls As soon as possible after the completion of the count the county commissioners shall have the voting machine properly boxed and removed to the place or places of storage provided for in this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1673, entitled:

An Act authorizing the appointment by the Governor of Industrial Police upon application of certain corporations, companies, associations and individuals prescribing the powers of such police; authorizing the Governor to investigate their work and require periodical reports from them; imposing duties upon the Secretary of the Commonwealth and Recorders of Deeds; and imposing penalties.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, considering the importance of the bill which is now before you perhaps it is incumbent upon the sponsor of the bill to very briefly outline its purpose and scope, and with your kind indulgence, I will state that this bill creates what will be known as an industrial police system to take the place of the now much discredited coal and iron police system.

In 1865 the General Assembly passed an act empowering railroads to employ men in the capacity of policemen, those men to be commissioned by the Governor and given the same power as policemen in the city of Philadelphia. In 1866 this act was extended to include collieries, furnaces and rolling mills, and the men under the law came to be known as coal and iron police. In 1925, the act was further extended to embrace water supply, water power, electric light, electric power, electric transmission, mineral quarrying and express companies.

Of all the police created under these three acts, it is not known that any of them, with the exception of those employed by coal companies abused, at least to any great extent, the powers which were entrusted to them. The stigma which attaches to the name of coal and iron police, and there is plenty of it, fastens itself upon those who patrol the coal fields. This bill does not touch the act relating to railroad police, but it does repeal the acts of 1866 and 1925 and so to that extent they are repealers.

I will not go into a lengthy recital of the transgressions of power of the coal and iron police. It is perhaps enough to say that an investigating committee of the United States Senate which went into Western Pennsylvania last year, reported to the Senate, "that everywhere your committee visited they found victims of the coal and iron police who have been beaten up and still carry scars on their heads and faces." It certainly is enough to say that our Governor who knows the situation well, having at different times represented both sides, immediately upon inauguration into office determined to reorganize the system, and at once called in all surplus commissions, and received in a few months about 4000. While the Attorney General was considering legislation on the subject, the horrible Barcoskie murder occured, and the evils of the system became apparent to the citizenry of the State; and an immediate revamping of the system became imperative.

As a result we have this legislation. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not intend to speak at length on the subject, and from the various murmurs of assent which I hear it is apparent that the members of this House are entirely acquainted with the features of the bill. I therefore give it to the House for their earnest consideration and ask that they vote favorably on it.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Musmanno.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Musmanno, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUSMANNO. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DUNN. Is the State Federation of Labor in favor of this bill as it is written?

Mr. MUSMANNO. As it has been amended, the State Federation has gone on record as supporting this measure now before the House.

Mr. DUNN. I thank you.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

PRIVILEGE OF THE FLOOR EXTENDED TO THE HONORABLE GEORGE E. ALTER.

The SPEAKER. It afford the Chair great pleasure to announce to the House at this time that he has discovered the presence of an ex-speaker in this House, the Honorable George E. Alter, of Allegheny.

In the absence of objection, and I am sure there is none, the Chair asks the privilege of the floor to permit the Honorable George E. Alter to at this time address this body, and appoints the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Williams, and the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Wells, a committee of two to escort the ex-speaker, Hon. George E. Alter, to the rostrum.

It is a very great pleasure to introduce my very intimate friend, Honorable George E. Alter, an ex-speaker of this House, who will address you at this time. Mr. Alter.

REMARKS OF THE HONORABLE GEORGE E. ALTER.

THE HONORABLE GEORGE E. ALTER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is not natural for me to speak from this desk without having this (gavel) in my hand.

It is a great pleasure to have the privilege to come back here and look over this House in which I spent so many happy days. In 1909 and 1911 I was on the floor, and in 1913, during that long session, I was at this desk. During those three sessions, I formed many valued friendships whcih I would not part with for any consideration. In 1911 we had a member from the western part of the State whose last name was Moses, and during that same session there came out from Lancaster a youth wearing a red rose, whose first name was Aaron. Aaron and I became very warm friends and have so remained. I said that Aaron would make a good speaker, and I used him often as speaker pro tempora. My statement that he would make a good speaker has been proven. Aaron said that I would make a good Governor (applause)—the House concurs in my statement concerning Aaron's merit as a speaker. Aaron said at the same time in his speech here at the close of the session that I would make a good Governor and he proposed that that be done, but I had too much sense to run for Governor at that time. A long time subsequent on a popular vote of 502,000 people said that Aaron was right and 511,000 people said that Aaron was wrong. But still later, while I didn't take an actual count, about 200,000 of the 511,000 told me that they were wrong, so I am perfectly content.

I remember when I was on the floor I generally had a pretty good allowance of legislation, and was always watching the calendar to see whether my legislation was going to be reached before we got into the final jam where it might be crowded out. Under those circumstances I did not appreciate any one who was called upon to address the House, occupying too much time, and remembering that, I will follow the Golden Rule and will do as I would be done by. In closing, let me say that the best hope I have for you in your legislative work, and your association here together, is that when you have been at it as long as I have you will have as many pleasant memories of your work here together and as many warm and last friendships resulting from that association as I have.

The SPEAKER. I am sure it has been a great pleasure to hear from ex-speaker, Honorable George E. Alter, and we hope he will find possible to return again before the close of the session.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1352, entitled:

Barton,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1612, entitled:

An Act providing for the propounding and prosecution of a claim by and in the name of the State of Pennsylvania against the government of the United States of America for the recovery, under the present laws of the United States or such as may be hereafter enacted, from said government of all moneys heretofore paid illegally into the federal treasury as a direct tax upon property situated in the State of Pennsylvania, providing for the recovery of the same, authorizing the governor of the state to employ counsel and enter into the necessary contracts and agreements for the carrying out of the object of this act, providing for notice to and procedure by claimants of such moneys and fixing a prescription period after which such moneys shall escheat to and become the absolute property of the State of Pennsylvania.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The location of all street and party lines and the lines of the building in relation to such street and party lines

General over-all dimensions

Meridian line

Names of owner and architect or engineer and in the case of firms corporations or other legal entities the name and address of the principal executive officer and where contracts have been awarded the name of the contractor or contractors

Gross area of the building

The elevations at grade of building

All fire walls and fire doors

All stairs and fire towers

All elevator shafts

The lay-out of sprinkler and standpipe equipment

Section 304 Corrections to Drawings Presented No alterations or corrections of drawings presented shall be made in the office of the Bureau Where such drawings do not conform to this code corrections may be indicated but the applicant shall and will be required to prepare and file prints of new drawings in corrected form

Section 305 Issue of permits No permit shall be granted until the application together with the drawings accompanying and illustrating the same have been approved by the Bureau but no such drawings shall be approved unless they conform to the provisions of this code Permits shall be granted or refused within fifteen days after the filing of the application and drawings unless a greater time is required to properly check the drawings After a permit is issued such permit together with a duplicate set of the approved drawings shall be kept at the building or structure during its erection or alteration and be accessible to the inspector at all times Every permit shall be considered cancelled if active work is not commenced within six months from the date of its issue In case the contract passes to another before commencement or completion of the work the permit may be transferred upon payment of a fee of three (3) dollars

No permit shall be granted for the erection of any building designed for human occupancy for which water supply and drainage of an acceptable and legal character are not available or will not be made available prior to the completion of said building

Section 306 Special Permits Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to prevent the Chief from (1) granting a permit for the erection of a building or other structure where preliminary drawings and detailed statements have been submitted such permit being conditioned upon the approval of the final drawings or (2) for the erection of temporary structures or (3) from requiring permits to be taken out for signs billboards party line fences fence walls retaining walls tank towers wireless towers coal pockets trestles and similar structures fireplaces heating systems and flues furnaces ranges foundations for engines and power boilers the installation of motors roof tanks and supports underground tanks fire-escapes spires roof signs marquise and projecting sign anchorage and other miscellaneous appurtenances to buildings or (4) for checking safe floor load computations

Section 307 Revocation of permit It shall be unlawful to do any work in connection with any building or structure for which permit has been granted except such work be in conformity with the provisions of this code and the approved application and drawings on file in the Bureau Wherever on inspection it is found that construction work is in progress in violation of this code or of the terms of the approved permit or drawings or is being done in an unsafe or dangerous manner or where a permit was issued as the result of misrepresentation or misapprehension of the facts in the case any inspector may order work stopped by notice in writing served on any person or persons engaged in the doing or causing such work to be done and any such person or persons shall forthwith stop such work until authorized by the Bureau to proceed with the work and the Chief shall have the right to revoke the permit for such construction and to issue such other orders as he may deem necessary

Section 308 Invalidity of one section not to affect any other In the event that any provision of this code should be judiciarry declared unconstitutional and invalid such invalidity shall be restricted to the sentence paragraph or section containing such provision and shall in no way affect the validity of the remainder of this code

CHAPTER 4 Enforcement

Section 400 Powers of Chief The Chief shall have authority to enforce the provisions of this code in the form and manner herein provided

Section 401 Right of entry The Chief or any inspector attached to the Bureau on producing the necessary credentials or proofs of identity shall have the right of entry upon any premises for the purpose of making any inspection during daylight hours and at such other times only as might be required in an emergency as provided in Section 403

Section 402 Approval of materials and construction The Chief shall have the right at any time to require tests of any materials used in building construction for the purpose of determining their suitability and to make regulations for the testing of all new building materials or types of construction as hereinafter provided in Chapter Six (6)

Section 403 Protection or demolition of dangerous structures In any case where a wall or building is found to be in such a dangerous condition as to constitute an immediate menace requiring instant action and where because of such emergency the mode of procedure prescribed in Section 404 of this code is ineffective the Bureau shall have the right to order the premises vacated and if necessary to secure the co-operation of the police authorities in the execution of such vacating order and to temporarily shore up any dangerous wall or walls or tear same down the costs to be collected as hereinafter provided

Section 404 Violations In the event of failure to obtain a permit or in any case where final decision of an inspector or of the Chief or of an examining commission is rendered such decision or order or certificate indicating that no permit has been issued or that violations have occurred after issuance of permit may be at once certified to any court of Common Pleas The court shall upon application of such bill of complaint duly verified by affidavit of the Director of Public Safety the Chief any inspector or any member of an examining commission issue a mandatory injunction requiring compliance with such order or decision within five days or within a shorter time if the relief sought is the removal of a dangerous wall ceiling chimney or other structure or unsafe portion thereof Should the court deem proper to fix a shorter time then all petitions bills or complaints to compel compliance with the provisions of this code shall be given priority over other business or cases by any Court of Common Pleas to which the final decision of an inspector the Chief or an examining commission appointed by the Director of Public Safety shall be certified If said injunction is not complied with within the time specified by the court or if it cannot for any reason be served the court shall have power to enforce its order by attachments or to issue an order to any sheriff commanding him to remove the wall building or structure condemned by the building inspectors (either as contrary to the provisions of this code or as dangerous) under the supervision of the Bureau or such inspector as the Chief may designate The sheriff shall have power to employ such competent builders riggers and workmen as shall be necessary to carry out the order of the court He shall certify to the court when he has performed the work required to be done and the costs incurred and such bill being approved by the court and not being paid by the owner of the premises the court shall have the power by mandamus execution to compel the City to pay such costs The court shall upon the issuing of such mandamus execution direct the Prothonotary of the court to enter the amount thereof as a lien against the premises on which the order was enforced and the costs were incurred and the City paying such costs may thereafter proceed in the case wherein the order was made to collect such bill of costs and the proper docketed costs thereon by the same process and proceedings and under the same restrictions as are provided for or required by law for the collection of claims for the removal of nuisances in said cities and said lien shall not be discharged by any judicial sale until paid and the said City paying such costs may also by action of assumpsit recover the same from the owner or owners of the said premises

Section 405 Penalties Any person or persons firm corporation or other legal entity whether owner architect builder contractor or workman who shall make or cause to be made any alteration construction or removal of any building or structure whatsoever without permit therefor first issued or in violation of any of the provisions of this code or who shall have become the owner thereof after the same has been so done and who shall omit neglect or refuse to remove the same if dangerous or in violation of this code or to make the same safe and secure and in all respects conform to the requirements of this code within one week after notice to that effect shall forfeit and pay for each offence the sum of one hundred ($100) dollars and the further sum of fifty ($50) dollars for every period of one week for which the said person or persons shall omit neglect or refuse to remove the same or make it comply with this code after the expiration of the notice aforesaid and any person or persons firm corporation or other legal entity who shall contract for the erection or construction of any building addition alteration or other thing in violation of any of the provisions of this code shall be subject to the same penalties as aforesaid All of the aforesaid penalties to be recovered as penalties of equal amount are or shall be recoverable in the name and for the use of the city and when collected shall be paid into the treasury thereof

Section 406 Board of Appeals The Chief the engineers and all the inspectors shall constitute the Board of Appeals The decision of a majority of the members shall constitute the decision of the board The board shall hear all appeals as hereinafter provided for and after hearing shall render such decision or issue such orders as to them may seem proper

Section 407 Appeals (a) Any applicant for a permit from the Bureau whose application has been refused or any person who has been ordered by an inspector to incur any expense may appeal by giving notice in writing of such appeal If the appeal shall be from an order refusing a permit it shall be taken within fifteen days from the refusal of such permit If the appeal is from an order to take down and remove a dangerous building or structure or a dangerous wall or walls it shall be taken within three days from the issuing of such order

(b) Any person the value of whose property may be affected by work done or to be done under any permit granted by the Bureau may within three days after the commencement of the work appeal by giving notice in writing that he does so appeal

(c) In computing the time within which an appeal may be taken if the last day fall on Sunday or on a legal holiday the appeal shall be taken on the succeeding day Notice of appeal may be given either by leaving such notice in writing with the Chief or the Chief Clerk at the office of the Bureau or it may be mailed addressed to the Bureau If mailed the date of the postmark shall be taken as the date of the appeal

Section 408 Further Appeal to Examining Commission Should any party aggrieved object to the decision of the Board of Appeals he may further appeal in writing to the Director of the Department of Public Safety within three days of the decision of the Board of Appeals specifying in such appeal the reasons and ground therefor and accompanying the same by the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) The Director of the Department of Public Safety shall thereupon appoint an examining commission to consist of three experts who shall be either practical builders engineers or architects one of whom shall be named by the Chief one by the party taking the appeal and the third by the first two who shall within such time as the director shall specify carefully consider the said appeal and make decision thereon The decision of any two shall be the decision of the commission They shall be paid for their services fifty dollars ($50) each out of the aforesaid sum of one hundred and fifty (150) dollars

Section 409 Finality of Decisions (a) The decision of a building inspector or of the Board of Appeals unappealed from shall be final and conclusive in any subsequent proceeding on the matter in question in court or otherwise

(b) The decision of an examining commission in case of appeal to such commission shall be final and conclusive when certified to the building inspectors provided however that no commission named in accordance with this code shall have any power or authority to set aside or nullify or alter any of the provisions herein or order or require any permit to be issued for a building to be constructed otherwise than as is herein required

PART II DEFINITIONS

CHAPTER 5 Definitions

Section 500 Unless otherwise stated the following words or terms when used in this code shall be construed to have the meaning herein given Words used in the singular include the plural words used in the present tense include the future words used in the masculine gender include the feminine and/or the neuter gender and vice-versa the word "person" includes a corporation as well as an individual "writing" includes printing and printed or typewritten matter "oath" includes affirmation "signature" or "subscription" includes "mark" when a person who cannot write his nme makes his mark near his name at the time it is written by another person

Section 501 Adjoining Owner The owner authorized agent or trustee of any premises adjoining those under consideration

Section 502 Addition Any change to a structure which increases any of its exterior dimensions

Section 503 Alteration Any change to a structure which does not increase any of its exterior dimensions

Section 504 Apartment A room or suite of two or more rooms which is or are occupied as a home for one or more persons

Section 505 Apartment house Any building or portion thereof containing three or more apartments For the purpose of this code an apartment house is a tenement

Section 506 Approval The acceptance and sanction by the Bureau expressed in writing of any plan permit application device building material or type of construction

Section 507 Approval in part (a) The acceptance and sanction by the Bureau expressed in writing of any plan or permit application for a portion of a proposed alteration addition or new building pending approval of plans for the complete project

(b) The acceptance by the Bureau expressed in writing of new materials or types of construction but restricting or limiting their use

Section 508 Areaway Any sub-surface space adjacent to a building for lighting or ventilating cellars or basements or for other purposes

Section 509 Attic That part of a building wholly or partly within the roof framing unfinished not inhabited nor used for sleeping purposes

Section 510 Basement A story or portion thereof partly but not more than one-half below the average grade of the ground surrounding the building as shown on the drawings upon which the permit was granted and counted as a story in determining the height of the building

Section 511 Bay That space within a building between two adjacent rows of columns or between a row of columns and a bearing wall

Section 512 Bay window Any window extending beyond the wall of a building

Section 513 Building Anything erected by art and fixed upon or in the soil composed of different pieces connected together and designed for use in the position in which so fixed

Section 514 Building line A line beyond which property owners or others have no legal or vested right to extend a building or any part thereof without provision therefor in this code or without special permission and approval of the proper authorities ordinarily a line of demarcation between public and private property

Section 515 Building owner The owner authorized agent or trustee of the building or premises under consideration

Section 516 Bureau The Bureau of Building Inspection

Section 517 Cellar A story or portion thereof more than one-half below the average grade of the ground surrounding the building as shown on the drawings upon which the permit was granted and not counted as a story in determining the height of the building

Section 518 Chief The Chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection

Section 519 Court An open unoccupied space other than a yard on the same lot with a building

Section 520 Dimensional figures Nominal sizes or dimensions obtainable as acceptable commercial standards

Section 521 Dwelling Any house or building not a lodging house tenement rooming-house or inn all or any part of which is occupied as the home or residence of a family or of two families living independently of each other

Section 522 Fire door A door designed and constructed to successfully resist a fire in accordance with test specifications as prescribed by the Chief

Section 523 Fire Window A window frame with sash and glazing in which no single pane shall exceed seven hundred twenty square inches and which will successfully resist a fire for one hour in accordance with test specification as prescribed by the Chief

Section 524 Floor area The number of square feet of floor space enclosed within the exterior walls of a building exclusive of elevator shafts ducts stairways fire towers columns or such other parts of a building as cannot be used by the occupancy for which the building is intended

Section 525 Floor system A system of construction which carries the load for which it has been designed to the bearing walls or the beams girders and/or columns in skeleton construction used also to mean a similar type of construction in a roof

Section 526 Footing The spreading course at the base or bottom of a foundation wall pier or column

Section 527 Garage A public garage shall mean any place where space is rented for the storage of more than two automobiles or motor-driven vehicles

A private garage shall mean any place other than a public garage where motor-driven vehicles are stored

Section 528 Grade The surface of the ground court lawn or sidewalks adjoining a building

The "established grade" is the level of the street curb as fixed by the municipality

Section 529 Height of building (a) The vertical distance of the highest point of the roof in the case of flat roofs and for high-pitched roofs the average of the height of the gable about the mean grade of the curbs of all the streets or the mean grade of the natural ground adjoining the building if the said grade or ground is not below the grade of the curb

(b) The number of stories in a building including the basement but not including the cellar

Section 530 Length of building The greatest horizontal dimension

Section 531 Living room A living room is any room not a water closet bathroom or a room used solely for storage or closet purposes and which is used in whole or in part for any household purpose

Section 532 Load (a) Dead load The weight of the walls permanent partitions framing floors roofs and all other permanent stationary construction forming a part of the building

(b) Live load The load or loads other than the dead load but including the weight of movable partitions for which a building is designed

Section 533 Mezzanine An intermediate floor placed in any story or room and which does not exceed one-third of the total floor area in said story or room

Section 534 Occupancy The purpose for which a building is used or intended to be used

Section 535 Pent house Any structure erected on the roof of a building for the purpose of enclosing stairways to the roof elevator machinery water tanks ventilating apparatus exhaust chambers or other building equipment machinery

Section 536 Repair The renewal or reconstruction of any part of an existing building for the purpose of its maintenance or restoration

Sections 536 to 600, inclusive, were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 536 Repair The renewal or reconstruction of any part of an existing building for the purpose of its maintenance or restoration

Section 537 Rigid connection A connection not depending on friction nor built up without additional material and of sufficient strength to hold the members without unsafe distortion while the member is tested to twice its rated carrying capacity

Section 538 Shall A mandatory word

Section 539 Sprinkler system An installation for the purpose of extinguishing fires by means of water or other acceptable extinguishing agent expelled through automatically operated spray heads

Section 540 Story (a) That portion of any building included between the upper surface of any floor and the upper surface of the floor next above

(b) A "half story" is that part of any building wholly or partly within the roof framing finished and inhabited

Section 541 Tenement Any house or building which or a portion of which is occupied as a residence by three or more families living independently of each other and doing their cooking on the premises and having a common right in the halls stairways yard cellar or water-closets thereof or some of them

Section 542 Tower fire escape A stair tower enclosed in walls of solid masonry having fire doors and fire windows and reached by means of an outside balcony or vestibule facing on a street alley or court leading to a street or alley

Section 543 Walls (a) Bearing A wall which supports any vertical load other than its own weight

(b) Curtain A non-bearing wall between columns and/or piers and which is not supported by girders or beams

(c) Exterior Any outside wall which serves as a vertical enclosure of a building including a party wall when not used in common

(d) Faced A wall in which the masonry facing and backing are so bonded as to exert common action under load

(e) Fire A wall of solid masonry or reinforced concrete which sub-divides a building to restrict the spread of fire and which starts at the foundations and extends continuously through all stories to and above the roof

(f) Fire Division A wall of solid masonry or reinforced concrete which sub-divides a building to restrict the spread of fire but is not necessarily continuous through all stories nor extended through the roof

(g) Interior A wall entirely within the space enclosed by the exterior walls of a building

(h) Non-bearing A wall which supports no load other than its own weight

(i) Parapet A masonry wall extending above the roof line

(j) Partition An interior non-bearing wall wholly supported at each story

(k) Party A wall which or portion of which encroaches upon ground of an adjoining owner and is used jointly or adapted to joint use

(l) Proscenium A fire-division wall between a stage and an auditorium

(m) Retaining A wall used to resist the lateral thrust of any material

(n) Spandrel An exterior non-bearing wall in skeleton construction built between columns or piers and wholly supported at each story

(o) Veneered A wall having a masonry facing which is not attached and bonded to the backing so as to form an integral part of the wall for purposes of load bearing and stability

Section 544 Width (a) The width of a building shall be considered as the distance between the outside faces of the exterior columns in the direction of the shortest axis

(b) In wall bearing construction the width shall be determined by the centers of the party walls or the outside of exterior walls

Section 545 Yard An open unoccupied space on the same lot with a tenement rooming-house or dwelling and which space extends in its full width or depth between opposite lot line

PART III ENGINEERING STANDARDS

CHAPTER 6 General Requirements

Section 600 Methods of design The unit stresses specified in this code shall not be exceeded The dimensions of each piece or combination of pieces of materials required in a building or structure shall be ascertained by computation according to the rules prescribed by modern standard authorities on the strength of materials applied mechanics and engineering practice

Materials Any materials to be acceptable under this code together with their test requirements if the above are not specifically given in the code shall conform to standards promulgated by the Chief which standards shall be in accordance with generally accepted standards established by authorities of national requte Such standards when promulgated by the Chief shall be public records

Unit stresses for materials which are not given in this code shall be ascertained by the means hereinafter called for

Section 601 Filing of computations Plans for all buildings of the first second and intermediate classes of construction shall be accompanied by computations which shall set forth in detail the design of all typical structural features and details all columns loadings and complete wind calculations

Section 602 Soil conditions This information may be derived from a record of the soil conditions existing at other operations which in the opinion of the Chief are near enough to warrant such records being used When such information is not available test borings will be made as directed by the Chief Each boring shall be carried down at least six (6) feet below the deepest foundation or footing botom

Section 603 Use of old materials Nothing in this code shall prevent the use of old materials provided they meet the requirements of this Code

Section 604 Temporary construction Every temporary support or construction used during the erection or alteration of any building shall be of sufficient strength to carry safely the load to be placed thereon in conformity with this code When the Chief shall require it plans and computations covering such construction shall be filed in the manner specified for original plans

Section 605 Injury during construction No cutting for piping or any other purpose shall be done which reduces the strength of any part of the structure below that which is required by this code

Section 606 Revision of floor loading Should tests or inspections of the materials or systems of construction entering into a building reveal that such materials or systems of construction are incapable of sustaining the loads for which they were designed but are otherwise safe for lesser loads the Chief in the event that such materials or systems of construction are not removed shall reduce the allowable live load capacity of all floors so affected

Section 607 General test requirements Tests shall be made only by a testing laboratory fully equipped for the purpose or other recognized authority acceptable to the Chief All tests shall be made under conditions similar to those under which it is proposed to use the material or system of construction

Section 608 Tests by recognized authority Materials or systems of construction may be approved by the Chief upon the presentation of certified records accompanied by affidavits as to their authenticity of tests of such materials or systems of construction when made by laboratories or recognized authorities

Section 609 Approval of new materials The approval or disapproval of new materials or new systems of construction shall be in writing Approvals shall give in detail such requirements for the use of the said new material or new system of construction as the Chief shall make

Section 610 Additional tests The Chief is authorized to call at his discretion for tests of any material or system of construction in use. The procedure in such cases shall be as provided for in Sections 607 and 608

Section 611 Failure of existing materials In the event that an approved material or system of construction shall be tested and found no longer to meet the requirements of this code notice to the effect that the material or system of construction is no longer acceptable shall be served on the interested parties The procedure shall be the same as required for new materials or new systems of construction

Section 612 Field tests Every material or system of construction shall be capable of sustaining without injury or permanent deformation a load of not less than twice the live load for which the material or system of construction has been designed plus the dead weight of the material or system of construction and provided that test requirements in other parts of this code are complied with

CHAPTER 7 Loading

Section 700 Dead loads There shall be included under dead loads the entire weight of the floor or roof surfacing fills floor construction ceilings fixed partitions walls columns footings or such other items of permanent construction not included under the heading of live loads Should the nature of the building be such that there is a possibility of the partitions' being shifted their weight shall be treated as uniformly distributed load and all parts of the structure shall be designed to carry them

Section 701 Live loads for floors The loads given in Sections 702 and 703 are to be considered as uniformly distributed in pounds per square foot In the event that the building is called upon to sustain loads greater than those specified such loads shall be estimated from actual conditions and a report submitted to the Chief for his approval

When a building is of an occupancy not hereinafter mentioned the Chief shall place it in an appropriate classification

Section 702 Human Occupancy (a) Residential Dwellings Guest Rooms of Hotels Apartments Lodgings and Tenements Dormitories Monastries Convents Orphanages Asylums Homes Reformatories Houses of Correction Jails and Prison Rooms and Wards of Hospitals and Sanatoriums 40

(b) Educational Class Rooms with fixed seats 50

(c) Assembly Offices Churches with fixed seats Reading Rooms 60

(d) Public Assembly Lodge Rooms Dance Halls Auditoriums Theatres Motion Picture Houses Amusement Park Structures Stadiums Gymnasiums Grand Stands Rooms for Athletic Activities Galleries and Museums Armories Exhibition and Convention Halls Restaurants Banquet Rooms Public Buildings Public Baths and Swimming Pools Police and Fire Stations Libraries Railway Passenger Stations Lobbies Halls Aisles Corridors Stairways and Fire Escapes or Any Room of any structure of Human Occupancy of 2500 square feet or more used for dancing 100

Section 703 Commercial and Industrial Occupancy

(a) Private Passenger Car Garages and Stables.........100

(b) General Purposes Garages 100

(Minimum concentrated load at any point 8000 pounds)

(c) (Commercial Uses) Wholesale and Retail Stores Storage of Household Goods only..................................110

(d) (Light Manufacturing) Where the work is done by hand on benches and tables or with light machines like sewing machines or ordinary looms Machine shops without overhead power cranes 120

(e) (Industrial Occupancy) Machine Shops other than above Light Printing Plants Factories with heavy machinery Warehouses for Ordinary Merchandise 150

(f) (Heavy Manufacturing) Manufacturing Presses Storage of overhead power cranes Heavy Printing Presses Storage of Heavy Materials....................200

(g) Interior Courts Sidewalks Gratings and Vault Lights not accessible to a driveway

First Class Construction only....................120

Section 704 Roof loads Roofs of a pitch of forty-five (45) degrees or less shall be designed for a vertical load of thirty (30) pounds per square foot in horizontal projection and roofs of a greater pitch than forty-five (45) degrees shall be designed for a horizontal load of thirty (30) pounds per square foot in vertical projection

Section 705 Safes No safe shall be placed on a stair landing or in a stair hall

Section 706 Minimum concentrated live loads Every floor beam in any beam in any building hereafter erected or altered and used for commercial or industrial occupancy shall be capable of sustaining a live load at any point of at least four thousand (4000) pounds except as required by Section 703 (b)

Section 707 Moving loads The dynamic effect of all moving loads shall be taken into consideration in the design of a building wherein such loads occur In the case of traveling cranes this shall not be less than an increase of twenty-five (25) percent above the static loads and in the case of elevators one hundred (100) percent increase in the static load on beams girders and first tier columns immediately below the place of application of the elevator loads

Section 708 Wind pressure For purposes of design the wind pressure upon the vertical plane surface of all buildings and structures except as noted below shall be taken at not less than twenty (20) pounds per square foot over the entire surface

The wind pressure upon tanks signs or similarly exposed structures and their supports shall be taken at not less than thirty (30) pounds per square foot of plane surface acting in tanks or chimneys this pressure shall be assumed to act on six-tenths of the projected area Tension to resist wind may be taken at twenty-six (26) pounds per square inch in radial brick chimneys laid in cement mortar A reduction in the area of signs may be made where openings exist but this reduction must not be more than fifty (50) percent

Where it shall appear that an isolated building or structure may be exposed to the full force of the wind throughout its entire height and width the pressure upon all vertical surfaces thus exposed shall be taken at not less than twenty-five (25) pounds per square foot

Where a building is of the skeleton frame type the skeleton frame shall carry the full wind load Each bay of the skeleton frame shall be designed independently of all others unless the horizontal floor slabs or systems are rigidly attached to the skeleton frame and braced laterally to transmit the horizontal loads proportionally among all columns or unless the floor slabs and fireproofing of the steel beams and girders are of concrete in intimate contact with the steel in which case the floor system may be considered as transmitting the horizontal forces proportionally to all the columns Monolithic reinforced concrete structures may be considered as transmitting the forces proportionally among all columns

Section 709 Anchorage Every member must be designed to have a dead weight equal to at least one-half more than the tendency toward uplift

Section 710 Reduction of live load Except in buildings used or to be used for storage purposes the following reductions in assumed total floor live loads are permissible in designing trusses girders columns piers walls or foundations

Reduction of live load per increment	Per Centum
Carrying one floor	0
Carrying two floors	10
Carrying three floors	20
Carrying four floors	30
Carrying five floors	40
Carrying six floors (or more)	50

For determining the area of footings the full dead loads plus the live loads with reductions figured as permitted above shall be taken except that in buildings for human occupancy a further reduction of one-half the live load is permitted

Section 711 Eccentricity Unless the reaction of any load is concentric with the axis of the supporting member or column the member or column shall be increased in strength to take care of the effects of the resultant eccentricity

Section 712 Allowable deflections The maximum permissible deflections caused by the live load for beams and girders are as follows

1/300 unplastered 1/360 plastered

The fraction gives the ratio of the deflection to the span length

Section 713 Posting of live loads In every building of a commercial or industrial occupancy hereafter erected and in every existing commercial or industrial building where heavy materials are kept or stored or machinery introduced there shall be posted on the walls of each floro in a conspicuous place a card in a permanent frame stating the following the weight in pounds per square foot the floor will safely support the date of examination the signature of the orchitect or engineer making examination the stamp of the Bureau with the date the calculation was accepted the signature of the examining engineer of the Bureau and such other notations as the Chief may require in any particular case

It shall be the duty of the owner to see that these cards are kept in position and in good condition

If drawings are not on file in the Bureau for the building the architect or engineer shall prepare diagrammatic drawings and data and submit them with his computations as directed by the Chief

Section 714 Overloading of floors It shall be the duty of the owner and tenant of a building to see that the same loading of a floor is not exceeded

Should the strength of a floor of a building erected prior to the passage of this act be such that the live load resulting is less than one-half that required in the code for the occupancy in question the owner shall reinforce the floor or building in such manner that the required safe loading is obtained Proper reduction shall be made for old or damaged materials

Section 715 Lost drawings When it is necessary to post cards for floor loads in buildings where no plans are available and where the internal structure cannot be determined without demolition of the various parts the Chief may permit a series of tests to be made

CHAPTER 8 Excavations and Bearing Values

Section 800 Excavations sheeting bracing shoring underpinning When in the opinion of the Chief an excavation will endanger an adjoining property structure building or street such property structure building or street shall be protected by properly braced sheeting or underpinning or by shoring or by any combination of these which shall be properly maintained Construction drawings for such sheeting bracing underpinning and shoring shall be submitted to the Chief for approval

When the Chief finds that a condition is hazardous the drawings shall be so stamped and he may require that extraordinary methods be used for safe-guarding the work

Section 801 Depth of foundations The foundation loads of all permanent structures shall be carried down to satisfactory bearing material by means of walls piers caissons or piling which shall be so designed that the entire loads which they transmit will be distributed over the bearing area at a unit intensity not exceeding the allowable bearing value hereinafter prescribed in this chapter

Every footing shall be carried down at least three feet below any adjoining surface exposed to freezing except in dwelling houses two stories in height as to which footings shall be at least two feet below any adjoining surface exposed to freezing weather provided the said exposed surface is covered with a cement pavement properly drained that extends three feet beyond said footings so as to protect said footings against frost action

Section 802 Satisfactory bearing material Satisfactory bearing material shall mean only rock in its natural bed natural deposits of sand gravel or clay or any combination of the foregoing materials neither containing nor overlying an appreciable amount of organic matter

In the absence of satisfactory load tests the allowable bearing values of the above materials shall be limited by the following unit pressures in tons per square foot

Confined wet fine-grained sand with mica or a little soft clay	2
Dry fine-grained sand with or without hard clay but without mica or medium clay dry or wet coarse or medium grained sand with mica or hard clay hard clay	4
Dry or wet coarse or medium-grained sand without mica or clay gravel with mica or clay	5
Coarse gravel without mica or clay	6
Boulder gravel shale and hard pan	8
Cemented conglomerate	10
Soft firm rock	12
Medium rock	24
Hard rock	48

The classification of any bearing material shall be approved by the Chief Upon his order the allowable bearing value on such material shall be determined by test

All cesspool wells or other open holes of similar character existing in the site of a building shall be cleaned out and filled with concrete to the satisfaction of the Chief

Section 803 Pier or column footings All foundations under piers or columns shall be concentrically loaded and where necessary shall hav ea slip joint connection with other masonry Where beams are placed under piers or columns to distribute the loads such beams shall be proportioned as girders carrying uniform loads within the limits of the stresses prescribed hereinafter If stones are used for pier or column footings the stones shall be at least ten inches in thickness Otherwise footings for piers or columns shall be subject to the same regulations as for walls

CHAPTER 9 Caissons

Section 900 Excavation lining When caissons are used the excavation during construction shall be protected by a shell of sufficient strength to prevent slipping of the soil and to withstand any pressure caused by adjacent structures The Chief may call for such tests as he deems necessary to ascertain the quality and extent of the bottom upon which a caisson is intended to rest

The center line of the excavation shall not deviate more than two and one-half (2½) per cent of the height from the vertical The length of no caisson shall be more than fifteen (15) times its least diameter unless properly reinforced

Section 901 Concreting The excavation shall be filled with concrete as specified in the chapter on Reinforced Concrete If the shell is withdrawn concrete must be placed at the same time and in such manner as to prevent caving in of the excavation

Section 902 Design If the shaft of the caisson passes through material equal to that specified as in Section 802 capable of withstanding a pressure of two tons or more per square foot it need not be reinforced The stresses on reinforcement and on concrete with or without reinforcement shall be as called for in the chapter on Reinforced Concrete

CHAPTER 10 Piles

Section 1000 General All piles intended to support any structure or part thereof shall be driven to the resistance hereinafter specified by such methods as will not impair their strength and as will insure the retention of that resistance

No pile shall be driven through material which is to be subsequently excavated unless it is afterward cut off and capped below the bottom of such excavation

Any type of pile construction not provided for in this section shall meet such standard requirements as may be prescribed therefor by the Chief

No pile or group of piles shall be designed so as to be loaded eccentrically

Any detached column or pier footing supported on piles shall rest upon at least three piles unless such column or pier footing be supported laterally by proper masonry or steel construction Any continuous wall footing supported on piles shall rest upon at least two rows of piles which shall be not less than one foot between centers of the rows unless such wall footing be supported laterally by proper masonry or steel construction

The allowable load on any pile not driven to rock shall be determined by the following formulae except that in no case shall the maximum allowable load hereinafter prescribed in this section for each particular type of pile be exceeded

For Drop Hammers $P = \frac{2\,W\,H}{S + 1}$

For Single Acting Steam or Air Hammers $P = \frac{2\,W\,H}{S + \frac{1}{10}}$

In which P equals the allowable load on the pile in pounds
W equals the weight of the striking part of the hammer in pounds
H equals the fall in feet of the striking part of the hammer
S equals the average penetration in inches under the last five blows after pile has driven to a point where successive blows produce equal penetration

When any doubt exists as to the safe sustaining power of piles not driven to rock the Chief may order such piles to be driven until the safe load indicated by the proper above-named formula is fifty (50) per cent greater than the load it is proposed to carry on the pile or he may order a load test to be made under his supervision

Except in the case of timber capping of wood piles when permitted all capping of piles shall be of reinforced concrete mixed in the proportions of one (1) part Portland cement to not more than six (6) parts of aggregate conforming to the provisions prescribed therefor in the section on Reinforced Concrete The stresses in such concrete capping shall not exceed those prescribed therefor in the section on Reinforced Concrete

The distance from the top of any pile to the bottom of its concrete capping shall not be less than three (3) inches for concrete piles and six (6) inches for wood piles and the distance from the edge of its capping to the outside of any pile in any horizontal direction shall not be less than three (3) inches for concrete piles and six (6) inches for wood piles The thickness of the capping above the top of any pile shall be determined by the distribution of the load that the piles must carry but shall not be less than twelve (12) inches in any case

Section 1001 Wood piles Timber for wood piles shall be cut off above the ground swell from live trees of sound and approved timber A straight line joining the center of the point with the center of the butt of any wood pile shall fall wholly within the pile

The diameter of a wood pile at its point shall be not less than five (5) inches The diameter of such a pile measured two (2) feet from its butt shall be not less than ten (10) inches when the pile is twenty (20) feet or less in length and shall be not less than twelve (12) inches when the pile is of greater length All diameter shall be measured under the bark No wood pile shall be loaded in excess of fifteen (15) tons

Wood piles shall be spaced not less than twenty-seven (27) inches between centers of piles The tops of all wood piles shall be cut off at permanent water level except under frame dwellings built over water where they may project above the water a sufficient height to raise the building above high tide Permanent water level shall be mean low tide unless special conditions exist in which case the Chief may determine such other level as in his opinion represents the permanent water level

When ranging and capping timbers are placed on wood piles for foundations they shall be of heart wood not less than six (6) inches thick They shall be properly joined together and the tops shall be laid below the permanent water level

Section 1002 Concrete piles Concrete piles may be either precast or cast-in-place or may be concrete-filled steel tubes

The concrete in concrete piles shall be mixed in the proportions of one (1) part Portland Cement to not more than six (6) parts of aggregate conforming to the provisions prescribed therefore in the section on Reinforced Concrete

(a) Precast piles Precast concrete piles shall be properly designed and reinforced in accordance with the provisions prescribed in the section on Reinforced Concrete to permit of handling and driving them without injury The Reinforcing

Steel shall be so located in the piles that it will be covered by at least one and one-half (1½) inches of concrete The diameter of lateral dimension of such piles shall be not less than eight (8) inches at the point and shall average not less than twelve (12) inches throughout the length of the pile The length of any such pile shall not exceed twenty (20) times the average diameter of the pile When driven to rock their points shall be protected by a metal shoe of approved design and their tops shall be protected during driving by cushions of approved design No precast pile shall be loaded in excess of thirty (30) tons

(b) Cast-in-place piles Concrete piles cast-in-place shall be so made and placed as to insure the exclusion of any foreign matter and secure the full cross section contemplated by such means as have been established by standard as promulgated by the Chief

When such piles penetrate material which may distort freshly placed concrete in adjacent piles the piles shall be driven in such orde rand with such increased spacing as to insure against such distortion or additonail piles shall not be driven until the freshly placed concrete has attained its initial set

The average diameter of any cast-in-place concrete pile when driven to final resistance shall be not less than eleven (11) inches and the diameter at its point shall be not less than eight (8) inches The length of such pile shall not exceed thirty (30) times its average diameter unless the lateral support of the earth warrants a greater length No cast-in-place concrete pile shall be loaded in excess of thirty (30) tons

(c) Composite piles When it is determined that a pile must be driven partly above and partly below the permanent water level a composite pile may be used the lower part wood and the upper concrete Each section of the composite pile shall meet the requirements stated above for its class The joint between the two sections shall be suffiently strong to provide for vertical and lateral support The load on composite piles shall not exceed twenty (20) tons

(d) Concrete-filled steel tubes For piles consisting of steel tubes filled with concrete the tubes shall have a diameter of nine (9) inches or more and a thickness of not less than five-sixteenths (5/16) of an inch The ends of each tube shall be faced perpendicular to its axis Splices shall be of an approved design Each pile shall be driven to a full bearing on rock The allowable load on any such pile shall not exceed one thousand (1,000) pounds per square inch on the net concrete section

MASONRY IN GENERAL

CHAPTER 11 Mortars and Mass-Concrete

Section 1100 General No mortar or mass-concrete shall be used the ingredients of which are not fresh and clean and in accordance with the provisions of this code and are not thoroughly mixed and free from lumps or unmixed portions of any of the ingredients No mortar or concrete shall be remixed or retempered after it has reached its initial set

Section 1101 Cements limes and aggregates Cement wherever referred to throughout this chapter or code shall be taken to mean Portland Cement or other hydraulic cement of an approved standard brand masons cement quick lime and hydrated lime shall be of approved standard brands All aggregates for mortars concrete concrete brick and block and other material shall conform to the specifications for them in the chapters of this code relating to Reinforced Concrete and Fireproofing unless otherwise herein provided

Section 1102 Mortars (a) Cement mortar Shall be made of cement and sand in the proportions of one (1) part cement and not more than three (3) parts sand by volume Hydrated lime not to exceed 15 per cent of the cement by volume may be added but shall not be considered as reducing the cement content

(b) Cement-lime mortar Shall be made of one (1) part cement one (1) part hydrated lime and not more than six (6) parts sand by volume Lime-paste when thoroughly slaked may be used in the same proportion as hydrated lime and in place thereof if the two mortars are first mixed separately and then together

(c) Masons cement motar Shall be made of one (1) part masons cement and three (3) parts sand by volume and may be used in place of cement-lime mortar

(d) Lime mortar shall be made of one (1) part thoroughly slaked lime or dry hydrated lime and not more than four (4) parts sand by volume

Section 1103 Mass concrete Mass concrete shall consist of one (1) part Portland Cement to not more than seven (7) parts fine and coarse aggregates by volume mixed in conformity with the requirements specified in the chapter on Reinforced Concrete

Section 1104 Rubble concrete Rubble concrete shall consist of a mixture of concrete as specified in Section 1103 to which is added stones which shall not be larger than one man size There shall not be less than six (6) inches of concrete between any two (2) stones or any stone and the forms Rubble concrete shall not be used for a projecting footing

CHAPTER 12 Footings and Foundation Walls

Section 1200 Depth and bearing The footings or foundation walls of all buildings excepting those that are erected on wharves or wharf piers on a water front shal extend below the level of frost action and in no case less than three (3) feet below the exposed surface of the earth and be laid on solid ground or level surface of rock in accordance with soil bearing values prescribed in Chapter 8 Footings of all buildings other than dwellings shall start at least twelve (12) inches below the levels of excavations for cellar or basement floors Where solid earth or rock is not attainable the said walls may be supported by a foundation of piles or caissons filled with concrete or such other foundation as the Bureau shall direct No footing or foundation shall be laid on any soil containing organic matter nor shall footings or foundations be laid on frozen soil and when such footings and foundations are laid in freezing weather adequate precautions shall be taken against frost action

Section 1201 Wall footings Footings for foundation walls other than is provided for in the section on Dwellings shall not be less than twelve (12) inches in vertical thickness and not less than six (6) inches wider than the horizontal thickness of the wall above with such increase in size as may be required by soil conditions in accordance with Chapter 8 to safely bear the weight to be imposed thereon Such footings or base courses shall be of stone or concrete or other solid masonry acceptable to the Bureau

Section 1202 Pier or column footings Shall be in accordance with Section 803

Section 1203 Mortar for footings and foundations Cement mortar only shall be used in footings and foundations of all buildings other than as provided in Chapter 43 on Dwellings and Buildings Similarly Light in character Provided that this Section shall not prohibit the use of cement-lime mortar when in the judgment of the Chief the nature of the construction may permit of its use

Section 1204 Footing limitations and extensions Footings of all buildings having exterior curtain walls must be set back six and one half (6½) inches from the party line The Bureau of Highways in cities of the First class shall be privileged to allow the projection of footings of walls piers or columns three (3) feet beyond the building line Provided that on streets used or proposed to be used for subways the use of the bed of the street such footing shall be constructed within the building line And Provided further that in the event of any future public improvements necessitating the reclaiming of the bed of any street by said cities of the First class any such projections which may have been constructed shall be removed by the owner of the property affected at his expense

Section 1205 Foundations of minor buildings Foundation walls of dwellings garages stables and of buildings of similar light construction shall be in accordance with the chapter on "Dwellings" unless otherwise provided for

Section 1206 Exterior foundation walls Foundation walls of all other buildings shall be built of stone concrete reinforced concrete or other solid masonry acceptable to the Bureau If such walls be constructed of stone they shall be at least six (6) inches thicker than the wall next above to a depth of twelve (12) feet below said wall and shall be increased six (6) inches in thickness for every additional ten (10) feet in depth below the said twelve (12) feet If foundation walls be built of concrete or solid masonry other than stone they shall be at least four (4) inches thicker than the wall next above to a depth of twelve (12) feet below the said wall and shall be increased four (4) inches in thickness for every ten (10) feet below said twelve (12) feet All exterior foundation walls shall be sufficiently strong to resist lateral pressure

Section 1207 Foundation walls above grade In buildings built to the street grade the foundations shall not be built above the curb level unless the Bureau exempt such a building from this requirement when it appears to the Bureau that such building is located on a street which is not likely to be used for business purposes in which case the Bureau shall make necessary rules and regulations for such exceptions Foundation walls for buildings of the Fourth class shall be built up to the underside of the floor supports but not less than twelve (12) inches above grade

Section 1208 Underpinning of walls Walls used for underpinning shall be built solid of large flat stones concrete or other solid masonry acceptable to the Bureau laid up in cement mortar as the Bureau may direct Underpinning of party walls shall conform to the requirements of Section 1207

Section 1209 Footings foundation and piers not permitted hollow No hollow units or hollow construction shall be permitted for footings or foundations or piers below ground story levels of any buildings including dwellings

Section 1210 Retaining walls All walls including foundations walls which support earthwork or any kind of fill coal cinders ashes et cetera shall be designed as retaining walls

CHAPTER 13 Wall and Pier Requirements in General

Section 1300 General All buildings hereafter erected or altered except such as are otherwise provided for shall have all outside or division walls (exclusive of party walls which shall be as required in Chapter 18) constructed of solid masonry iron or other hard non-combustible material properly bonded and solidly put together all the said walls shall be built to a line and carried up plumb and straight and the several component parts of each building shall be constructed in accordance with the various provisions of this code

Section 1301 Story heights governing thickness of walls The height of stories for all given thicknesses of walls must not exceed eleven (11) feet in the clear for basement eighteen (18) feet in the clear for the first story fifteen (15) feet in the clear for the second story fourteen (14) feet in the clear average height for any upper story and if any story exceeds these heights respectively the walls of such story and all the walls below the same shall be increased four (4) inches in thickness additional to the thickness thereafter required The Chief may increase the thickness of any of the walls hereinafter specified if in his judgment the nature of the construction requires it

Section 1302 Thickness of walls and piers In one-story buildings with solid division walls the division walls shall be of legal thickness for party walls and be provided with a legal battlement

Where concentrated loads occur on spans of twenty-six (26) feet or less walls shall be not less than thirteen (13) inches thick with pilasters projecting not less than four (4) inches For spans over twenty-six (26) feet four (4) inches shall be added to the projection or thickness of pilasters for each additional thirteen (13) feet or fraction thereof

Pilasters shall have a width of not less than eight (8) inches plus one tenth of the distance center to center of pilasters

No thirteen (13) inch wall shall be over twenty-two (22) feet in height between pilasters or thirty (30) feet in height between steel or concrete columns designed to take bending from wind

The maximum distance between pilasters shall be eighteen (18) feet for thirteen (13) inch walls twenty-four (24) feet for eighteen (18) inch walls and thirty-two (32) feet for twenty-two (22) inch walls Provided that thirteen (13) inch walls with four (4) inch pilasters are not over eighteen (18) feet high

All walls having thirteen (13) inch pilasters or over shall be considered as having the proper piers or buttresses for lengths of buildings over one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet

Where openings in walls exceed fifty (50 percent of the length of the wall center to center of piers in Second and Third class construction the piers or sections of walls between openings shall have a width of at least thirty (30) percent of the distance center to center of piers with a thickness of at least eighteen (18) inches for the upper story and shall be increased four (4) inches for every two stories in height Provided that piers or sections of walls may be of a lesser width if the same number of square inches are provided in the cross section of the pier or wall but in no case to be less than eighteen (18) inches in thickness The unsupported height of piers shall not exceed ten times their least dimension For spans exceeding twenty-six (26) feet in width four (4) inches shall be added for every thirteen (13) feet or fraction thereof in excess of twenty-six (26) feet except that non-bearing wall piers may be eighteen (18) inches in thickness in the two uppermost stories increasing four (4) inches in thickness for every two additional stories

These requirements shall apply to all walls irrespective of length Provided that in no case shall the masonry be stressed to a greater limit than the allowable loads prescribed in this code for the kind of material used in a wall

Section 1303 Door and window openings Openings for doors and windows in all buildings except as provided for in the chapter on Dwellings or otherwise shall have good and sufficient arches of solid or hollow masonry or terra-cotta well built and keyed with abutments or shall have lintels of stone with bearings not less than four (4) inches or of masonry on shelf angle which need not be fireproofed On the inside of all openings six (6) feet or less in width in buildings other than First class or Intermediate construction in which the lintels shall be less than the thickness of the wall to be supported there may be a proper size timber lintel which shall rest at each end not less than four and one-half (4½) inches on the wall and shall be beveled on each end and shall have a double counter or dead arch turned over the same Openings over six (6) feet and less than eight (8) feet in width shall have the inside lintel of iron steel or reinforced concrete All lintels eight (8) feet and over in width shall be iron or steel or reinforced concrete beams or girders All exterior window sills shall be of stone or other hard incombustible material

Section 1304 Spanning of other openings All masonry arches spanning other openings shall be solid through the thickness of the wall with a rise of at least one (1) inch per foot of span and properly buttressed or anchored All iron steel or reinforced concrete beams or girders used as lintels to span openings eight (8) feet or over in width and not exceeding twelve (12) feet upon which a wall rests when not supported by iron or steel jamb boxes shall have a bearing of at least eight (8) inches at each end by the thickness of the wall supported For openings over twelve (12) inches In all cases the bearing shall be sufficient to support so by plates or the filling of masonry if hollow All iron or steel or reinforced concrete beams or girders used in any building shall be throughout not less in width than the thickness of the wall to be supported

Section 1305 Chases and recesses Except as provided in chapter forty-three on Dwellings no chases or recesses shall be permitted in party walls or in fire walls or fire division walls or in nine (9) inch walls or within the required area of piers No horizontal chase shall exceed four (4) feet in length nor shall the horizontal projection of any diagonal chase exceed four (4) feet Recesses for stairways or elevators may be left in walls but in no case shall the walls at such points be less than the required thickness of walls of the fourth story above the ground floor unless reinforced by additional piers by steel or reinforced concrete girders or steel or reinforced concrete columns and girders securely anchored to the walls on each side of such recesses and in no case shall any recess be made in any wall more than one-third of its required thickness Recesses for alcoves shall be not more than eight (8) feet in width and shall be arched over or spanned with lintels and not carried up higher than eighteen (18) inches below the floor next above The aggregate area of recesses in any wall shall not exceed one-fourth the whole area of the face of the wall in any story nor shall any such recess be made within a distance of six (6) feet of any other one in the same wall

Section 1306 Carrying up and bonding or anchoring of walls In no case shall any wall or walls of any building be carried up more than two stories in advance of any other wall without the permission of the Bureau The front rear side and party walls shall either be properly bonded together or anchored to each other every six (6) feet in their height by wrought-iron tie anchors not less than one and one-half (1½) inches by three-eighths (⅜) of an inch in size When walls are not bonded together the said anchors shall be built into the side or party walls not less than sixteen (16) inches and into the front and rear walls in such manner as to secure the front and rear walls to the side or party walls

Section 1307 Protection against freezing No masonry shall be built when the temperature is below 28 degrees F on a rising temperature or 32 degrees on a falling temperature at the point where the work is in progress unless provision be made to protect against freezing No frozen materials shall be built upon

Section 1308 Use of existing walls An existing masonry wall may be used in the renewal or extension of a building or may be increased in height beyond that allowed by this code for walls of its existing thickness and materials of construction provided that such wall is structurally sound or can be made so by reasonable repairs In no case shall linings be less than eight (8) inches thick and laid in cement mortar The foundations and lateral support shall be equivalent to those elsewhere required for newly constructed walls under similar conditions All linings shall be thoroughly bonded into existing masonry No existing wall shall be increased in height or be used for renewal or extension of a building without permission of the Bureau

Section 1309 Removal of walls No existing walls in any building shall be removed so as to leave an undivided floor area in excess of that permitted in this code

SOLID MASONRY WALLS

CHAPTER 14 Stone Walls

Section 1400 Quality of materials Stones shall be hard and durable free from seams and flaws that would affect their serviceability or strength as large as practicable for the intended work and of approved quality and shape In rubble work no stone shall have less bed than face

Section 1401 Mortar Except as provided in chapter forty-three on "Dwellings" stone walls above ground story levels shall be laid in cement mortar or in cement lime mortar

Section 1402 Bond and workmanship All stone walls shall be laid to a line plumb and straight and shall be faced on both sides No stone shall be laid in a rubble wall other than a dwelling in any other position than on its natural bed Walls twenty-four (24) inches or less in thickness shall have at least one header extending through the walls every three (3) feet in height from the bottom of the wall and every four (4) feet in length and if over twenty-four (24) inches in thickness shall have one header for every six (6) superficial feet on both sides of the wall All headers shall consist of good flat stones Each stone shall be thoroughly bedded in mortar under the entire area in such manner that it will not rock All interstices between individual stones must be thoroughly filled with mortar and if the spaces should be large pieces of stone must be driven into the mortar

Section 1403 Working stresses The maximum allowable compressive stresses in rubble stonework due to combined live and dead loads shall not exceed one hundred and forty (140) pounds per square inch when laid in cement mortar one hundred (100) pounds per square inch in cement-lime mortar and seventy (70) pounds per square inch in lime mortar

Section 1404 Thickness The thickness of stone walls shall be the same as provided for in section 1502 except that rubble stone walls shall be four (4) inches thicker than is required for solid brick walls but in no part less than sixteen (16) inches The minimum thickness for walls or piers of ashlar masonry properly bonded shall be the same as required for solid brick walls and piers under similar conditions

CHAPTER 15 Brick Walls

Section 1500 Quality of materials Brick clay and shale sand-lime brick concrete brick all of which units are included wherever the word brick occurs in this code and other units of similar size and shape used for bearing or non-bearing walls piers party walls fire walls and fire division walls when delivered on the site shall have a compressive strength of not less than two thousand two hundred and fifty (2250) pounds per square inch of gross cross-sectional area tested in the position as laid in the wall This figure shall represent the average of five tests with a minimum for any sample of two thousand (2000) pounds per square inch except that one only may have a compressive strength of not less than eighteen hundred (1800) pounds per square inch All brick shall be well burned well shaped and free from such cracks warpage stones pebbles or particles of lime as would affect their serviceability or strength except as provided in Section 4305 All sand-lime bricks shall be of compact pasture reasonably uniform in shape and free from such cracks warpage large pebbles balls of clay or particles of lime as would affect their serviceability or strength All concrete brick shall be free from such cracks or irregularities as would affect their serviceability or strength and shall be made from cement and suitable aggregate Where cinders are used as aggregate they shall conform to the requirements stipulated in the chapter on fireproofing The Chief may require a brand or other mark of identification to be pressed into any material covered by this section

Section 1501 Working stresses The maximum allowable compressive stresses in clay and shale brick sand lime brick and concrete brick masonry due to combined live and dead loads shall not exceed the following Where these units are used the average compressive strength of which is not less than four thousanr five hundred (4500) pounds per square inch when tested as defined in section 1500 three hundred (300) pounds per square inch when laid in cement mortar two hundred and twenty-five (225) pounds per square inch when laid in cement-lime mortar and one hundred (100) pounds per square inch when laid in lime mortar Where these units are used the average compressive strength of which is not less than three thousand (3000) pounds per square inch two hundred and fifty (250) two hundred (200) and ninety-five (95) respectively and where these units are used the average compressive strength of which is not less than two thousand two hundred and fifty (2250) pounds per square inch two hundred (200) one hundred and seventy (170) and ninety (90) pounds respectively Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the Chief from permitting stresses on masonry not to exceed four hundred (400) pounds per square inch where the units used have an ultimate compressive strength in excess of four thousand five hundred (4500) pounds per square inch when such bricks are laid in cement mortar with all vertical joints filled and all bed joints are filled and not grooved and where the workmanship is supervised in a manner satisfactory to the Chief

Section 1502 Thickness of exterior and interior walls party walls and piers other than in skeleton construction The thickness of walls for business manufacturing and public buildings seventy-five (75) to one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet long by twenty-six (26) feet or less clear span shall not be less than the number of inches in the following table for story heights as stipulated in Section 1301 and as further governed by openings and other provisions set forth in Chapter 13

STORIES

	First	Second	Third	Fourth	Fifth	Sixth	Seventh	Eighth	Ninth	Tenth	Eleventh	Twelfth
One-story	13
Two-Story	13	13
Three-story	18	13	13
Four-story	18	18	13	13
Five-story	22	18	18	13	13
Six-story	22	22	13	18	13	13
Seven-story	26	22	22	18	18	13	13

Twelve-story	34	34	30	30	26	26	22	22	18	18	13	13

For buildings of the same character less than seventy-five (75) feet long also hotels apartment and tenement houses the thickness of the walls may be reduced by making the three upper stories thirteen (13) inches thick and following from that down to the lowest story in the same sequence as in the above table Non-bearing walls of buildings hereinbefore in this section specified may be four (4) inches less in thickness Provided however that none are less than thirteen (13) inches thick except as hereinafter specified If there is to be a clear span of over twenty-six (26) feet between walls the bearing walls shall be four (4) inches more in thickness than is in this section specified for every thirteen (13) feet or fraction thereof the said walls are more than twenty-six (26) feet apart all buildings over one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet in length or depth without a cross wall or proper piers or buttresses shall have the side or bearing walls increased in thickness four (4) inches more than is specified for every seventy-five (75) feet or fraction thereof that said walls are over one hundred and twenty-five (125) feet in length The amount of materials elsewhere herein specified may be used in either piers or buttresses but no curtain wall between such pier or buttress shall be less than thirteen (13) inches thick Walls surrounding stairs elevator shafts fire escapes and light wells if of solid masonry shall not be less than eight (8) inches thick but they shall be increased in thickness with the increase in height of a sufficient extent to keep the load on the masonry within the maximum load elsewhere herein specified Nothing in this Section shall be construed to prevent the erection of light wells constructed of a framework of iron or steel filled in with glass Stores warehouses and factories over twenty-six (26) feet clear span shall have the floors carried on solid masonry partition walls or girders supported by columns of wood iron steel or reinforced concrete or piers of masonry Iron or steel trusses or girders or reinforced concrete girders may be used Provided the supporting walls are increased in thickness by the addition of piers or buttresses to a sufficient extent to keep the load in the masonry within the maximum load elsewhere herein specified

Section 1503 Bond mortar and workmanship In brick walls at least every seventh course of brick shall be a heading course except where walls are faced with face brick in which case at least every seventh course shall be bonded with Flemish headers or by cutting the corners of the face brick and putting diagonal headers behind the same or iron ties

All walls of brick shall be thoroughly bonded and solidly put together and shall be built to a line plumb level and straight all bricks to be laid and bedded with well-filled joints Every course when laid shall have the joints well flushed up all bed joints not covered are to be struck The brick walls below the curb level of all buildings other than as provided for in Chapter forty-three on Dwellings shall be laid in cement mortar Piers built for the support of any column post or wall shall be laid in cement mortar Provided that this section shall not be construed to prohibit the use of cement-lime mortar when in the judgment of the Chief the nature of the construction may permit its use

CHAPTER 16 Plain Concrete Walls

Section 1600 Working stresses The maximum allowable stresses in masonry of plain concrete of the materials and proportions specified in Section 1103 for a 2000 pound concrete due to combined dead and live loads shall not exceed four hundred (400) pounds per square inch in compression thirty-five (35) pounds per square inch in tension or diagonal tension or ninety (90) pounds per square inch in punching shear When plain concrete of greater strength is used the foregoing stresses may be increased to twenty (20) percent of the ultimate compressive strength for concrete in compression two (2) percent in tension or diagonal tension and four and one-half (4½) per cent in punching shear

Section 1601 Thickness Except as otherwise provided in Chapter 43 on Dwellings the minimum thickness of plain concrete bearing walls shall be not less than eighty (80) percent of the thickness of solid brick walls as regulated by Section 1502 and in no case less than one-eighteenth of the clear story height for the top story and one-twentieth of the clear story height for lower stories Hollow monolithic walls of plain concrete shall have the same net cross section area of material irrespective of the space within the wall as required for solid walls The inner and outer parts of such walls shall be securely braced and tied together with noncorrodible ties or other means to bring them into common action Where floor and roof systems are carried by such walls provision shall be made for the distribution of these loads to the full cross section of the wall All plain concrete walls shall otherwise be in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 13 on Wall and Pier Requirements in General

CHAPTER 17 Solid Concrete Block Walls

Section 1700 Quality of materials When delivered on the site the average ultimate compressive strength of solid concrete block used for bearing walls except as hereinafter excepted shall be not less than two thousand (2000) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area This figure shall represent the average of five tests when tested in the position as laid in the walls with a minimum for any individual sample of sixteen hundred (1600) pounds per square inch All solid concrete block shall be sound of compact structure reasonably uniform in shape free from such cracks warpage or foreign substance as would affect their serviceability or strength and shall be made from Portland cement and suitable aggregate Where cinders are used they shall conform to the requirements in Section 2702

Section 1701 Working stresses and thickness The maximum allowable compressive stresses in masonry of solid concrete block shall be not more than two hundred (200) pounds per square inch when laid in cement mortar and one hundred and seventy (170) pounds per square inch when laid in cement-lime mortar and ninety (90) pounds per square inch when lime mortar is used Wall thickness shall be the same as called for in Section 1502 for solid brick walls

Section 1702 Bond mortar and workmanship Solid concrete blocks shall be bonded at each course by lapping each block one-half over the unit below Mortar shall be carefully placed to insure a full bed and contact and all vertical joints shall be fully mortared and all walls shall be plumb level and straight

Section 1703 Marking All concrete block complying with the provisions of this Chapter shall be clearly marked by the manufacturer with a means of identification All unmarked solid concrete block shall be rated in accordance with Section 1900

CHAPTER 18 Party Walls Fire Walls and Fire Division Walls

Section 1800 Party walls All new party walls of buildings hereafter erected shall be built solidly from the bottom up and extended as a parapet or battlement at least three (3) feet above or beyond the roof covering except in dwellings and buildings of similar light construction when they shall extend at least ten (10) inches above or beyond the roof covering Such walls above roofs shall be at least as thick as the wall of the story beneath except that they need not in any case be more than thirteen (13) inches thick provided that the height does not exceed four times the thickness without being latterally supported Such walls shall be of solid masonry in cement mortar and shall be coped with salt glazed tile stone metal or other hard incombustible material Where the roof is mansard unless the same is constructed of fireproof material throughout the lower slope of said wall shall extend at least six (6) inches distant and parallel with the roof covering and be corbeled to the outer edge of all projections and coped with incombustible material Provided that with the approval and under the supervision of the Bureau openings may be made in party walls of contiguous buildings All parapets or battlements of exterior walls shall be governed by the same structural requirements as for party walls

Section 1801 Construction and thickness of party walls Except as may be otherwise provided in Chapter 43 on Dwellings all party walls shall be built of solid masonry which shall meet the requirements of the Sections relating to such materials and of the thickness required in Chapters 14 and 15

Section 1802 Wall encroachments and party lines Any lot of the width of sixteen (16) feet or less shall not be encumbered with more than nine (9) inches of any stone foundation basement or cellar wall or more than four and one-half (4½) inches of the wall above any lot of greater width than sixteen (16) feet shall not be encumbered with more than ten (10) inches for the stone wall nor more than six and one-half (6½) inches for the wall above nor in any case shall any lot be encumbered with more than one-half the thickness of the party wall Footings of all buildings of the skeleton frame type having exterior curtain walls shall be kept back six and one-half (6½) inches from the party line

Section 1803 Insertions in party walls Wooden joists rafters or other timbers in the party walls of any buildings hereafter erected shall be separated from the joists or timbers entering into the opposite side of the wall by at least four

(4) inches of solid masonry except that in dwellings not over three stories in height the separation may be two (2) inches of solid incombustible material Other than such separated structural timbers no studs stringers or other woodwork shall be inserted in a party wall except light nailing strips or plugs Battlement walls of dwellings may have roofing paper or other flashing material entered two (2) inches on either side

Section 1804 Chases and Recesses No recesses chases or other depressions or cuttings of any kind shall be permitted in any party wall that would decrease its required thickness except as provided for in Chapter forty-three on Dwellings

Section 1805 Examination of existing party walls Inspectors of buildings shall upon the application of any owner or owners of any buildings or their authorized agents or upon the application of any person or persons about to erect any new building or buildings examine any or all existing party or division walls and if they are deemed by the inspector to be defective out of repair or insufficient and unfit for the purpose of the old building existing upon the adjoining premises or of the new buildings about to be erected such party or division wall or walls shall be repaired or made good or taken down by the parties building as the inspector's decision may be In every case where such wall or walls are defective out of repair or insufficient for the purpose of the buildings there existing upon the adjoining premises and using the same the cost or expense of such repair or removal together with the expense of the new wall or walls to be erected in lieu thereof shall be borne and paid by the owner of said buildings upon the adjoining premises and the party erecting the new buildings in proportion to the amount of such wall or walls which is or shall be respectively used by their said buildings and in every case where such wall or walls are defective out of repair or insufficient only for the purpose of the new buildings the cost and expense of such repair or removal together with the expense of the new wall or walls to be erected in lieu thereof shall then be borne and paid exclusively by the parties erecting the new buildings and they shall also in such case make good all damages occasioned thereby to the adjoining premises

Section 1806 Use of existing party walls Walls heretofore built for or used as party walls whose thickness at the time of their erection was in accordance with the requirements of the then existing laws but which are not in accordance with the requirements of this code may be used if in good condition for the ordinary use of party walls Provided the height of the same be not increased In case it is desired to increase the height of existing party or independent walls which walls are less in thickness than required under this code the same may be done with a lining of brickwork to form a combined thickness with the old walls of not less than four (4) inches more than the thickness required for a new wall corresponding with the total height of the wall when so increased in height The said lining shall be supported on proper foundations and carried up to such height as the Bureau may require No lining shall be less than nine (9) inches in thickness and all lining shall be laid up in cement mortar and thoroughly anchored to the old brick walls with suitable wrought-iron anchors placed two (2) feet apart and properly fastened or driven into the old walls in rows alternating vertically and horizontally with each other the old walls being first cleaned of plaster and other coatings where any lining is to be built against the same In all cases where there is such increase of walls a new foundation shall be built in such manner as to carry jointly both the new and old walls and the soil under such foundation shall not be loaded beyond the limits specified in chapter eight of this code This section shall not be construed to prohibit the raising of the party walls in dwellings an additional story if upon inspection the walls are found good and the load on the solid masonry is within the maximum specified in the chapter on Dwellings

Section 1807 Underpinning of existing party walls Whenever the owner or owners of property wish to excavate to a depth below the bottom of any existing party or other walls wholly or partly upon adjoining land and standing upon or near the boundary line of said lot upon which the excavation is made the owner or owners of the ground to be excavated shall protect and underpin such existing party or other walls and the buildings of which they form a part which may be located wholly or partly upon adjoining land or in proximity to such excavation If the owner or owners of ground upon which an excavation is made refuse to underpin or protect any party or other walls or buildings wholly or partly upon adjoining land or in proximity to such excavation after having had notice of twenty-four hours from the Bureau so to do any inspector of the Bureau may enter upon the premises and employ such labor and take such steps as in his judgment may be necessary to make the same safe and secure or to prevent the same from becoming unsafe or dangerous at the expense of the person or persons owning the ground on which the excavation is made and any person or persons doing said work or any part thereof under and by the direction of said inspector may bring and maintain an action against the owner or owners or any one of them of the ground on which an excavation is made for any work done or materials furnished in and about the said or any adjoining premises in the same manner as if he had been employed to do the work by the owner or owners of the premises excavated

Section 1808 Fire walls Fire walls when not built upon party lines or within six and one-half (6½) inches of same may in addition to the materials prescribed in this chapter for Party Walls be constructed also of reinforced concrete or of plain concrete when conforming otherwise to the requirements of this chapter and to the chapters relating to walls of the materials of which constructed

Section 1809 Fire division walls Fire division walls shall be constructed the same as Fire Walls In buildings for storage and heavy manufacturing purposes such fire division walls shall be not less than thirteen (13) inches thick

Section 1810 Openings in fire walls fire division walls and enclosures Openings may be made in fire walls and fire division walls of the size number and character as determined by the Chief if protected by fire doors as provided herein Each opening shall be provided with two sets of approved fire doors separated by the thickness of the wall or division These doors shall be constructed and hung in accordance with rules promulgated by the Chief Openings in enclosure walls of fire resistive construction other than herein provided for shall have metal frames or studs securely fastened to floor and ceiling Structural members and such metal frames or studs shall be approved by the Chief No wood for framing or fastening shall be used for such openings Provided that this section shall not apply to private dwellings nor to one-story buildings used only for working in non-combustible materials

CHAPTER 19 Hollow Masonry Walls

Section 1900 Quality of materials Hollow-burned clay tile shall have a compressive strength of not less than one thousand (1000) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area when tested with the cells vertical and seven hundred (700) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area when tested with the cells horizontal. This figure shall represent the average of five tests with a minimum for any individual sample of twenty percent from the stated averages Tiles shall have outer shell or wall not less than seven-eighths inches thick in its least dimensions All interior webs shall be not less than three-fourths inches in thickness. Non-bearing walls of hollow tile in spandrel walls may have five-eighths of any inch thickness of outer shell and webs provided the unsupported length of the shell and web is not over six (6) inches shall be free from such cracks warpage pebbles or particles of lime as would affect their serviceability or strength

Hollow concrete block hollow concrete tile and solid unmarked concrete block When delivered on the site the average ultimate compressive strength of hollow concrete block hollow concrete tile or solid unmarked concrete block shall be not less than one thousand (1000) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area for the average of five specimens tested with a minimum of not less than eight hundred (800) pounds per square inch for any one specimen All hollow concrete block and hollow concrete tile shall have at least fifty (50) per cent solid material Where exposed to the weather they shall have walls of sufficient thickness so that the exposed surface including any stucco or other facing shall be at least two (2) inches in thickness Blocks and tiles shall be sound of compact structure reasonably uniform in shape free from such cracks warpage or foreign substances as would affect their serviceability or strength and shall be made from cement and suitable aggregate Where cinders are used the same shall conform to the requirements for Cinders stipulated in Section 2702

Brick Brick and other units of similar size and shape made of clay shale or other material and used for hollow walls shall conform to the requirements of Section 1500

Section 1901 Working stresses For walls of burned clay tile and hollow walls of clay and shale brick sand-lime brick or concrete brick hollow concrete block and hollow concrete tile and solid unmarked concrete block masonry the allowable compressive stresses due to dead and live load shall not exceed eighty (80) pounds per square inch of gross cross sectional area when laid in cement mortar and seventy (70) pounds per square inch of gross sectional area when laid in cement-lime or masons cement mortar

Section 1902. Thickness and Height other than in Party Walls and in Skeleton Construction Walls of hollow burned clay tile hollow concrete block or hollow concrete tile solid unmarked concrete block or hollow walls of brick in dwellings and third class buildings for human occupancy shall be constructed as called for in Section 1503 and shall not exceed four stories in height The thickness shall be governed by the upper four stories of wall thickness set forth in Section 1502 and in Chapter 13 One story buildings not over five thousand (5000) square feet in area for commercial occupancy other than highly hazardous may be constructed with the walls not less than nine (9) inches thick

Section 1903 Bond mortar and workmanship When two or more hollow units are used to make up the thickness of walls the inner and outer courses shall be bonded at vertical intervals not exceeding three courses by lapping at least one cell completely over a cell of the unit below Suitable provision shall be made at each line of floor joists or beams in hollow walls or walls of hollow units to shut off the spaces above from those below and to insure good bearing for beams and uniform distribution of loads Where walls of hollow building units are decreased in thickness the top course of the thicker wall shall be made solid or other adequate means for supporting the full web section of the units above shall be provided All hollow units shall be placed with the cells in alignment and the mortar on all cells of hollow units set vertically shall be carefully placed to insure a full bed and contact All vertical joints shall be at least fully mortared at the inside and outside faces and all walls shall be plumb level and straight No lime mortar shall be used for walls of hollow unit construction or hollow walls of brick except as otherwise provided in Chapter 43 on Dwellings

Section 1904 Piers Hollow burned clay tile hollow concrete block hollow concrete tile or hollow walls of brick shall not be used for isolated piers unless solidly filled with concrete The unsupported height of such piers shall not exceed ten times their least horizontal dimension

Section 1905 Marking All hollow concrete block shall be marked in accordance with the provisions of Section 1703 for solid concrete block

CHAPTER 20 Veneered Walls

Section 2000 Quality and kind of materials Materials used in the backing and veneering of veneered walls shall conform in all respects to the requirements prescribed for such materials in the chapters on Masonry in this code Stone or architectural terra-cotta ashlar or other approved masonry material used for structural veneering shall be not less than three (3) inches thick and for applied veneering not less than seven-eighths (⅞) inches

Section 2001 Working stresses The maximum allowable compressive stresses on the backing of veneered walls due to combined live and dead loads shall not exceed those elsewhere In no case shall the veneering be considered a part of the wall in computing the strength of bearing walls nor shall it prescribed for masonry of the type which forms such backing be considered a part of the required thickness of the wall

Section 2002 Attachment of veneering When walls are veneered with brick terra-cotta stone or concrete trim the veneering shall be tied into the backing either by a header for every three hundred (300) square inches of wall surface or by substantial non-corrodible metal anchors or clamps spaced not farther apart than sixteen (16) inches vertically and two (2) feet horizontally

Section 2003 Height and thickness Except in skeleton construction veneered walls shall not exceed forty (40) feet in height above foundations and the thickness of such walls exclusive of the veneer shall be regulated by the requirements for the uppermost stories in Section 1502

CHAPTER 21 Faced Walls

Section 2100 Quality and kind of materials Materials used in the backing and facing of faced walls shall conform in all respects to the requirements prescribed for such materials in the chapters on Masonry in this code

Section 2101 Working stresses The maximum allowable compressive stresses on faced walls due to combined live and dead loads shall not exceed those elsewhere prescribed for masonry of the type which forms the backing Where bonded to the backing as provided hereinafter the full cross section of the facing may be considered in computing bearing strength

Section 2102 Height and thickness Faced walls may be of the same height but shall be not less in thickness than is required for masonry walls of the type which forms the backing Where bonded to the backing as provided herein the facing may be considered a part of the wall thickness

Section 2103 Bond Brick facing shall be bonded to walls of brick or of hollow burned clay tile or of solid or hollow concrete block or hollow concrete tile with at least one header course in every seven courses or there shall be at least one full length header in every seventy-two (72) square inches of wall surface Stone ashlar facing shall have at least 20 per cent of the superficial area not less than three and three-quarter (3¾) inches thicker than the remainder of the facing to form bond stones which shall be uniformly distributed throughout the wall When some stones in every alternate course are at least seven and one-half (7½) inches thick bonded into the backing at least three and three-quarter (3¾) inches and at least 20 per cent of the superficial area of the wall is constituted of such bond stone uniformly distributed the ashlar facing may be counted as part of the wall thickness. Every stone not a bond stone and every projecting stone not a bond stone shall be securely anchored to the backing with substantial non-corrodible metal anchors

CHAPTER 22 Spandrel Walls Curtain Walls and Similar Non-Load-Bearing Walls

Section 2200 Such walls shall be not less than nominal nine (9) inch walls in thickness and shall be constructed of the classes of materials heretofore designated as masonry Such materials other than brick sand lime brick and concrete brick shall have an average ultimate compressive strength of not less than seventy-five (75) per cent of that specified in Chapters 14 16 and 19 Thickness of web area etc may be reduced proportionately

CHAPTER 23 Interior Partitions

Section 2300 Bearing partitions All interior bearing walls except party walls fire walls and fire division walls shall be considered as bearing partitions and shall be constructed of materials meeting the standards required by the various classifications in this code Where not utilized as party fire or fire division walls partitions exclusive of plaster shall be not less than one-eighteenth of the height between floors or floor beams and shall otherwise meet the provisions of Section 1502 and Chapter 13 on Wall Requirements in General

Section 2301 Non-bearing partitions Such partitions when of masonry shall be as follows Non-bearing partitions of solid or hollow masonry materials or of gypsum block or other similar materials shall be built solidly against floor and ceiling construction below and above and for all classes of construction shall not exceed the following unsupported heights

Thickness exclusive of plaster Inches	Maximum unsupported height Feet

Section 2302 Plaster Partitions Solid plaster partitions reinforced with steel may be used in any class of construction and shall be not less than 2" thick for heights not exceeding twelve (12) feet nor less than 3" thick for heights not exceeding twenty (20) feet Hollow plaster partitions reinforced with steel shall not exceed twenty (20) feet for their unsupported height

CHAPTER 24 Timber and Woodwork

Section 2400 Quality of Lumber and Timber All lumber and timber shall be equivalent to the commercial association grades conforming to the basic grading provisions prescribed by American Lumber Standards in conformity with Section 600

Section 2401 Sizes of timber When sizes are called for in this chapter or elsewhere in this code they shall be considered as the nominal or commercial sizes of rough lumber but for calculation purposes to determine the required size of lumber and timber members the net cross-sectional area or actual size shall be used and not the nominal size Where nominal sizes are given the actual dressed dimensions conforming to American Lumber Standards shall be accepted In no case shall the corresponding rough sizes be less than permits surfacing to such dressed dimensions

Section 2402 Allowable stresses in timber The Following stresses in pounds per square inch shall not be exceeded

Species	Bending Extreme [Fibre] Fiber	Horizontal Shear	Compression Perpendicular to Grain	Parallel to Grain	Elasticity [Mondulous] Mondulus
Southern Long Leaf Yellow Pine	1600	110	345	1175	1600000
Short Leaf Pine........	1200	88	325	880	1600000
Douglas Fir Structural Grade	1600	90	345	1175	1600000
Douglas Fir	1200	72	325	880	1600000
Red and White Oak ..	1400	125	500	1000	1500000
West Coast Hemlock...	1300	75	300	900	1400000
Spruce	1100	85	250	800	1200000
Eastern Hemlock	1100	70	300	700	1100000

Douglas Fir and West Coast Hemlock shall be identified by a registered species mark or grade mark or other authentication acceptable to the Chief The Compression in columns and posts equals C minus 20 L/D wherein C is the compression parallel to grain in the above table L is the length in inches and D is the least dimension of the cross section in inches The ratio L/D shall not exceed 40

The permissible stresses other than the minimum on each species specified above shall be determined by tests as required in Chapter Six

Section 2403 Beams and girders The ends of all wooden floor or roof timbers in second class buildings shall enter the wall to a depth of at least four inches and the end of all such beams shall be furnished with plates providing anchorage and shall be so shaped or arranged that in case of fire they may fall without injury to the wall

Roof rafters and floor joist in third class construction shall be properly braced with bridging not less than eight feet apart

All wood beams shall be trimmed away from flues and chimneys Header and trimmer beams shall not be less than four (4) inches from the outside face of the chimney Any header beam supporting a trimmer arch in front of a fireplace shall be not less than sixteen (16) inches from the face of the chimney breast

A wooden beam in a party or fire wall shall be separated from any other beam in the wall by at least four (4) inches of solid masonry except as required in Chapter 43 "Dwellings"

Section 2404 Bolting All bolts in wood construction shall be provided with washers of such porportions that the compression on the wood at the face of the washer will not exceed the working stresses prescribed in this chapter

Section 2405 Stud partitions Stud bearing partitions which rest directly over each other and are not parallel with wood floor beams shall run down between the wood floor beams and rest on the top plate of the partition below and shall have the studding filled in solid between the uprights to the depth of the floor beams with suitable incombustible materials Stud partitions shall not be used for bearing purposes except in dwellings and buildings for human occupancy with a floor load not greater than forty (40) pounds per square foot

CHAPTER 25 Iron and Steel

Section 2500 Skeleton frame The skeleton frame of all structures shall be considered as the columns and all girders beams trusses or spandrels and wind bracing having rigid connections to the columns the members of floor or roof panels which have no connection to the columns shall be considered secondary members

The skeleton frame and secondary members shall be designed and constructed to carry all dead live and other loads to which they may be subjected both during erection and after completion of the structure All members shall be such that the stresses which they may carry can be satisfactorily determined by the analytical methods of engineering practice

The skeleton frame shall provide all the necessary rigidity for the structure except that in the case of building wherein the secondary systems are rigidly attached to the skeleton frame and braced laterally the secondary system may be considered as providing stiffening to aid in transferring the horizontal forces to the foundations

Section 2501 Design The requirements of Section 600 shall govern the designing detailing fabrication and erection of all structural steel

All girders and beams shall be considered as not continuous unless rigid connections to the webs and top and bottom flanges are sufficient to develop the required stresses from beam to beam so that true continuity results

The design must take into full account all dead loads live loads wind or other horizontal forces eccentricity and the effect of any moving loads Allowance shall be made for any undue loading during erection including wind

The stresses produced by the loading and its distribution shall not exceed those hereinafter stated

Section 2502 Material Structural or carbon steel for buildings made by the open hearth or Bessemer process shall conform to standards promulgated by the Chief in order that the stresses specified in section 2504 may be employed for design the ultimate tensile strength shall be between 55,000 and 65,000 pounds per square inch and the minimum elongation of the specimen tested shall not be less than 1,400,000 divided by the ultimate tensile strength

Section 2503 Minimum thickness No steel used in the skeleton frame shall be less than thirty one-hundredths (30/100) inches thick when used for exterior construction nor less than "twenty-three one-hundredths (23/100) inches" for interior construction

These provisions do not apply to rolled steel beams used as light structures such as stairways skylights marquises fire-escapes secondary members of floor and roof panels linings filler or capes light one-story buildings or light miscellaneous steel work

Section 2504 Allowable stresses All parts of the structure shall be so proportioned that the sum of the maximum static stresses in pounds per square inch shall not exceed the following

(a) Tension rolled steel on net section 18,000

(b) Compression rolled steel on short lengths or where lateral deflection is prevented 18,000

Compression in columns

$$= \frac{18000}{1 + \frac{L^2}{18000\ r^2}}$$

With a maximum of 15,000

In which L is the unsupported length of the column and r is the corresponding least radius of gyration of the section both in inches

When a structural steel column is encased in stone concrete it may be designed in conformity with Section 2622

For main compression members the ratio L/r shall not exceed 120 and for bracing and other secondary members 200

(c) Bending On extreme fibres of rolled shapes and built up sections net sections if lateral deflection is prevented 18,000

Modulus of Elasticity 30,000,000

When the unsupported length L exceeds fifteen times b the width of the compression flange stress in pounds per square inch in the latter shall not exceed

$$= \frac{20000}{1 + \frac{L^2}{2000\ b^2}}$$

The laterally unsupported length of beams and girders shall not exceed forty times b the width of the compression flange

On extreme fibres of pins when the forces are assumed as acting at the centre of gravity of the pieces 27,000

(d) Shearing On pins 13,500

On turned bolts in reamed holes with a clearance of not more than 1/50" 13,500

On power-driven rivets 13,500

On hand-driven rivets 10,000

On unfinished bolts 10,000

On the gross area of the webs of beams and girders where H the height between flanges in inches is not more than 60 times t the thickness of the web in inches 12,000

On the gross area of the webs of beam and girders if the web is not stiffened where H the height between flanges in inches is more than 60 times t the thickness of the web the maximum shear per inch S/A shall not exceed

in which S is the total shear and A is gross area of web in square inches

	Double Shear	Single Shear
(e) Bearing On pins	30,000	24,000
On power-driven rivets	30,000	24,000
On turned bolts in reamed holes	30,000	24,000
On hand-driven rivets	20,000	16,000
On unfinished bolts	20,000	16,000

On expansion rollers per lineal inch 600 times the diameter of the roller in inches

(f) Combined stresses For combined stresses due to wind with other loads the permissible working stress may be increased by one-third provided the resulting section is not less than that required by the dead and live loads alone

(g) Members carrying wind only For members carrying wind stresses only the permissible working stresses may be increased by one-third

Section 2505 Combined stresses (a) Members subject to both direct and bending stresses shall be so proportioned that the greatest combined stresses shall not exceed the allowed limits

(b) All members and their connections which are subject to stresses in both tension and compression due to the action of live loads shall be designed to sustain the stress giving the largest section with fifty (50) per cent of the smaller stress added to it If the reversal of stress is due to the action of wind the member shall be designed for the stress giving the largest section and the connections proportioned for the largest stress

(c) Full provision shall be made for stresses caused by eccentric loads

Section 2506 Workmanship All workmanship shall be equal to the best practice in modern structural shops The use of a burning torch is permissible if the burned metal is not carrying stresses during the burning Stresses shall not be transmitted into the metal through a burned surface

Section 2507 Painting (a) Parts not in contact but inaccessible after assembling shall be properly protected by paint

(b) All steel work shall be thoroughly cleaned and except where encased in stone or slag concrete in intimate contact shall be given one coat of acceptable metal protection well worked into the joints and open spaces before leaving the shop and one coat in the field of a paint acceptable to the Chief

(c) Machine finished surfaces shall be protected against corrosion

Section 2508 Erection (a) The frame of all steel skeleton buildings shall be carried up true and plumb and temporary bracing shall be introduced wherever necessary to take care of all loads to which the structure may be subjected including erection equipment and the operation of same Such bracing shall be left in place as long as may be required for safety

(b) As erection work progresses the work shall be securely bolted up to take care of all dead loads wind and erection stresses

(c) Wherever piles of material erection equipment or other loads are carried during the erection proper provision shall be made to take care of stresses resulting from the same

(d) No riveting shall be done until the structure has been properly aligned

(e) Rivets driven in the field shall be heated and driven with the same care as those driven in the shop

(f) The skeleton frame must be riveted but secondary members twelve (12) inches or less in depth may be bolted except as provided for in Section 3202

(g) The Chief may approved the use of turned or machined bolts in reamed holes in lieu of rivets provided that he is satisfied that riveting is either impractical or inadvisable

Section 2509 Welded connections Nothing in this code shall prevent the Chief from establishing rules and regulations under which welding may be permitted which rules and regulations shall conform to generally accepted practice

in which P equals compression in pounds per square inch
L equals length of column in inches
r equals minimum radius of gyration of the column in inches

(c) Cast iron columns shall not be used in any case where the load is so eccentric as to cause tension in the cast iron nor shall they be used for parts of the structural frame of buildings which are required to resist stress due to wind Tensile stresses in the extreme fibre of cast iron lintels or elsewhere except in columns shall not exceed 3000 pounds per square inch

(d) All columns resting on or supporting other columns shall have their ends machine faced to a plane surface perpendicular to the axis

(e) Cast iron shall not be used structurally except for columns column bases and post caps It shall not be used in First class construction

Section 2511 Pipe and concrete columns Except in First and Intermediate class construction circular hollow steel or wrought iron columns filled with concrete may carry a load equal to the capacity of the metal casing plus the capacity of the concrete filling The average unit stress in the casing shall be that specified elsewhere in this section for columns and that in the concrete filling shall be in the same ratio to the unit stress in the casing as the modulus of elasticity of the concrete bears to that of the casing

Section 2512 Special steels Steels containing ingredients other than carbon or manufactued by special processes may be used for structural purposes in conformity with regulations promulgated by the Chief which regulations shall conform to generally accepted practice

CHAPTER 26 Reinforced Concrete

Section 2600 Definition. The term Reinforced Concrete in these regulations shall mean an approved concrete mixture in which steel is embedded in such a manner as to resist the tensile stresses and to add rigidity and strength to concrete in compression

Section 2601 Application Reinforced concrete will be approved for all types of building construction provided the design conforms with good engineering practice and the working stresses do not exceed those herein specified

Section 2602 Cement All cement used in reinforced concrete work shall be Portland or other hydraulic cement meeting the standards promulgated by the Chief

Section 2603 Fine aggregate Fine aggregate shall be clean and well graded sand crushed stone or gravel screenings air cooled blast furnace slag or other generally accepted materials which when used for concrete mixes will produce a concrete of the required strength and fire resistance when tested in conformity with Chapter Six (6) The largest particles shall pass when dry a screen having holes not larger than one-quarter inch in diameter Not more than six (6) percent shall pass a screen of 100 meshes per lineal inch

Section 2604 Coarse aggregate Coarse aggregate shall consist of clean well-graded crushed stone gravel air cooled blast furnace slag or other generally accepted materials which when used for concrete mixes will produce a concrete of the required strength and fire resistance when tested in conformity with Chapter Six (6) The largest particles shall pass when dry through a one and one-quarter inch diameter ring and all particles must be retained on a screen having holes one-quarter inch in diameter Sizes passing a 2¼ inch ring may be used in foundations walls 12 inches or more in thickness and slabs over 6 inches thick

Section 2605 Reinforcement Steel used in reinforced concrete shall meet the standard requirements for plain or deformed bars as promulgated by the Chief and shall be of new billet or standard rail steel grade All requirements for quality shall conform to those nationally recognized as standard practice

Section 2606 Defects in reinforcement Steel for reinforcement shall be free from excessive rust scale grease paint or any coating which would tend to reduce or destroy the bond between the steel and the concrete Bars shall also be free from injuries seams slivers flaws and other mill defects The weight of any lot of bars shall not vary more than five per cent from the standard weight of the lot as given by manufacturers' handbooks

Section 2607 Design of concrete Concrete shall consist of a mixture of a plastic or viscuous consistency in the proportions hereinafter specified for the various classes of stresses

Section 2608 Inspection All structural concrete work shall be inspected and tested by an inspector possessing the requisite technical knowledge to proportion the mixing and to make the tests set forth elsewhere in the code Written reports of the results of such inspections and tests shall be filed with the Bureau Field tests shall be made on all reinforced concrete work in conformity with requirements promulgated by the Chief

Section 2609 Mixing of concrete The measuring and mixing of the cement the fine aggregate the coarse aggregate and the water shall be done by mechanical means in conformity with standard requirements promulgated by the Chief

Ready mixed concrete delivered from central mixing plants may be used after demonstrations conducted in co-operation with the Chief have shown that the strength of the concrete so delivered meets with the requirements of this Code

The concrete shall be proportioned by the inspector to give the necessary workability without exceeding the following ratios by volume of water to cement the ratio of cement to the sum of separated volumes of dry and rodded fine and coarse aggregates shall be as indicated in the following table The strengths indicated below represent the minimum strength in compression which must show in the tests at the end of twenty-eight days as specified hereinafter

Approximate Volume of Portland cement to sum of separate volumes of dry and rodded fine and coarse aggregate	Water-cement ratio United States gallons per ninety-four pounds sack of cement	Assumed ultimate strength at twenty-eight days
1—8—½	8—¼	1500
1—5—½	6—¾	2500
1—5	6	3000

Water or moisture contained in the aggregate and ascertained by daily tests must be included in determining the ratio of water to cement

Section 2610 Thickness of concrete fireproofing Where structural steel is used as column cores the thickness of concrete fire proofing shall be not less than four (4) inches

Around reinforcing bars in columns	2	inches
At bottom of girders	2	"
At sides of girders	1½	"
At bottom and sides of beams	1½	"
At bottom of joists	1	"
At sides of joists	1	"

The fireproofing of other structural steel shall conform to the requirements of Section 2701

Section 2611 Modulus of elasticity of concrete The following shall be taken as the ratio of the modulus of elasticity of the reinforcing steel to that of the concrete of the grades indicated

1 Uultimate stresses up to and including 2000 lbs ratior..15
2 " " over 2000 lbs and up to and including 2500 lbs ratio 12
3 Ultimate stresses over 2500 lbs ratio 10

Section 2612 Working stresses in concrete The following indicates the percentage of the ultimate strength which may be used for design

Direct compression 25%
Columns
  1 With spirals as defined in Section 2630
  2 Longitudinal reinforcement and lateral ties on gross area of concrete 25%
Piers and pedestals 25%
Compression in extreme fiber
  1 Extreme fiber stress in compression 40%
  2 Extreme fiber stress in compression adjacent to supports of continuous beams 45%
  Tension in concrete members ....None
Shear
  1 Beams without web reinforcement 2%
  2 Beams with web reinforcement and longitudinal bars having special anchorage 9%
Bond
  1 Deformed bars 5%
  2 Plain bars 4%

Bearing on a reinforced concrete surface having a greater area than that of the loaded portion may be increased proportionally until 37½% of the ultimate strength of the concrete may be used when the said surface is three or more times the area of the loaded portion

Section 2613 Working stresses in reinforcing steel These shall be 18,000 per square inch in tension and steel in compression shall be figured at a stress equivalent to the compressive stress of the concrete times the ratio given in Section 2611

Section 2614 Assumptions for design The design of reinforced concrete structures shall be in conformity with Section 600 Slag concrete shall be considered in all respects as equal to stone concrete

Section 2615 Self-centering Self-centering shall not be considered as furnishing section to take tension in slabs of reinforced concrete

Section 2616 Thickness of slabs The minimum thickness of floor slabs shall be two and one-half (2½) inches and roof slabs two (2) inches Up to a span of 2 feet 6 inches

This need not apply in one-way or two-way composite floors containing filler blocks so designed as to permit of mechanical bond between the blocks and the concrete

Section 2617 Floor Finish The cement finish of a concrete floor shall not be considered in calculating the strength of floor members unless it is an integral part of the slab laid at the same time that the slab is poured

Section 2618 Composite floors Composite floors consisting of a combination of reinforced concrete and fillers are permitted provided that their design is based on rational theory in conformity with this code or on formulas developed from tests made in conformity with this code and that such design has been substantiated by tests as heretofore described and provided that all materials entering into the construction are fireproof

No filler block shall be considered as adding to the strength of the girders or beams supporting the floor systems nor shall they be considered as adding to the strength of the floor systems unless such fillers are so designed as to permit of mechanical bond between the blocks and the concrete between them The unit stresses in this code and in the fillers shall be proportioned in conformity with this code but no filler shall be considered as acting in this respect that has a compressive strength of less than sixty per cent of the concrete the effective width of a joist shall not be taken at more than the actual width of the concrete plus half the thickness of the adjacent shells

Section 2619 Length of columns The length of columns shall be taken as the maximum unsupported length

The unsupported length of column shall not exceed fifteen times the least side or diameter and in no case shall the least side or diameter be less than twelve (12) inches The length shall include any corbel or knee brace attached to the columns

Section 1620 Columns with spirals The axial load on columns reinforced with longitudinal bars and closely spaced spirals enclosing a circular core shall be not greater than that determined by the following formula

$$W = Ac\ (1 + (n-1)\ p)\ \ (300 + (0.10 + 4p)\ \ f'c$$

wherein P=Percentage of longitudinal reinforcement
f'c=28 day test strength
Ac=Area of concrete within the spiral

The longitudinal reinforcement shall consist of at least six bars of minimum diameter of one-half inch and the total effective cross-sectional area shall be not less than one per cent more than six per cent of that of the core

The spiral reinforcement shall be not less than one-fourth the volume of the longitudinal reinforcement It shall consist of evenly spaced continuous spirals held firmly in place and true to line by at least three vertical spacer bars The spacing of the spirals shall be not greater than one-sixth of the diameter of the core and in no case more than three inches

Section 2621 Columns without spirals Axial compression in reinforced concrete columns without hoops bands or spirals containing not less than one-half of one per cent nor more than three per cent of vertical reinforcement secured against lateral displacement by steel ties placed not farther apart than fifteen diameters of the vertical rods nor more than twelve inches shall not exceed the stresses given in Section two thousand six hundred twelve and two thousand six hundred thirteen Steel ties shall not be less than one-quarter inch in diameter or least dimension At least four vertical bars shall be used in every reinforced column and no bar shall have an area of less than one-half square inch

Section 2622 Structural steel and concrete columns Axial compression in structural steel columns thoroughly encased in concrete having a minimum thickness of four inches and reinforced with not less than one per cent of steel (that is a volume of concrete within hoops) equally divided between vertical reinforcement and hoops or spirals spaced not more than twelve inches apart may be taken at 18,000 pounds per square inch on the net section of the structural steel no allowance being made for the concrete casing The hoops or spirals shall be placed not nearer than one inch from the structural steel or nearer than one and one-half inches from the outer surface of the concrete The ratio of length to least radius of gyration of the structural steel section shall not exceed one hundred twenty When these columns are reinforced in conformity with Section 600 they may be designed as therein provided

Section 2623 Bearing on footings When a base plate or other bearing is of less area than the surface on which it bears the unit stresses may be increased until they are thirty-seven and one-half per cent of the ultimate 28 day strength of the concrete when the plate is not more than one-third the area of the supporting surface

Section 2624 Construction The construction of forms the placing wiring splicing and protection of reinforcement the deposition of concrete the joints protection against drying and freezing shall be done in a workmanlike manner according to the requirements as promulgated by the Chief

No pipes for steam or water shall be placed within any reinforced concrete slab beam girder column or fireproofing

Section 2625 Removal of forms All reinforced concrete shall be carefully inspected to insure its soundness and reliability before the main supports are removed but in no case shall the forms be removed for the usual 200 pound concrete be removed in less time than given in the following schedule

Bottom of slabs spans of 6 feet...... 4 days plus one day extra for each additional foot of span

Bottom of beams and girders of ordinary length	14 days
Beams of span of twenty feet	21 days
Sides of Lintels girders and beams	3 days
Columns	3 days
Thin walls	3 days

Due consideration shall be given to weather conditions loads on floors above and building materials stored thereon which may require all or some of the supports to remain for a longer period of time

When richer mixes or high early strength cements are used the forms may be removed when the concrete has attained a strength equal to the strength of the usual 2000 pound concrete according to the above schedule

Girders of twenty-five feet span or over shall be considered as special cases and shall be subject to the approval of the Chief before removal of the supports

The chief may permit a system of reshores to be used

Section 2626 Exceptions When the mechanical means for the proportioning of the aggregates and the water are not employed in the mixing of the concrete the following shall govern

The amount of water used including the moisture content of the aggregate shall not be more than seven and one-fourth gallons per bag of cement weighing ninety-four pounds In the absence of accurate information the following assumptions may be made

Moisture content of Coarse Aggregate one-eighth gallon per cubic foot

Such concrete shall develop a crushing strength of at least two thousand pounds per square inch at twenty-eight days Test specimens shall be made in the field from the concrete as it is placed in the forms care being taken to obtain a sample representative of the entire batch Written reports of the results of such field tests shall be filed by the inspector with the Bureau in conformity with Section twenty-six hundred eight within forty-eight hours after the completion of tests

Concrete mixed in the proportion of one part of cement to six part of aggregate shall develop a crushing strength of not less than two thousand pounds per square inch in twenty-eight days and the following working stresses shall be used

	Lbs. per sq. in.
Extreme fibre stress on concrete in compression	650
Concrete in direct compression	500
Shearing stress in concrete when diagonal tension is not resisted by steel	40
Shearing stress in concrete when web reinforcement is proportioned to resist two-thirds of the external shear	120
Bond stress between concrete and plain reinforcing bears	80
Bond stress between concrete and deformed bars....	100
Tensile stress in steel reinforcement	18,000

Working stress in columns may be taken at five hundred pounds per square inch on the gross area of the column plus seventy-five hundred pounds per square inch on the longitudinal reinforcement No column shall be longer than fifteen times its least dimension The steel shall not be less than one-half of one per cent nor more than three per cent of the gross area and it shall be sufficiently tied horizontally

When the horizontal ties are continuous circular bands having a volume not less than one per cent of the enclosed concrete spaced not over three inches on centers and the longitudinal bars not less than one per cent nor more than four per cent the stress on the enclosed concrete may be taken at seven hundred fifty pounds per square inch and on the longitudinal steel at fifteen times this amount

Concrete mixed in the proportion of one part of cement to four and one-half parts of aggregate shall develop a crushing strength of not less than twenty-five hundred pounds per square inch at twenty-eight days and the working stress of such concrete may be increased twenty-five per cent over that permitted above

Concrete mixed in the proportion of one part of cement to three parts of aggregate shall develop a crushing strength of not less than three thousand pounds per square inch at twenty-eight days and the working stress of such concrete may be increased fifty per cent over that permitted above

In continuous beams the extreme fibre stress in concrete in compression may be increased fifteen per cent adjacent to the supports

The last paragraph of Section twenty-six hundred twelve may apply in this section

Section 2627 Tests of floor construction Whenever the Chief has doubt as to the quality of materials or workmanship in any building he may require the owner or contractor at his own expense to make such tests as will establish the safety of the construction before occupancy takes place Tests shall be made as called for in Section six hundred twelve

If the portion tested should fail to meet the requirements of this test the Chief may still approve the structure for use and if necessary additional tests may be made on different portions to determine the critical load The detail records of this test and the results of the tests upon the samples of concrete used in the construction shall be taken into consideration by the Chief in determining the working load to be permitted However no substandard construction shall be accepted by the Chief if in his judgment the structure is unsafe for the purpose intended

CHAPTER 27 Fireproofing

Section 2700 Fireproofing A protection for steel of the thickness required in this code of plain or reinforced concrete cinder concrete gypsum solid or hollow masonry or other fireproofing material conforming with the requirements of this code.

Fire protection A protection of the materials acceptable for fireproofing but of thickness not less than one-half those required for fireproofing Cement or gypsum plaster properly held may be considered as fire protection providing that the construction so protected will pass the standard one hour fire test

Fireproofing material A material of the thickness specified in this code for fireproofing providing it is capable of passing the standard four-hour fire test in conformity with requirements as promulgated by the Chief

Section 2701 Minimum thickness of fireproofing The minimum thickness of fireproofing material shall not be less than the following

For structural and reinforcing steel in reinforced concrete construction as required in the chapter on Reinforced Concrete

For the outside faces of exterior steel columns and the webs of girders eight (8) inches of solid or hollow masonry four (4) inches of solid masonry plus two (2) inches of stone or slag concrete or four (4) inches of stone or slag concrete

For interior steel columns and interior facing of exterior steel columns three inches

For trusses beams and girders two inches on flat surfaces one and one-half inches on edges of flanges one inch for lugs or brackets on minor details

For the tops of all steel in floors and roofs one inch if one additional inch of fire proof material is provided in the floor finish

For the protection of structural steel in foundations adjacent to the earth not less than four inches

Steel supporting a roof only and not fireproofed or fire protected on the inside may be used in buildings of all classes except for buildings of the Highly Dangerous and Hazardous Commercial Occupancy provided that such steel is at least fourteen (14) feet above the finished surface of the top floor

The fireproofing of steel supporting masonry shall completely envelop each member and be in intimate contact with all parts of the member and the fireproofing of any member supporting another member or members of the skeleton frame shall be at least equal to that of the member or members supported

Section 2702 Cinders Cinders shall be only from high-pressure boilers and composed of hard well-burned vitreous clinker reasonably free from sulphides fine ashes and foreign matter

Cinder concrete shall be mixed in the proportions of one part Portland cement two parts fine aggregate and five parts of crushed cinders It shall develop a unit stress in crushing of not less than eight hundred (800) pounds per square inch in 28 days

Gypsum used for fireproofing of structural steel and in the construction of roofs and ceilings of all occupancies and of floors in buildings of human occupancies shall be of calcined natural gypsum or equal

Gypsum when used neat shall develop when the resulting slab has been dried to constant weight an ultimate compressive strength of not less than twelve hundred (1200) pounds per square inch

Gypsum containing intimately mixed not more than 15 per cent by weight of wood chips excelsior or vegetable fibre shall develop when the resulting slab has been dried to constant weight an ultimate compressive strength of not less than five hundred (500) pounds per square inch

All reinforcement less than one-quarter inch in diameter for all Gypsum construction shall be galvanized

Section 2703 Thickness of span of slabs The maximum span between the flanges of steel beams supporting all but stone or slag concrete shall be eight feet

The following shall be the maximum distances between the flanges of steel beams as determined by slab thickness

	Roofs	Floors
2 inches thick	2′-0″	None
2¼ inches thick	2′-6″	2′-6″
3 inches thick	5′-0″	None
3½ inches thick	7′-0″	None
4 inches thick	8′-0″	7′-0″
4½ inches thick	None	8′-0″

Nothing in this section shall prevent the use of ribbed floor slabs or composite slabs no slabs on ribbed or reinforced fabric with a suspended fireproofing for building of the First class or a suspended fire protection for buildings of the Intermediate class Approved self centering may be considered as furnishing section to take tension in spans up to 2 feet 6 inches

Section 2704 Brick arches When brick is used as floor filling it shall consist of segmental arches having a thickness of not less than four inches Such arches shall be built of good hard common or hollow brick laid to a line and solidly bonded Each longitudinal line of brick shall break joints with the adjoining lines The arches shall spring from suitable skewbacks and shall be properly keyed The rise shall not be less than one inch for each foot of span

Clay tile arches When clay tile is used as floor filling it shall consist of hollow blocks either hard burned or semi-porous of uniform density and hardness The thickness of shells and webs of each block shall be not less than five-eighths of an inch Interior vertical and horizontal webs of arch blocks shall not be spaced more than four inches apart The skewbacks shall be of such form and section as to accurately fit the beams and properly receive the thrust of the arches The arch blocks shall be laid in cement mortar and be properly keyed

Segmental arches These blocks shall be not less than six inches in depth with at least two cellular spaces in such depth The rise shall be not less than one inch for each foot of span

Flat arches The depth of these blocks unless reinforced with steel shall be not less than one inch for each foot of span between the steel beams exclusive of the portion of the block projecting below the underside of the beams

Strength of clay tile arches Clay Tile filling shall be so designed that it will safely sustain the superimposed loads by increasing so far as may be necessary the depth and the thickness of shell and webs of the blocks For such filling reinforced by wire fabric steel rods or other steel shapes thoroughly embedded cement mortar and bonded to the tile the strength of the construction may be determined by accepted engineering formulae For the purpose of this section the working stresses in pounds per square inch shall be taken at 500 for the tile in compression 18,000 for steel in tension and 100 for bond between steel and mortar and between the tile and mortar

The stiffness of the flanges of the steel beams shall not be depended on to resist the arch action of the filling unless steel tie rods are placed to reinforce the beams

Segmental arches shall be leveled up with cinder concrete or other acceptable filling

Section 2705 Cinder concrete Cinder concrete may be used structurally as fireproofing for floors and roofs between steel beams and for interior non-bearing walls or partitions

When reinforcement is required it shall consist of steel rods or other suitable shapes or steel fabric The tensional reinforcement in any case shall be not less than twelve hundredths per centum in the case of cold drawn steel fabric nor less than twenty-five hundredths per centum in the case of other forms the percentage being based on the sectional area of slab above the center of the reinforcement The center of the reinforcement shall be at least one inch above the bottom of the slab but in no case shall any part of the reinforcement come within five-eighths of an inch from the bottom of the slab

Segmental Forms When the concrete floor filling is used in the form of segmental arches the thickness shall be at least four inches at the crown Such arches shall have a rise of not less than one inch for each foot of span

Flat Construction When the concrete floor filling is in the form of slabs the thickness shall be not less than the thickness called for in Section 2703

Flat concrete arches When a floor or roof slab of stone or cinder concrete is cast monolithic with the fireproofing of the supporting steel beams and the reinforcement consists of cold drawn steel bars or fabric of a ratio of not more than .0035 the area of the reinforcement may be determined by assuming the effective depth of 7/8 for stone concrete and 3/4 for cinder concrete of the depth from the top of the slab to the center of gravity of the steel at the center of the slab and a bending moment coefficient of 1/8 for non-continuous slabs of 1/12 when the steel is hooked over the top flanges of the supporting beams and of 1/20 when continuous over the top flange of the supporting beams The unit stress in the steel as described above may be assumed at 20,000 pounds per square inch When the steel bars or other tension reinforcement are as described in Section 2705 the unit stresses therein described shall be used The area of steel in any case parallel to the steel beams shall be not less than 10 per cent of that across the beams The slab must conform in all other respects to the design requirements of other parts of the code

In determining the safe carrying capacities of concrete floor filling segmental in form the compressive stress in pounds per square inch in the concrete shall not exceed 300 for cinder concrete or 500 for stone concrete

Nothing in this chapter shall prevent the determination of the safe carrying capacity of any form of concrete floor filling as fireproofing under the provisions of this chapter by the usual methods of calculation provided the stresses used in pounds per square inch shall not exceed 300 for cinder concrete in compression 18,000 for steel in tension and 50 for bond between cinder concrete and steel with a ratio of the moduli of steel to cinder concrete equal to 30 or in the case of stone concrete the values fixed by chapter on Reinforced concrete

When all steel members of a skeleton frame are encased in concrete as defined by the requirements of the chapter on Reinforced concrete allowances may be made for the additional strength resulting in conformity with the principles defined in this code and provided further that the reinforcement is such as to insure united action between the two materials

Section 2706 Pre-cast gypsum Precast reinforced slabs of tile of gypsum having a wood floor or cement finish on top shall conform with the general requirements for gypsum specified in Section 2702

The steel reinforcement provided to take the tensile stresses shall be anchored within the gypsum by looping or shall be embedded within the gypsum in such manner and position that it will resist all tensile stresses and will assist in the resistance to shear so that the stresses in the combination can be ascertained verified by computation and verified by tests Continuity shall not be allowed in the design of these slabs unless the connections of the steel reinforcement are rigid as defined in Section 537

The steel reinforcement shall be shown either by indentation at the proper points exposure of the steel at the ends or by stamping the slab or tile with the words "this side up"

Precast reinforced gypsum units shall be so proportioned that the maximum stresses in pounds per square inch shall not exceed the following

Tensile stress in steel	18,000
Compression in extreme fibre of gypsum composition	110
Shear in gypsum	20
Bearing of neat gypsum or looped reinforcement anchor plates or cross welded wires	225
Similar bearing for gypsum composition	100
Modulus of Elasticity of gypsum	1,000,000
Modulus of Elasticity of gypsum	200

Section 2707 Gypsum susupension systems Gypsum suspension systems poured-in-place shall conform with the general requirements for gypsum specified in Section 2702 and shall be designed to safely carry the total loads in such manner that the stress in the suspension wires or cables shall be determined by standard formula

In this type of construction the gypsum must not be calculated to resist any of the direct stresses

The cables consisting of at least two (2) strands shall be of cold drawn steel of at least 80,000 pounds per square inch ultimate strength and in which the allowable working stress shall not exceed 20,000 pounds per square inch Cables shall be held uniformly to the required deflection and must be kept firmly tied to the form work until the gypsum has become set All cables shall be completely encased in the gypsum composition and the ends shall be securely anchored to the supporting construction independently of the gypsum or to anchorage supports which shall be properly braced to resist the tension without distortion of the structural steel

Nothing in this Code shall be construed to prohibit the issue of a permit for the construction of suspension systems of precast gypsum which conform in design construction and test to the requirements of this Code

Section 2708 Gypsum fireproofing Fireproofing two inches thick of reinforced calcined gypsum (containing no sand and not more than fifteen per cent of wood chips excelsior or vegetable fibre may be used under the flanges of beams in fireproof buildings provided that there is not less than one inch of gypsum under the reinforcement It shall be supported structurally from the floor in such manner that the hangars shall be protected from below by not less than one inch of gypsum

Section 2709 Filling of Grillages Grillages shall be filled solid between the beams with stone concrete Where wood sleepers are used the spaces between shall be filled solid or fire stops provided not less than twelve inches nor more than ten feet apart of cinder concrete fill

Section 2710 Miscellaneous floor and roof systems Nothing in this code shall prevent the Chief from approving for use as secondary systems in floors and roofs metal joists manufactured from previously rolled steel

Joists made of strip steel bent and/or welded to form a beam section shall be designed in conformity with standard design methods for plate girders

Joists made from rolled steel sections expanded to form a truss and joists made of bars rolled sections or a combination welded to form a truss shall be a true truss and designed in conformity with standard design methods for trusses

These joists shall not be used in any building wherein the height is more than two and one-half times the width The provision shall not apply to rolled steel sections nor to assembled joists wherein the connections between the separate parts are all of the rigid type as prescribed in Section 537

Bridging shall be placed at the time the joists are installed Such bridging shall be of sufficient strength to provide lateral support The minimum concentrated load required under Section 706 shall apply to all occupancies and each joist shall be designed to sustain the same except that each joist may be designed for half this amount provided the bridging is designed to transmit the remainder to the joist or joists adjacent

Joists shall be held at their bearings by some means other than the load they are intended to carry

Rolled steel beams permitted in other parts of this code shall conform to the above requirements

Section 2711 Nothing in this code shall be construed to prohibit the use of pre-cast or porous slabs made of Portland or other hydraulic cement of thickness less than called for elsewhere in this code provided that the stresses conform to those required in this chapter on Reinforced concrete and that the slabs are in conformity with requirements promulgated by the Chief

Section 2712 No pipe for steam or water shall be placed within the fireproofing of any structural member or floor system

CHAPTER 28 Chimneys Flues Fireplaces and Incinerators

Section 2800 The provisions herein shall apply to all ordinary chimneys flues and vents within a building or which form a part of a building and not to chimneys flues stacks or vents for high pressure boilers furnaces used in the manufacturing ranges in restaurants hotels etc or for other heating or cooking appliances where high temperatures occur all of which shall be designed constructed and maintained in accordance with best engineering and fire prevention practice acceptable to the Chief and the Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Fire

Section 2801 Chimney construction The walls of all chimneys shall be built of solid masonry or of radial brick but this shall not preclude the use of a metal smokestack when located inside of a shaft properly enclosed with noncombustible materials having an air space between the walls and stack on all sides Flues in party walls shall not extend closer than four inches from the center of the walls The walls of all unlined chimneys shall be built of good sound hard-burned brick or other suitable hard brick The walls of lined chimneys shall be not less than four (4) inches thick All concrete chimneys cast in place shall be suitably reinforced vertically and horizontally The walls of lined concrete chimneys shall be not less than four (4) inches thick and of lined solid concrete block chimneys not less than eight (8) inches thick Chimney walls of rubble stone shall be at least ten (10) inches thick properly bonded and shall have flue linings

Section 2802 Flue linings All flue linings shall be of fire clay or other suitable refractory clays either natural or compounded adapted to withstand reasonably high temperatures and flue gases Flue linings shall be of standard commercial thickness but not less than five-eighth inch They shall be carefully bedded one upon another in mortar and with all joints left smooth on the inside Linings shall start from a point not less than egiht (8) inches below the center line of smokepipe intakes or in the case of fireplaces from the apex of the smoke chamber and shall be continuous to the required height of the chimney The masonry walls around flues shall not be built hollow and the lining dropped inside but shall be laid up together with the lining with mortar around each successive length of lining as it is set All joints and spaces between the masonry and lining shall be thoroughly slushed full as each course of masonry is laid No flue lining already set in place shall be cut away or broken to receive a smokepipe intake

Section 2803 Chimneys without lining Lining may be omitted in brick chimneys provided the walls of the chimneys be not less than eight (8) inches thick and the inner course be of hard-burned brick or other suitable hard brick and that all joints on the flue side be struck smooth No mortar lining or parging shall be permitted Linings may likewise be omitted in reinforced concrete chimneys provided the walls of such chimneys be not less than six (6) inches thick

Section 2804 Mortar for chimneys All mortar used in the construction of independent chimneys except as otherwise provided herein shall be cement or cement-lime mortar When a masonry wall of a building forms part of a chimney with flue linings the mortar for chimney walls may be the same as that employed in the building wall Mortar used between the joints of flue linings and in the portions of a chimney above a roof or otherwise wholly exposed to the weather shall be cement mortar

Section 2805 Foundations of chimneys Chimneys or breasts shall be built upon solid masonry foundations properly proportioned or may start from floors or walls in buildings of the First class The footing for an exterior chimney shall start below the frost line but not less than three (3) feet below the finished grade Chimneys shall not rest upon or be carried by wooden floor beams or brackets nor be hung or supported by metal stirrups from wood or metal construction

Section 2806 Corbeling of chimneys The total offset overhang or corbel of an independent chimney in other than First class construction shall not exceed three-eighths the width of the chimney in the direction of the offset Corbeled chimneys shall not be supported by hollow walls or walls of hollow units and corbeling shall not project more than one inch per course and not more than twelve (12) inches in any case

Section 2807 Chimneys through and above roofs No increase of chimney wall thickness nor any projecting masonry or setback shall be permitted within a distance of six (6) inches above or below rafters or roof joists Chimneys shall be built at least three (3) feet above flat roofs and not less than two (2) feet above the ridge of gable and hip roofs or the high point of mansards

Section 2808 Fireplaces Fireplace walls shall be not less than eight (8) inches thick and if built of stone or hollow units not less than twelve (12) inches thick The faces of all such minimum thickness walls exposed to fire shall be lined with firebrick hard-burned brick or other suitable hard brick soapstone cast iron or other suitable fire resistive material When lined with four (4) inches of firebrick or hard-burned brick such lining may be included in the required minimum thickness All fireplaces and all chimney breasts with openings shall have trimmer arches or other approved fire-resistive construction supporting hearths The arches and hearths shall be not less than twelve (12) inches wide measured from the face of the chimney breast and not less than twelve (12) inches wider than the opening on either side The arches shall be of brick stone or hollow tile not less than four (4) inches thick A flat slab or slate or similar stone or a reinforced concrete slab may be used to carry the hearth instead of an arch if it be properly supported and a suitable fill be provided between it and the hearth Hearths shall be of brick stone tile or other incombustible material Wood centering under a trimmer arch shall be removed after the masonry has thoroughly set No heater burning solid liquid or gaseous fuel shall be placed in a fireplace which does not conform to the foregoing requirements

Section 2809 Flues Flues shall be built as nearly vertical as possible but in no case at an angle greater than forty-five (45) degrees from the vertical other than in First class construction Where flues change direction the abutting linings at the angle joint shall be built to fit closely Not more than two lined flues shall be permitted in the same flue space and the joints of any such adjoining flue linings shall be staggered at least seven (7) inches When there are more than two flues in a chimney at least each third flue shall be separated from the others by a smoke-tight withe or division wall of masonry or concrete not less than four (4) inches thick and bonded into the chimney walls Each flue intended for a heating furnace or boiler connection or for a fireplace shall be separated from other flues by such a withe When any single flue has an effective area exceeding two hundred (200) square inches the walls shall be not less than eight (8) inches thick and shall have flue lining as previously specified but when flues become so large as to render it impracticable to obtain fire clay lining such flues shall be lined with fire brick for a distance of at least twenty-five (25) feet from the point of intake The effective area of any flue shall be considered as the full area if a round flue and as the largest circle or oval which could be inscribed in a square or oblong flue Ordinary and low pressure heating devices burning solid fuels shall have a minimum effective flue area not less than the following

Small special stoves and heaters	28 square inches
Stoves ranges and room heaters	40 square inches
Fireplaces (at least 1/12 the fireplace opening)	50 square inches
Warm air furnaces steam and hot water boilers in buildings over two stories in height	70 square inches

The construction and size of flues to be used for oil and gas fired furnaces boilers and automatic water heaters shall be the same as required for corresponding appliances burning solid fuel except that in the case of a vent for a domestic water heater the same may be connected into a similar flue from a heating apparatus when in accordance with rules promulgated by the Chief Vent flues for non-automatic water heaters stoves ranges and other domestic gas appliances having relatively small gas consumption (excepting gas plates and portable gas heating appliances) shall have a flue area of not less than ten (10) square inches Such flues unless enclosed in solid masonry walls shall be of incombustible material not less than three-fourths of an inch thick with air tight joints and shall vent to the outside air

Section 2810 Thimbles and intakes A thimble or flueing of fire clay metal or masonry shall be suitable installed on the side of any chimney where smokepipe enters or is intended to enter a flue The top of such intakes shall be set not less than eighteen (18) inches below any ceiling of sheet metal wood lath and plaster or exposed wooden beams No thimble shall enter a chimney within six (6) inches of any wood-work When a smokepipe enters a chimney breast through a studded-off combustible partition the thimble of such smokepipe shall be kept six (6) inches clear of all woodwork and if plastered shall be surrounded by metal lath

Section 2811 Incinerators A flue serving a non-fuel fired incinerator combustion chamber having grate-area of nine (9) square feet or less shall have enclosing walls of hard-burned brick or other suitable hard brick four (4) inches thick and shall be lined with standard fire-clay flue lining or shall be constructed to conform to the following requirements A flue serving a no-fuel fired incinerator combustion chamber having a grate-area exceeding nine (9) square feet shall be enclosed by hard-burned brick or other suitable hard brick four (4) inches thick with a lining of four (4) inches of fire brick for a distance of not less than thirty (30) feet above the roof of the combustion chamber beyond this point flue enclosing walls shall consist of hard-burned brick or other suitable hard brick not less than eight (8) inches thick Flues or stacks for fuel fired incinerators shall be lined with four (4) inches of fire brick for a distance of forty (40) feet above incinerator breeching Flues or stacks of rubbish and waste material incinerators shall be enclosed by eight (8) inches of hard-burned brick or other suitable hard brick and a lining of four (4) inches of fire brick laid in fire clay Such fire brick linings shall extend to the top of the flue or stack An incinerator of this type or of the fuel fired type may connect to a boiler or similar stack if the area of the stack is at least four times the area of the incinerator breeching All flues or stacks shall terminate in a substantially constructed spark arrester When an incinerator flue is used as a garbage depositing chute it shall have approved doors in each opening and access to such flue shall not be within the building The vestibules of firetowers may be adapted to this purpose When such chutes occur in First class buildings the access doors may be within the building The area and heights of incinerator flues and the construction of enclosing walls of combustion chambers which must be of masonry shall be in accordance with rules promulgated by the Chief

Section 2812 Testing and tightness of flues If after completion there be any doubt as to the tightness or safety of any flues to which large ranges heating furnaces boilers automatic gas water heaters fireplaces or incinerators are to be connected they shall be subjected to a smoke test but the test shall not be made until the mortar has thoroughly seasoned The test shall be made by the masonry contractor in the presence of the building inspector or other person designated by the Chief and any flue proved to be leaky shall be abated as a nuisance and rebuilt tight All chimneys in any building already erected which shall be dangerous in any manner whatever shall be repaired and made safe or taken down

Section 2812 Woodwork around chimneys and fireplaces All such woodwork shall be placed in conformity with the requirements governing same in Chapter 24 of this code

CHAPTER 29—Heating and Cooking Apparatus Pipes and Appliances

Section 2900 No boiler to be used for steam or motive power no furnace and no hotel or restaurant type of range oven or similar apparatus where high temperatures occur shall be placed on any floor above the cellar unless the same is set on non-combustible beams and arches or an incombustible platform extending not less than fifteen (15) inches beyond the base in all directions and in no case without a permit from the Bureau No permanent or stationary heating apparatus of any kind whatever shall be introduced in any building now erected without a permit from the Bureau

Section 2901 Location of heating apparatus All boilers furnaces or other similar heating apparatus shall be so located as to provide a distance of not less than three (3) feet from any unprotected woodwork or wood lath and plaster Where combustible ceilings walls or partitions occur closer than three feet to such heating apparatus such ceilings walls or partitions shal be properly protected with incombustible material to an extent not less than twelve (12) inches beyond the outline of such apparatus Where the distance is less than one foot all such heating apparatus shall be shielded as herein provided for stoves and ranges using solid fuel The tops of all boilers or furnaces set in brick shall be covered with brick slate or metal supported by metal bars and so constructed as to be perfectly tight said covering to be in addition to and at least six (6) inches from the ordinary covering to the hot air chamber

Section 2902 Location of stoves and ranges (Solid fuel) Stoves an dranges using solid fuel and having an enclosed base shall be set upon solid masonry foundations or hollow or porous masonry arches or hearths not less than fur (4) inches thick and extending not less than six (6 inches beyond the base on all sides and twelve (12) inches on the front If such hearths are built upon wooden floors the latter shall first be covered with sheet metal or ⅛-inch asbestos board Such stoves and ranges supported by rigid legs and which have at least a four inch clearance under ash pans may be set upon wood floors when such floors are protected by heavy sheet metal extending not less than twelve (12) inches beyond the front and not less than six (6) inches beyond the sides and back of the same Where any such stoves or ranges are set less than eighteen (18) inches from any wood lath and plaster or less than twelve (12) inches from any incombustible lath and plaster the studdng shall be cut away and framed to a height of not less than three (3 feet above the top and one foot from the side of the stove or range and the space from floor to header filled in with brick an dother incombustible material laid in cement mortar or the same shall be protected in such manner as may be set forth in regulations promulgated by the Chief

Section 2903 Furnaces stoves and ranges (Liquid fuels) All heating and cooking apparatus using liquid fuel shall be located as provided for apparatus using solid fuel and together with its piping and fuel storage shall be otherwise installed and maintained in accordance with regulations promulgated by the Chief and the Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Fire

Section 2904 Smokepipes All smokepipes shall enter chimneys on a vertical face connecting to the flue through a thimble or intake in the chimney wall as elsewhere provided Smokepipes shall be located not less than eighteen (18) inches from any unprotected woodwork or any wood lath and plaster unless protected as hereinafter provided when the minimum clearance shall be six (6) inches Such protection shall consist of a sheet metal shield or its equivalent set out at least one inch from the surface to be protected extending the full length of the stovepipe and not less than twelve (12) inches beyond its edges Smokepipes shall not pass through any floor nor through a combustible roof A smokepipe shall not pass through a combustible partition or wall construction unless a section of the construction is removed and the smokepipe is insulated from the construction by a galvanized iron double-walled ventilated thimble having a diameter of not less than twelve (12) inches larger than the pipe or by not less than four inches of incombustible construction Smokepipes shall not be permitted in closets nor in concealed air spaces and shall not be permitted to connect with the chimney in an attic All smokepipes shall be firmly connected at the inlet and outlet and shall be securely anchored in position throughout

Section 2905 Warm-air pipes and registers Horizontal warm-air furnace pipes shall be placed not less than six (6) inches below wooden floor joists or wood lath and plaster ceilings if the floor joists or ceiling are protected by metal lath and plaster or the pipe is covered with not less than one-half inch of corrugated asbestos or equal insulation the distance from the woodwork or wood lath and plaster may be reduced to not less than three (3) inches Cold-air ducts for warm-air furnaces shall be made of incombustible material for a distance of at least three (3) feet from the furnace Warm-air ducts or pipes passing through combustible partitions or floor shall be protected by ventilated thimbles providing for not less than three (3) inches of air space Warm-air ducts or pipes contained within combustible partition or ceiling construction shall be doubled metal with not less than ⅜-inch space between or shall be single metal ducts or pipes securely covered with asbestos or equal insulation No such pipe or covering shall be closer than one inch to any wood studding joist or floor unless the same be protected by metal or asbestos and metal lath or wire lath shall be used to cover that portion of the partitions or ceilings in which the warm-air ducts or pipes are located Warm-air registers in floors or partitions shall be set in metal slate or other incombustible frames which will provide not less than three inch air space between the register opening and any combustible construction to which the frame is attached The register boxes shall be of sheet metal and be kept not less than one inch from any unprotected woodwork

Section 2906 Openings through floors and partitions Pipe holes or other small openings through floors or partitions shall be protected by continuous metal sleeves properly flanged at each end

Section 2907 Installation of wall heaters When a gas or electric heater is installed in a wood stud wall or partition all wooden surfaces adjacent to the heater and the space between the studs behind above and below the heater shall be protected in accordance with standard practice as promulgated by the Chief

PART IV CLASSIFICATION

CHAPTER 30 Classification of Buildings Based on Types of Construction

Section 3000 All buildings shall be classified according to types of construction occupancies floor areas heights and districts where located in conformity with this Part of the code

Section 3001 All buildings shall be divided into the following classes of construction and First Class Type A shall be deemed to be the most fire-resistive type of construction and Fourth Class Type B the least fire-resistive type of construction

The terms "fireproofed' 'and "fire-protected" shall be understood to have the specific meanings given to them in chapter twenty-seven

First Class Type A)
First Class Type B) Fireproofed construction
First Class Type C)
Intermediate Class Fireprotected construction
Second Class Type A)
Second Class Type B) Slow-burning construction
Third Class Ordinary construction
Fourth Class Type A) Metal Frame construction Fourth Class Type B) Wood Frame construction

CHAPTER 31 Walls and Partitions

Section 3100 Exterior and inner court walls Exterior or inner court walls for all classes of construction except as specifically permitted elsewhere shall be divided in to the following

Wall Bearing Type in which the wall carries loads other than its own weight This type of wall shall be of masonry or reinforced concrete as permitted in the Chapter on Masonry It may be used in all classes of construction provided that proper means are taken to give it lateral support and provided that wind and other horizontal forces are resisted by the floors columns or other structural parts of the building

Self Supporting Type in which the wall carries its own weight but no other load This type of wall shall conform to the requirements for and be used as permitted in the Chapter on Masonry

Spandrel Type in which the wall is supported at each floor and carries no load other than its own weight This type of wall may be either solid masonry or reinforced concrete hollow masonry or a combination of any of these It may be used in all classes of construction provided that it is carried on and braced laterally by fireproofed construction

Section 3101 Partitions In buildings of the First and Intermediate classes of construction partitions shall be of incombustible materials as prescribed in Chapter 23 and in buildings of Second class construction partitions may be of two or more layers of plank of a total thickness of not less than three inches spiked together so that the joists are not parallel except as elsewhere required

Section 3102 Office partitions In buildings or sections thereof used for office puropses where fireproofed partitions are called for wood rails or partitions may be ussd provided that they do not extend to within eighteen inches of the ceiling or wood office partitions may be used up to the ceiling provided that not less than one third of their area is of glass In all cases where wood is used the building or section thereof shall be occupied by one tenant only

Section 3103 Floor openings The enclosure of all elevators stairs and fire towers shall be as called for in chapter forty

All other openings in floors not designed for the passage of people through them but used for pipe ducts dumb waiters etc shall be enclosed in fireproofed shafts

CHAPTER 32 First Class Buildings Fireproofed Construction

Section 3200 "First Class Type A" defined First Class Type A Buildings shall be those having frames of reinforced concrete or structural steel wherein the fireproofing of the skeleton frame and the floor systems is in intimate contact with all parts of the steel and the floor systems are rigidly connected to the skeleton frame

Section 3201 "First Class Type B" defined First Class Type A Buildings shall be those having frames of reinforced concerte or structural steel wherein the fireproofing of the skeleton frame is in intimate contact with all parts of the steel and the floor systems are of steel rigidly connected to the skeleton frame and fireproofed on the top and bottom flanges but need not be in contact

Section 3202 "First Class Type C" defined First Class Type C Buildings shall be those having frames of reinforced concrete or structural steel wherein the fireproofing of the skeleton frame entirely envelops each member but need not be in intimate contact with the steel and the floor systems are of steel which need not be rigidly connected to the skeleton frame and which is fireproofed on the top and bottom flanges but need not be in contact

CHAPTER 33—Intermediate Class Buildings Fire-protected Construction

Section 3300 "Intermediate Class" defined Intermediate Class Buildings shall be constructed in accordance with the requirements or First Class Type C buildings as specified in Section 3202 except that the structural frames and floor systems may be fire-protected instead of fire-proofed and each individual member of the skeleton frame need not be entirely enveloped

CHAPTER 34—Second Class Buildings—Slow-burning Construction

Section 3400 "Second Class Type A" defined Second Class Type A Guildings shall have floors and roofs of heavy timber of the following minimum sizes columns or posts 8 inches beams and girders 6 inches floor planking 3 inches roof planking 2 inches

Section 3401 "Second Class Type B" defined Second Class Type B Buildings shall conform to the requirements of Second Class Type A buildings except that colunms beams and girders may be fireprotected steel or of reinforced concrete

CHAPTER 35 Third Class Buildings Ordinary Construction

Section 3500 "Third Class Buildings" defined Third Class Buildings shall have floors and roofs of timber in which the floor joists shall not be less than three inches thick in occupancies for which the live load prescribed in Chapter seven exceed one hundred pounds per square foot and in no case less than two inches thick and in all cases the roof rafters shall not be less than two inches thick and the floor and roof planking not less than one inch thick Structural steel may be used without fire-proofing or fire-protection unless such steel supports bearing walls or fire partitions

Section 3501 Nothing in this Code shall be construed to prohibit the Bureau from issuing permits for buildings of third class construction having incombustible walls other than masonry if the walls are fireprotected where buildings of the fourth class are permitted

CHAPTER 36 Fourth Class Buildings Metal Frame and Wood Frame Construction

Section 3600 "Fourth Class Type A" defined Fourth Class Type A buildings shall be those having frames of unprotected structural steel wherein the walls are of sheet meeal or other incombustible materials supported on steel masonry or concrete

Section 3601 "Fourth Class Type B" defined Fourth Class Type B Buildings may be of timber the studding joists or rafters of which are not less than 2 inches thick and the sheathing and siding not less than one inch thick or the studding may be covered with stucco not less than one inch thick reinforced with metal furred out three-eighths of an inch and shall have foundations of masonry or concrete

Section 3602 Councils of cities of the First Class may by general ordinance define the lmits within which frame buildings may be erected regulate the erection of frame buildings and permit and regulate the erection of frame sheds on wharves or elevators for the storage of grain coal and lumber

CHAPTER 37 Classification of Buildings Based on Occupancy

Section 3700 For the purposes of this code all buildings shall be divided into the following groups In the event that a building should not fall within one of these groups its grouping shall be determined by the Chief

Section 3701 Human occupancy

Special hazards

A Theatres and motion picture parlors

Ordinary hazards

B Dance Halls Amusement Park Structures Convention Halls Stadiums Exhibition Halls Restaurants School Churches any room of 2500 sq ft or over in a school or church possible to be used for dancing any room with fixed seats of 2500 sq ft in a school or church rooms for athletic activities armories gymnasiums libraries railroad passenger stations museums

Institutional

C Hospitals Sanitariums Orphanages Asylums for the feeble-minded Nurseries Old Folk's Homes accommodating six or more Jails and Prisons Reformatories and Houses of Correction Monasteries and Convents accommodating ten or more Municipal Fire and Police Stations

Residential

D Hotels Apartment Houses Lodging Houses Dormitories Fraternity Houses and Clubs

E Dwellings

Office Buildings etc

F Office Buildings Public Baths and Swimming Pools

Section 3702 Commercial occupancy

Highly hazardous

Hazardous

N Buildings for the storage of highly inflammable or explosive materials etc paint or oil storage buildings dry cleaning establishments paint shops planing mills box factories wood-working shops mattress factories filling stations gas stations

Semi-hazardous

P Private Garage

Ordinary usage

Q Wholesale or Retail Stores or Salesrooms Factories or Shops not using highly combustible or inflammable materials etc Buildings or Shops for the storage or sale of ordinary combustible goods Printing Plants Creameries and Cold storage Plants

Non-hazardous

R Power Plants Ice Plants Pumping Plants Factories or Shops for Incombustible or Non-explosive materials etc Buildings for the storage of incombustible or non-explosive materials etc

Accessories and appurtenances

S Signs Water Tanks and Towers Sheds Fences etc

Section 3703 Mixed occupancy When a building is used for two or more occupancies which are not of the same group it shall conform in all respects to the most stringent requirements of any of the groups to which the occupancies pertain unless the building is divided into sections containing the different occupancies by horizontal and vertical fire divisions

Section 3704 Exception No building of a Highly Hazardous Commercial occupancy (Group M) shall be used for any other purpose than for accessories and appurtenances (Group S) in connection only with its own use

Section 3705 Exits When a building is used by occupancies coming under different groups firetowers and stairs may be used in common provided that each occupancy has its own separate entrance to each firetower or stairs independent of the other occupancy or occupancies A firetower required by one occupancy may be used as a stairs by an occupancy not requiring a firetower

Section 3706 Change of occupancy When the use or the character of the occupancy of any building is changed from one group to another group such building if not conforming to the requirements for the proposed use or occupancy shall be remodeled to comply with the requirements of this code for the proposed use or occupancy

Section 3707 Group R buildings classified under Group R with structural steel columns and floor and roof systems not fireproofed or fireprotected from the inside shall be considered First Class Buildings Steel roof decking properly insulated and weatherproofed may be used in group R buildings or in one story buildings of commercial occupancy except groups M and N without fireproofing or fireprotection on the outside in conformity otherwise with this Section provided the buildng is separated on all sides from other structures by not less than 25 feet

Section 3708 Group S construction Accessories and Appurtenances of steel not fireproofed or fire-protected in connection with the exterior of a building may be considered as not lowering the class of the building

CHAPTER 38 Requirements based on Floor Area

Section 3800 Should the area of any floor of a building exceed in any case the maximum areas hereinafter given the said floor shall be subdivided by fire walls or fire division walls

Maximum Undivided Floor Areas

Commedcial and Industrial Occupancies	One Street Frontage		Two Street Frontage		Three Street Frontage
	Sprinkled	Unsprinkled	Sprinkled	Unsprinkled	Sprinkled	Unsprinkled
First Class A..	Unlimited	25,000	Unlimited	30,000	Unlimited	Unlimited
First Class B ..	27,500	20,000	30,000	25,000	Unlimited	30,000
First Class C ..	25,000	17,500	27,500	22,500	30,000	25,000
Inter. Class	22,500	15,000	25,000	20,000	27,500	22,500
Second Class ..	20.000	10,000	22,500	15,000	25,000	17,500
Third Class ...	10,000	5,000	15,000	7,500	20,000	10,000

Section 3801 A paved driveway 25 feet wide may be classed as a street For human occupancics the above areas may be increased by 20 per cent

Section 3802 No building of a highly hazardous commercial occupancy Group M as specified in Section 3702 shall have an undivided floor area greater than one-half of those hereinbefore given and in any case the said building shall be sprinkled and the undivided floor area shall not exceed twenty-five thousand square feet

Section 3803 This chapter shall not apply to private dwellings nor to one story buildings used only for the storage of or the working in non-combustible materials

Section 3804 No building used as a garage or automobile service station or for any similar purposes which is not of first class construction shall be erected to a greater height than two stories nor have an undivided floor area exceeding five thousand square feet provided that one-story buildings of second class construction used for the purpose set forth in this section may have an undivided floor area of ten thousand square feet

Section 3805 Third Class Buildings with floor and roof plank of 1¾ inches or more may have a maximum floor area of 7,500 square feet and Second Class Buildings one story high sprinkled may have a maximum floor area of 50,000 sq. ft.

Section 3806 All one story buildings not over five thousand square feet in area of commercial occupancy with non-combustible contents may be of Fourth Class Type A construction

CHAPTER 39 Requirements based on Height

Section 3900 All buildings of commercial occupancy over 85 feet high wherein the height is more than two and one-half times the width shall be of First Class Type A construction

Section 3901 All buildings of human occupancy over 85 feet high wherein the height is more than two and one-half times the width and all unsprinkled buildings of commercial occupancy over 85 feet high shall be of a grade not lower than First Class Type B construction

Section 3902 All buildings other than defined in Section 3900 and 3901 over 85 feet in height shall be of a grade not lower than First Class Type C construction provided that for commercial occupancies the floor systems are rigily connected

Section 3903 All buildings not more than eight stories and not over 85 feet in height and all buildings of any height used for forcible detention such as jails prisons and asylums and all buildings over two stories in height used as schools hospitals or for similar occupancies shall be of a grade not lower than Intermediate Class construction except as provided in Section 3904

Section 3904 All buildings not more than six stories and not over 75 feet in height shall be of a grade not lower than Second Class construction except as provided in Section 3905

Section 3905 All buildings not more than four stories and not over fifty feet in height shall be of a grade not lower than Third Class construction provided that all ceilings all vertical enclosures all bearing partitions and store enclosures and all divisions between tenants are fireprotected except as provided in Section 3906

Section 3906 All buildings not more than three stories and not over forty feet in height except dwellings shall be of a grade not lower than third class construction provided that the ceilings and other separations of cellars and basements and all store enclosures in buildings containing sleeping quarters shall be fireprotected

Section 3907 All buildings not more than three stories and not over forty feet in height may be of Fourth Class Type B construction within certain districts defined by the Councils of Cities of the First Class provided that all interior fireprotective requirements of Section 3906 are complied with

PART V EGRESS

CHAPTER 40 Means of Egress

Section 4000 Scope The provisions of this part of the Code shall apply to all buildings over two stories in height except Theatres Motion Picture Houses and Dwellings all of which are specified in the separate sections thereon

Section 4001 Stairs All stairs in buildings of the First and Intermediate Classes for human occupancy shall be entirely closed in walls of hard incombustible materials not less than six inches thick except that the main stairs from the first to second floors and first floor mezzanine stories may be unenclosed

All stairs in buildings of the First and Intermediate Classes for Commercial Occupancy any floor area of which above the first floor exceeds 5000 square feet shall be entirely enclosed in walls of hard incombustible materials not less than six inches thick The main stairs from the first to a messanine in the first story may be unenclosed All stairs in buildings of other than First and Intermediate Classes any floor area of which above the first floor is 3500 square feet or over shall be enclosed in not less than nine inches of solid masonry

All stairs in buildings of other than the First and Intermediate classes any floor of which other than the first floor is less than 3500 square feet and exceeds 2000 square feet shall be enclosed in not less than three inches of solid plank or two inches of solid plaster on metal lath or other fireprotected construction supported by incombustible studding

All stairs in buildings of lesser area per floor than provided above in this section but not more than three stories in height may be unenclosed unless used for sleeping purposes

All doors in enclosures of six inches or more shall be of metal or wood doors covered with metal acceptable to the Chief

Windows shall have metal frames and sash All glass shall be wire glass no pane of which shal exceed two hundred and fifty square inches

The stairs in buidings of the First and Intermediate Classes shall be of incombustible construction

No riser shall exceed eight inches and no tread shall be less than nine inches exclusive of any nosing

A metal skylight with wire glass or windows having an area of one fourth that of the shaft shall be provided above the top landing A stair which does not extend down to the ground shall be sealed off at the bottom by fireproof construction

Buildings for Human Occupancy other than the First Class may have stair enclosures of fire protected construction

Section 4002 Elevators The enclosure of elevators shall conform to the requirements for stairs except that they shall be enclosed throughout the entire shaft with incombustible material when more than one elevator is used the entire group may be contained within one enclosure

Section 4003 Shafts and Ducts All other vertical openings shall be enclosed as called for in Part IV on classifications

Section 4004 Fire Towers Tower fire escapes shall be provided in accordance with Section 4013 and shall be separated from the building by and completely enclosed with walls not less than 8 inches in thickness of brick or such other solid fireproof materials as shall be accepted by the Bureau The said walls in buildings other than of the First or Intermediate Classes shall be built solidly from the foundation to and at least thirty-six inches above the roof

The roof of said tower shall be built of hard incombustible materials

The stairs of said tower may be of wood but in all cases there must be provided stone or iron thresholds iron frames or wood frames covered with metal and iron doors or wood doors covered with tin The rise of said stairs shall not be more than eight (8) inches and the tread not less than nine (9) inches exclusive of any nosing

The entrance to said tower shall be by means of an outside balcony or an incombustible vestibule of which one side shall be entirely open and extend from the top of floor to under side of ceiling and the full width of the tower The said open side to face a street or such space as provides for exit of said tower There shall be a brick wall or other wall of hard incombustible material separating the tower from the vestibule The opening into tower from said vestibule shall be not over seven (7) feet in height The floor ceiling and sides of said vestibule to be of hard incombustible material

The rails inclosing the side facing the open space or street shall be not over four (4) feet high and not less than three (3) feet may be open or inclosed

The entrance to the tower from the building shall be through the vestibule

Towers that have not the fireproof vestibule shall have outside balconies the floors of which shall be built of hard incombustible material and be of sufficient strength to carry the imposed loads

The rails around the balconies shall be not over four (4) feet in height nor less than three (3) feet and may be inclosed or open

Not more than one half the fire towers may be stopped at the second floor and metal fire escapes with drop ladders acceptable to the Chief provided from the second floor to the grounds No fire tower shall extend below the street level and in no case to a cellar or basement

If locks are placed on any door of a fire tower they shall be of the type known as panic bolts

Section 4005 Horizontal Exits A horizontal exit shall be considered as a protected opening through a fire wall to another area provided with legal exits or a bridge to another building provided with legal exits When two buildings or two areas of one building are connected by means of horizontal exits then the other exit facilitation called for for each or both may be reduced by one third

Section 4006 Cellars and Basements The exits from a cellar or a basement or other story below shall in no case be less than two

Section 4007 Roofs One half the fire towers and not less than one shall serve the roof of a building unless the roof is occupied in which case it shall count as a floor

Section 4008 Area The word area used in this part of the Code shall be defined as Floor Area in the chapter on Definitions

Section 4009 Office Buildings and Schools Buildings of the First Class or intermediate Classes used for office purpose occupancies above the first floor and school buildings of First Class construction need not require a fire tower Enclosed stairs shall be provided one when the area of any floor above the second is five thousand square feet or less and two for areas greater than five thousand square feet Partitions between corridors and stairs may be metal with glazed windows

Section 4010 Public Assembly For any building or portion therof coming under Group B there shall be provided one fire tower for every seventy-five hundred (7500) square feet of area so used

Section 4011 Ramp Fire Towers Ramp fire towers may be substituted for the stair type of fire towers in buildings under Group C The width of the ramp and its grade shall be acceptable to the Chief

Section 4012 Special Fire Towers The Chief is permitted to approve the use of double fire towers of the scissors type or stairs of greater width than four feet These may be considered as reducing the requirements hereinafter stated in such manner as the Chief shall direct provided the doors balconies and other details are in his opinion sufficient

Section 4013 Fire Tower Requirements All buildings other than as noted above shall have fire towers as required below in addition to the main stairs or other exits

The location of fire towers shall be as required by the Chief

Section 4015 Sprinkler For buildings of Human Occupancy which are sprinkled in areas given in Section may be increased ten percent

Section 4016 Enclosed Passages An enclosed passage with walls similar to the fire tower and with floors and ceilings fireproofed may connect a fire tower to the outside but there shall be no opening into it other than at the fire tower and the street and it shall not be longer than fifty feet

Section 4017 Exit Doors The exit doors from all places of public assembly and from all buildings covered by this part of the Code shall open outwardly

PART VI PLACES OF AMUSEMENT

CHAPTER 41 Theatres and other Places of Amusement

Section 4100 Application of chapter Every building hereafter erected or altered and designed to be used as a public theatre opera house or other building intended for theatrical or operatic purposes or for public entertainment of any kind where stage scenery and apparatus are employed shall be built to comply with the requirements of this chapter but all theatres or places of amusement now existing may be altered providing such alteration does not amount to a virtual reconstruction thereof so as to make it a new building No building which of this act is not in actual use January first one thousand nine hundred and thirty for theatrical or operatic purposes and no building hereafter erected not in conformity with the requirements of this chapter shall be used for theatrical or operatic purposes or for public entertainments of any kind where stage scenery and apparatus are employed until the same shall have been made to conform to the requirements of this chapter

Section 4101 Exceptions None of the provisions of this chapter shall apply to any hall club place of worship or other place not devoted to the business of such public entertainments so as to prohibit the giving of a single or occasional theatrical vaudeville or operatic performance therein if a permit for each such entertainment shall first be obtained from the proper licensing authorities of such cities

Section 4102 Drawings Before proceeding with the erection or aleration of any building to be used for theatrical or operatic purposes the owner or his agent shall submit for approval to the Chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection detailed drawings showing the size of the auditorium balconies galleries foyers lobbies boxes loges courts passages corridors and stairs the size location and number of exits the number width and length of all aisles the number and width of all seats with the distance between rows back to back and their arrangement and complete details of the curtain and its lifting mechanism Such owner or his agent shall also submit to both the Chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection and the Chief of the Bureau of Fire for their approval detailed drawings showing the location of the standpipes and the size and number thereof the number and character of hose outlets the location size and arrangement of piping the location and spacing of sprinklers valves alarms and Fire Department couplings and the character of interior water supply from tank or city mains

Section 4103 Approval No building described in Section 4100 of this chapter shall be opened to the public for theatrical or operatic purposes or for public entertainments of any kind where stage scenery or apparatus are employed until the Bureau of Building Inspection the Bureau of Fire and the Fire Marshal respectively shall have approved the same in writing as conforming to the requirements of this chapter and the mayors of the said cities shall refuse to issue any license for any such building and shall close the same and prevent its opening until a certificate in writing of such approval shall have been given by the Bureau of Building Inspection the Bureau of Fire and the Fire Marshal respectively

Section 4104 Type of construction Every such building hereafter erected shall be of First Class Type A Construction

Means of Egress

Section 4105 Frontage and street exits Every theatre accommodating three hundred (300) persons shall have at least two exits When accommodating five hundred (500) persons at least three exits shall be provided these exits not referring to or including the exits to the open court at the sides of the theatre

Every such building shall have at least one front on the street which shall be as wide as the widest part of the auditorium or assembly hall and in such front there shall be suitable means of entrance and exit for the audience unless there shall also be a way or passage leading directly from the auditorium to another street in which case the means of entrance and exit by such way or passage shall be taken into consideration and to such extent as they shall furnish entrances and exits and if they shall be of sufficient width to meet the requirements of this chapter there need be no means of entrance or exit in front saving by the side courts hereafter stipulated for Any building located on a street having a width thereon as wide as the widest part of the auditorium or assembly hall shall be considered as having a front on said street within the meaning of this chapter if in addition thereto there shall be a way or passage leading from said theatre to another street which way or passage shall be of a width not less than twenty-five (25) feet in the clear

The entrance of the main front of the building shall not be on a higher or lower level from the sidewalk than four steps unless approved by the Bureau

Each exit shall be at least five (5) feet in width in the clear and provided with doors of incombustible material All of said doors shall open outwardly and must be fastened with panic bolts

Section 4106 Exits to courts In addition to the aforesaid entrances and exits on the street there shall be reserved for service in case of an emergency an open court or space on each side of the auditorium not bordering on a street

The unobstructed clear width of every such open court or space shall be not less than eight (8) feet where the total number of persons to be accommodated in the auditorium is not over seven hundred (700) increasing proportionatly in width above eight (8) feet in the ratio of one foot for every five hundred (500) persons above seven hundred (700) to be accommodated

Every such open court or space shall extend from each and every exit required to lead thereto to a street or open public space and opening thereon either directly or through a corridor or passageway of fireproof construction not less than ten (10) feet high in the clear having an unobstructed clear width equal to that required for the open court or space and seperated completely by solid walls floors and ceilings from the building or structure through which it passes provided that no such corridor or passageway shall pass under any portion of the auditorium or stage

Any open court or space may be used in common for two or more auditoriums provided the unobstructed clear width of such open court or space is equal to that required for the total number of persons to be accommodated in all the auditoriums opening on the same

If there be in addition to the front on a street a way or passage of the width aforesaid leading into another street then it will be sufficient if said open court or courts shall extend along the auditorium on each side thereof to said front on said street on which the theatre shall be located

Said courts or corridors shall have no projection in the same the outer openings to be provided with doors or gates opening toward the street

From the auditorium opening into the said open courts or on a street there shall not be less than two exits on each side in each tier from and including the parquet and each and every gallery

The said open courts and corridors shall not be used for storage purposes or for any purpose whatsoever except for exit and entrance from and to the auditorium and stage and must be kept free and clear during performances

Section 4107 Exit doorways Doorways of exit or entrance for use of the people shall not be less than five (5) feet in width and there shall be five (5) doorways for the first five hundred (500) persons and an additional five (5) foot doorway for each two hundred (200) persons or portion thereof thereafter

These doorways of exit and of entrance may be in the said front altogether or in the case of a theatre having also an exit and entrance directly to and from another street through a way or passage covered or otherwise of a width not less than twenty-five (25) feet in the clear some of the said doorways may be made therein to such extent as said entrance or passage will accommodate the same

All doors of exit or entrance shall open outwardly and be hung to swing in such manner as not to become an obstruction in a passage or corridor and no such doors shall be locked from the inside during any presentation or when the building is open to the public

Section 4108 Foyers lobbies and corridors The aggregate capacity of the foyers lobbies corridors passages and rooms for the use of the audience not including aisle space between seats shall on each floor or gallery be sufficient to contain the entire number to be accommodated on said floor or gallery in the ratio of one hundred and fifty (150) square feet of floor room for every one hundred (100) persons

The level of said corridors at the front entrance to the building shall not be greater than one step above the level of the sidewalk where they being at the street entrance

Section 4109 Aisles All aisles on the respective floors in the auditorium having seats on both sides of same shall not be less than three (3) feet wide where they begin and shall be increased in width towards the exits in the ratio of one and one-half (1½) inches to five (5) running feet Aisles having seats on one side only shall not be less than two (2) feet wide at their beginning and increased in width the same as aisles having seats on both sides Theatres having three (3) exits to the side courts on each side shall have a cross-over aisle five (5) feet wide connecting the two (2) central exits

Section 4110 Gradients To overcome any slight difference of level in or between courts corridors lobbies passages and aisles gradients or inclined planes shall be employed instead of steps where possible Such gradients shall be not over one (1) foot in ten (10) feet with no perpendicular rise

Section 4111 Gallery exits Distinct and separate places of exit and entrance shall be provided for each gallery above the first A common place of exit and entrance may serve for the main floor of the auditorium and the first gallery provided its capacity be equal to the aggregate capacity of the outlets from the main floor and said gallery No passage leading to any stairway communicating with any entrance or exit shall be less than four (4) feet in width in any part thereof

From the auditorium opening into the said open courts or on the side street there shall be not less than two (2) exits on each side in each tier from and including the parquet and each and every gallery

Section 4112 Staircases in galleries Where the seating capacity is for more than one thousand (1000) people there shall be at least two (2) independent staircases with direct exterior outlets provided for each gallery in the auditorium where there are not more than two (2) galleries and the same shal be located on opposite sides of said galleries Where there are more than two (2) galleries one (1) or more additional staircases shall be provided the outlets from which shall communicate directly with the principal exit or other exterior outlets All said staircases shall be of width proportioned to the seating capacity as elsewhere herein described Where the seating capacity is for one thousand (1000) people or less two (2) direct lines of staircases only shall be required located on opposite sides of the galleries and in both cases shall extend from the sidewalk level to the upper gallery wth outlets for each gallery to each of said staircases Stairs leading to the galleries may be left open on one side in which case they shall be constructed as provided for similar stairs leading from the entrance hall to the main floor of the auditorium No door shall open immediately upon a flight of stairs but a landing at least the width of the door shall be provided between such stairs and door

Section 4113 Stage stairways At least two (2) independent staircases with direct exterior outlets shall also be provided for the service of the stage but they shall not both be located on the same side of the stage

Section 4114 Stairways All stairs within the building shall be constructed of incombustible material throughout and the openings to said staircases from each tier shall be of the full width of the stairs In the case of enclosed stairways from balconies or galleries such stairways shall not communicate with the basement or cellar All stairs shall have treads of uniform width and risers of uniform height throughout in each flight Stairways serving for the exit of fifty (50) people shall be at least four (4) feet wide between railings or between walls and for every additional fifty (50) people to be accommodated six (6) inches must be added to their width The width of all stairs shall be measured in the clear between hand rails In no case shall the risers of any stairs exceed seven and one-half (7½) inches in height nor shall the treads exclusive of nosings be less than ten and one-half (10½) inches wide in straight stairs No circular or winding stairs for the use of the public shall be permitted When straight stairs return directly on themselves a landing of the full width of both flights without steps shall be provided Stairs turning at an angle shall have a proper landing without winders introduced at said turn

In stairs when two (2) side flights connect with one (1) main flight no winders shall be introduced and the width of the main flight shall be at least equal to the aggregate width of the side flights All stairs shall have proper landings introduced at convenient distances

Section 4115 Stairway handrails All inclosed staircases shall have on both sides strong handrails firmly secured to the wall about three (3) inches distant therefrom and about three (3) feet above the stairs but said handrails shall not run on level platforms and landings where the same is more in length than the width of the stairs All staircases eight (8) feet and over in width shall be provided with a centre handrail of hard wood or metal not less than two (2) inches in diameter placed at a height of about three (3) feet above the centre of the treads and supported on wrought-iron or brass standards of sufficient strength placed not farther than four (4) feet apart and securely bolted to the treads or risers of stairs or both

Section 4116 Fire-escapes In the said open court or courts there shall be balconies at each level or tier above the parquet on each side of the auditorium of sufficient length to embrace the two (2) exits and from said balconies there shall be staircases extending to the ground level with a rise of not over eight and one-half (8½) inches to a step and not less than nine (9) inches tread exclusive of the nosing

Said balconies shall be not less than four (4) feet in width where the seating capacity is not over one thousand (1000) five (5) feet in width where the seating capacity is more than one thousand (1000) and not over fifteen hundred (1500) and six (6) feet in width where the seating capacity is over fifteen hundred (1500)

If the said balconies be carried to and connect with an enclosed tower stairway having its exit directly to the street the open courts or corridors hereinbefore described may have deducted from their width the capacity of the staircases herein called for

Every staircase from the galleries and balconies to the court level shall be of the same width as the balcony directly above such staircase and as before mentioned in this section

All the before-mentioned balconies and staircases shall be constructed of iron throughout including the floors which shall be of solid safety tread and of ample strength to sustain the load to be carried by them and they shall be covered with a metal hood or awning to be constructed as shall be directed by the Bureau

Section 4117 Auditorium walls Interior walls built of fireproof materials shall separate the auditorium from the entrance vestibule and from any room or rooms of the same also from any lobbies corridors refreshment or other rooms

Section 4118 Roof and floors of auditorium The roof over the auditorium and the entire main floor of the auditorium and vestibule also the entire floor of the second story of the front superstructure over the entrance lobby and corridors and all galleries and supports for the same in the auditorium shall be constructed of iron or steel and fireproof materials not excluding the use of wooden floor boards and necessary sleepers to fasten the same to but such sleepers shall not mean timbers of support and by the spaces between sleepers excepting a portion under the stepping in the galleries which shall be properly fire stopped shall be solidly filled with incombustible material up to the under side of the floor boards

Section 4119 Partitions and Walls The partitions in that portion of the building which contains the auditorium the entrance and vestibule and every room and passage devoted to the use of the audience shall be constructed of fireproof materials prescribed in Chapter 23 including the furring of outside or other walls The walls separating the actors' dressing rooms together with the partitions dividing the dressing-rooms from the stage and the partitions dividing the dressing rooms together with the partitions of every passageway from the same to the stage and all other partitions on or about the stage shall be constructed of fireproof material prescribed in Chapter 23 All doors in any of said partitions shall be of iron or of wood constructed as hereinbefore described

Section 4120 Proscenium construction A fire wall of solid masonry exceptable to the bureau shall separate the auditorium from the stage and the same shall extend at least four (4) feet above the stage roof or the auditorium roof if the latter be higher and shall be coped If such wall is of the self-supporting bearing type it shall be not less than thirteen (13) inches in thickness if of the standard type supported on a steel frame it shall be not less than nine (9) inches thick Such wall shall not be recessed more than four (4) inches for the introduction of such fixtures as electric switches etc Above the proscenium opening there shall be an iron girder covered with fireproof materials to protect it from the heat The molded frame around the proscenium opening shall be formed entirely of fireproof materials if metal be used the metal shall be filled in solid with non-combustible material and securely anchored to the wall with iron

There shall be no opening through the proscenium wall except the curtain opening and not more than four others which shall be located at or below the level of the stage These latter openings shall not exceed twenty-one (21) superficial feet each and have iron or standard fire doors in each face of the wall securely hung to rabbeted iron frames or rabbets in the brick work or made to slide on track of heavy flat-rolled steel They shall be hung so as to be opened from either side at all times Direct access to these doors shall be provided on both sides and the doorways and approaches shall always be kept free from any incumbrance

Should there be constructed an orchestra over the stage above the proscenium opening the said orchestra shall be placed on the auditorium side of the proscenium fire wall and shall be entered only from the auditorium side of said wall

Section 4121 Fireproof curtain 1 General requirements The proscenium opening shall be provided with a curtain made of incombustible materials and installed to lap the masonry opening not less than eighteen (18) inches on each side and two (2) feet at the top and to intercept flame and smoke and prevent glow from a severe fire on the stage from showing on the auditorium side for a sufficient length of time to permit the safe exit of all persons from the auditorium The period of protection shall be taken as not less than fifteen minues The emergency closing of the curtain in case of fire shall be effected by gravity in less than one minute from the full open position but the last six (6) feet of travel shall require not less than five (5) seconds

2 General design of frame The curtain shall have a rigid framework of steel covered with asbestos cloth on both the auditorium and stage sides

The curtain shall in no case have a thickness of less than five (5) inches nor less than 1/120 of its span

The framework shall have interior members of tubes structural shapes bars or rods of steel The horizontal members to be spaced not more than eight (8) feet apart and the vertical members not more than ten (10) feet apart

The bottom of the curtain shall have a yielding pad of incombustible material not less than three (3) inches thick to form a seal against the floor

3 Covering Both the auditorium and stage sides of the framework shall be covered with a brass wire reinforced close-woven asbestos cloth The cloth shall have a content of ninety five (95) per cent asbestos and shall weigh not less than three (3) pounds per square yard All strips shall be in one continuous length the full height of the curtain the strips of cloth shall be lapped not less than one inch and sewed with two lines of stitching of asbestos thread which shall be of the same or greater strength than the yarns of the cloth

The asbestos cloth covering shall be secured by a clamping strip of 1¼x5/16 half oval iron bolted eight (8) inches on centers to the outside members of the frame

4 Painting The asbestos cloth on both sides of the curtain shall after erection be painted with a mineral paint composed of four (4) parts of casein to ten (10) parts of concentrated solution of sodium silicate to which may be added twenty

(20) parts of pigment The paint shall be applied hot and be well brushed into the cloth

5 Curtain Guides The curtain shall be guided throughout its travel by rigid steel guides These guides shall be built integral with the smoke pockets and shall extend from the stage level to a height of twice the height of the proscenium opening plus five (5) feet The smoke pocket shall be not less than a nine (9) inch channel and a fourteen by a quarter 14 x ¼) inch steel plate or equivalent section Such guides and smoke pockets shall be securely bolted in place every four (4) feet to approved anchors built into wall or ¾ inch bolts through the wall and designed to form a stop between the curtain and the wall to prevent smoke and flame from passing around the edges of the curtain

6 Lifting Cables and Rigging The curtain shall be hung on steel lifting cables one at each end and one at intermediate points not over ten (10) feet apart These cables shall be ½ inch in diameter and shall be attached to drums twenty (20) inches in diameter which are keyed fast to a heavy rolled operating shaft

The operating shaft shall run in machined and self-lubricating journals one on each side of each drum and one at each end

The journals shall rest in substantial fireproof supports

The curtain shall be balanced by two counterweights only to such an extent that when released it shall descend by gravity Each counterweight shall be supported by two lifting cables of one-half inch diameter which shall be attached to drums keyed fast to operating shaft Counterweight frame to be made with top and bottom weights connected with one-inch tie rods to receive counterweight Counteweights to operate on 2½ x 2½ x ⅜ inch tee bar tracks secured to proscenium wall by 2½ x ⅜ inch "U" brackets Each bracket is to be double-bolted to wall Counterweight guides to be set on the stage floor and continue for the full travel of the counterweight frame plus five (5) feet The counterweight tracks at the stage floor shall be enclosed with a sheet metal guard of number 16 metal to a height of eight (8) feet above the stage floor

7 Operating Equipment The curtain shall be normally operated at least once during each performance

The normal operation of the curtain is to be the raising and lowering electrically from one station by ⅜ inch steel tiller cable controlling operating switch and shall be equipped with travel and over-travel limit stops The emergency lowering of the curtain shall be by gravity obtained by under balancing the curtain with reference to the counterweight

Emergency control stations shall be located at each side of the proscenium opening of the stage floor and there shall be at least three quick-acting heat-operated release devices for automatically closing the curtain

For checking the automatic lowering of the curtain an oil dash pot of five-inch diameter cylinder machine bored and fitted with plunger and rod with a sixteen-inch sheave on top of rod with necessary cable for checking the curtain six (6) feet above the floor and then allowing curtain to lower slowly and settle easily on the stage floor

8 Hoisting Machine The hoisting machine to be of simple design and positive in operation to be connected by roller chain and sprockets keyed fast to operating shaft Machine to have machine-cut gears with bronze worm and steel worm direct-connected to a three (3) horsepower electric motor All gears and worms to be enclosed in self-lubricating housings all mounted on a single base plate

9 Approval of Plans and Installations Complete details of a proposed curtain and lifting mechanism shall be submitted to the Bureau and approval obtained before the installation or erection of any proscenium curtain is begun The completed installation shall be similarly approved after operating tests before any theatre is opened for public performances

Section 4122 Stage 1 Construction All that portion of the stage not comprised in the working of scenery traps and other mechanical apparatus for the presentation of a scene usually equal to the width of the proscenium opening shall be built of iron or steel beams filled in between with fireproof materials and all girders for the support of said beams shall be wrought iron or rolled steel The fly galleries entire including pin-rails shall be constructed of iron or steel and the floors of said galleries shall be composed of iron or steel beams filled with fireproof materials and no wood boards or sleepers shall be used as a covering over beams but the said floors shall be entirely fireproof The rigging loft shall be fireproof except the floor covering the same

Iron ladders or stairs securely fixed to the wall on the stage side shall be provided to overcome any difference of level existing between the floor or galleries on the stage side of the fire wall and those on the other side in the auditorium

2 Skylights There shall be provided over the stage metal skylights of an area or a combined area of at least one-eighth of the area of the said stage fitted up with sliding sash and glazed with double thick sheet glass not exceeding one-eighth of an inch thick and each pane therof measuring not less than three hundred square inches and the whole of which skylights shall be so constructed as to open instantly on the cutting or burning of a hempen cord which shall be arranged to hold said skylights closed or some other equally simple approved device for opening them may be provided There shall be provided immediately under the glass of said skylight a wire netting or the skylight may be glazed with wire-glass.

3 Scenery and fittings All stage scenery curtains and decorations made of combustible material and all wood-work on or about the stage shall be saturated with some non-combustible material or otherwise rendered safe against fire to the satisfaction of the Bureau of Fire and the Fire Marshal and all such stage scenery shall be raised and lowered without the use of counterweights unless such counterweights are so situated that they operate against the wall and do not overhang the stage

Section 4123 Dressing rooms Dressing rooms may be placed in the fly galleries Provided that proper exits are secured therefrom to the fire-escapes in the open courts and that the partitions and other matters pertaining to dressing-rooms shall conform to the requirements herein contained but the stairs leading to the same shall be non-combustible

Dressing rooms shall not be placed under the stage or in or under the auditorium The walls separating the dressing rooms from the stage shall be of solid masonry not less than nine (9) inches in thickness and each opening therein shall be protected with approved automatic-closing fire-doors

Section 4124 Seats All seats in the auditorium excepting those contained in the boxes shall be not less than thirty (30) inches from back to back measured in a horizontal direction and firmly secured to the floor There shall be not more than fourteen (14) seats in any row extending from one aisle to another nor more than seven (7) seats in any row extending from one aisle to a wall No stool or seat shall be placed in any aisle All platforms in galleries formed to receive the seats shall not be more than twenty-one (21) inches in height of riser nor less than thirty (30) inches in width of platform

Section 4125 Heating The heating shall be by means of steam hot water or mechanical hot air Heating apparatus shall be in an approved fireproof room with walls and ceiling constructed of solid masonry not less than nine inches in thickness with entrances to same from the outside Steam or hot water pipes and hot air ducts are not to pierce ceiling Pipes when passing through side walls are to be filled in tight with non-combustible material Air ducts to be filled in tight with non-combustible material and be provided with automatic fire doors or approved automatic louvers of metal plate of not less than twelve U S gauge at wall line

Every steam boiler which may be required for heating or other purposes shall be located outside the building and the space allotted to the same shall be enclosed by walls of masonry on all sides and the ceiling of such space shall be constructed of fireproof materials All doorways in said walls shall have iron doors No coil or radiator shall be placed in any aisle or passageway used as an exit where it forms an obstruction but all said coils and radiators shall be placed in recesses formed in the wall or partition to receive the same All supply return or exhaust pipes shall be properly encased and protected where passing through floors or near woodwork

Section 4126 Lighting 1 Every building described in section 4100 of this chapter shall be lighted throughout by an approved system of incandescent electric lights In addition to the regular lighting system there shall be provided an approved system of emergency lighting to operate automatically on failure of the current

2 Adequacy Every portion of the building devoted to the uses or accommodation of the public also all outlets leading to the streets and including the open courts and corridors shall be well and properly lighted during every performance and the same shall remain lighted until the entire audience has left the premises.

3 Lights in stairs and corridors All lights in the hall corridors lobby or any other part of the said building used by the audience except the auditorimum must be controlled by a separate shut-off located in the lobby and controlled only in that particular place

4 Fireproofing No light shall be inserted in the walls woodwork ceilings or in any part of the building unless protected by incombustibile materials

5 Stage lights All stage lights shall be installed according to the best known methods and subject to the approval of the Bureau of Fire The trough containing the footlights shall be formed of and surrounded by incombustible materials

6 Border lights The vertical border lights at the proscenium opening shall be located inside the asbestos curtain and in substantial metal receptables and shall be permanently fixed in position Hinged or movable border lights will not be allowed under any circumstances and the receptacle for the border lights shall be absolutely clear in every way from any possible contact with the curtain

Section 4127 Fire extinguishing appliances In every building described in section 4100 of this chapter there shall be provided

1 Standpipes Standpipes of four-inch internal diameter or larger shall be provided with two and one-half (2½) inch hose valves and standard City Fire Department couplings on every floor and gallery as follows namely One or more on each side of the auditorium in each tier also one on each side of the stage in each tier and in the corridors or passageways leading to the dressing rooms property room music rooms storage rooms carpenter and paint shops basements used for mercantile purposes and such other sections as may be directed by the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire who at his discretion may permit a reduction in the pipe size of branch lines supplying single hose outlets in small rooms or passages All such standpipes shall be kept clear of obstructions

2 Hose A proper and sufficient quantity of one and one-half (1½) inch unlined linen hose fitted with a reducer having a two and one-half (2½) inch standard City Fire Department female coupling on one end and a one and one-half (1½) inch male screw coupling on the other and with hose-nozzles of one-half (½) inch diameter attached thereto and with hose spanners at each outlet shall be kept attached in readiness for immediate use at all times The length of hose shall be sufficient to furnish streams of water at all portions of the building but in no case shall it exceed fifty (50) feet in length

3 Hose cabinets Hose cabinets shall be provided with glass front doors so that the hose will be plainly visible at all times

4 Water supply The water supply shall be from a tank of five thousand (5,000) gallons net capacity or more as may be directed by the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire at an elevation of twenty (20) feet above the stage roof The tank and its pipe connections for filling heating and draining shall be constructed and fitted in accordance with the standard regulations of the Philadelphia Fire Underwriters' Association and Associated Factory Mutual Fire Insurance Companies

5 Tank A single tank may be used for supply to both hose and sprinkler system provided its capacity is sufficient to meet the specific requirements in each case and the pipe connections are so arranged that an ample reserve supply is maintained for the sprinkler system at all times

Where the city water supply is sufficient to furnish not less than twenty-five (25) pounds pressure at the upper hose outlets at all times a four (4) inch connection with city mains may be substituted for the elevated tank at the discretion of the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire

6 Standpipe connection A Siamese Fire Department connection shall be provided on the front wall of building with female couplings of standard City Fire Department size and construction so that connections can be made to the standpipe systems with City Fire Department hose and water supply either from city fire engine or high pressure hydrant and to be clearly marked "Standpipe Connection"

7 Valves A gate valve of outside screw and yoke pattern shall be provided at an accessible location inside the building to control the water supply to standpipe system either from tank or city mains Horizontal swing check valves shall be provided in all tank and city connections and in the Siamese Fire Department connection

8 Fittings Fittings in the main water connections shall be of the long turn patterns and pipe hangers and supports shall be of substantial type well secured

9 Test At the time of installation standpipe systems shall be tested and proved tight at a hydrostatic pressure at least twenty-five per cent in excess of the highest normal working pressure to which they will be subjected Test to be for a two-hour period and pressure taken at the base of the system Concealed piping to be tested before being covered in

10 Automatic sprinklers A separate and distinct system of automatic sprinklers not connected in any manner with the hose standpipe system (Except that the water supply may be taken from an elevated tank of sufficient capacity for both systems provided it meets the specific requirements and the pipe connections are so arranged that an ample reserve supply is maintained for the sprinkler system at all times) shall be installed throughout all portions of the stage section of the building including the roof of stage under gridiron or rigging loft fly galleries under stage in dressing rooms property rooms music rooms storage rooms carpenter and paint shops store basements basements occupied for restaurant purposes and such other sections as may be directed by the Chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection and the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire

11 Water supply for sprinklers The water supply shall be from a tank of five thousand (5 000) gallons net capacity or more as may be directed by the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire at an elevation of twenty (20) feet above the upper lines of sprinklers in the stage roof section

Where the city water supply is sufficient to furnish not less than fifteen (15) pounds pressure at the upper lines of sprinklers at all times a connection of approved size with city mains may be substituted for the elevated tank at the discretion of the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire

12 Sprinkler connection A Siamese Fire Department connection shall be provided on front walls of building with female couplings of standard city Fire Department size and construction so that connection can be made to the sprinkler system with city Fire Department hose and water supply either from city fire engine or high pressure hydrant and to be clearly marked "Automatic Sprinklers"

13 Valves A gate valve of the outside screw and yoke pattern shall be provided at an accessible location inside the building to control the water supply to sprinkler system either from tank or city mains Horizontal swing check valves shall be provided in all tank and city connections and in the Siamese Fire Department connection

14 Alarm Valve and Gong A water flow alarm valve and gong shall be provided on outside of building to give notice of fire

15 Approval The entire equipment including tank tank connections the size of distributing pipes the manner of erection spacing of sprinklers sprinkler heads sprinkler alarm valves sprinkler gongs gate and check valves shall be of types approved by the Chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection and the Chief Engineer Bureau of Fire

16 Definition Sprinkler systems as mentioned in this chapter except as may be otherwise prescribed by the Bureau of Building Inspection must be systems of automatic sprinklers which conform to the standard regulations of the Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Fire

17 Test At the time of installation automatic sprinkler systems shall be tested and proved tight at a hydrostatic pressure of one hundred and fifty (150) pounds per square inch Duration of test to be for a two hour period and pressure taken at the base of system Concealed piping to be tested before being covered in

18 Miscellaneous There shall also be kept in readiness for immediate use on the stage at least four (4) chemical fuel fire extinguishers of two and one-half (2½) gallons capacity and at least four axes and two twenty-five (25) foot hooks two fifteen (15) foot hooks and two ten (10) foot hooks on each tier or floor of the stage

19 Control The entire lighting system and all apparatus for extinguishing of fire or guarding against same as in this chapter specified shall be in charge and under the control of the Bureau of Fire Department of Public Safety and said Department is hereby directed to see that the arrangements in respect thereto are carried out and enforced and Council may by ordinance fix a reasonable compensation for such services

Section 4128 Miscellaneous Requirements 1 Ceilings The ceiling of the auditorium and under each gallery shall be formed of fireproof materials

2 Wall and Ceiling Coverings None of the walls or ceilings shall be covered with wood sheathing canvas or any other combustible material but this shall not exclude the use of wood wainscoting to a height not to exceed six (6) feet which shall be filled in solid between the wainscoting and the wall with fireproof materials

3 Fronts of Galleries The front of each gallery shall be formed of fireproof materials excepting the capping which may be made of wood

4 Lathing All lathing wherever used shall be of metal or other incombustible construction affording fire protection

5 Shelving and Cupboards All shelving and cupboards in each and every dressing room property room or storage room shall be constructed of metal slate or some other incombustible material

Section 4129 Offices Stores Etc Any portion or portions of the premises bordering on a main street may be used for offices stores or rooms for similar purposes Provided the walls ceilings and floors separating such portion or portions from the theatre proper are built or constructed of such fireproof material as shall be approved by the Bureau of Building Inspection and the Fire Marshal and that the portion or portions so used for offices stores or rooms for similar purposes with the theatre proper and also that a fireproof exit is provided from the theatre on each tier equal to the combined width of exits opening on opposite sides in each tier communicating with balconies and staircases leading to the street and in a manner provided elsewhere in this chapter

Said exit passages shall be entirely cut off by brick walls from said offices stores or apartments and the floors and ceilings in each tier shall be fireproof

Section 4130 Storage Rooms Workshops Etc No workshop storage or general property room shall be allowed above the auditorium or under the same or in any of the fly galleries

Section 4131 Use and Occupancy Restriction (a) No portion of any building hereafter erected or altered used or intended to be used for theatrical or other purposes as in this chapter specified shall be used or occupied as a factory workshop or manufactory or for storage purposes except as may be herein specifically provided for Said restriction as relates not only to that portion of the building which contains the auditorium and the stage but applies also to the entire structure in connection therewith

(b) No store or room contained in the building as aforesaid shall be let or used for carrying on any business dealings until such occupancy has been approved and so certified by the Fire Marshal of such city of the First class

(c) No lodging accommodations shall be allowed in any part of the building communicating with the theatre section

(d) When human occupancy is contemplated the theatre section shall be separated from the balance of the structure both horizontally and vertically by unpierced walls and ceiling and floor slabs of approved solid masonry or reinforced concrete not less than nine (9) inches in thickness and such portion used or intended to be used for human occupancy shall have sufficient means of entrance and exit entirely separate and distinct from those for the theatre portion

Section 4132 Diagram of exits A diagram or plan of each tier gallery or floor showing distinctly the exits therefrom each occupying a space not less than fifteen (15) square inches shall be printed in a legible manner on the program of the performance Every exit shall have over the same on the inside the word "EXIT" painted in legible letters not less than eight (8) inches high

Section 4133 Saving clause It shall be within the power of the Mayor after full report from the Department of Public Safety to cause the closing up of any theatre opera house or public hall where in the judgment of the Mayor and the Department of Public Safety the ingress and egress are not reasonably safe for the safe and speedy exit of the audience in case of fire or panic

CHAPTER 42 Motion Picture Buildings

Section 4200 Application of chapter Every building hereafter erected or altered and designed to be used for the public exhibition of motion pictures with or without synchronized reproduction of sound shall be built or altered to comply with the requirements of this chapter but any building which is in actual use at the time of the passage of this act for the exhibition of motion pictures may be altered provided such alteration does not amount to a virtual reconstruction thereof so as to make it a new building No building which at the time of the passage of this act is not in actual use for motion picture exhibitions and no building hereafter erected or altered shall be used for motion picture purposes unless it conforms to the requirements of this chapter

Section 4201 Exceptions None of the provisions of this chapter shall apply to any hall club place of worship or other place not devoted to the exhibition of motion pictures so as to prohibit the giving of a single or occasional motion picture exhibition therein if a permit for each such exhibition shall first be obtained from the proper licensing authorities of such cities

Section 4202 Approval No building described in section 4200 of this chapter not in actual use for such purposes at the time of the passage of this act shall be open to the public for the exhibition of motion pictures until the Bureau of Building Inspection and the Bureau of Fire respectively shall have approved the same in writing as conforming to the requirements of this chapter and the mayors of the said cities shall refuse to issue any license for any such building and shall close the same and prevent its opening until a certificate in writing of such approval shall have been given by the Bureau of Building Inspection the Bureau of Fire and the Fire Marshal respectively

Section 4203 Drawings Before proceeding with the erection or alteration of any building to be used for the exhibition of motion pictures the owner or his agent shall submit for approval to the Chief drawings as required in section 303 of this code Such drawing shall show in detail the size of the auditorium lobbies and courts the size location and number of exits the number width and length of all aisles and the number and width of all seats with the distance between rows back to back and their arrangement

Section 4204 General requirements 1 Auditorium The auditorium in every such building shall be located in the first story only except that the auditorium may be located in the first story and in the first gallery as respects any building of fire proof construction for the exhibition of motion pictures only Provided that the said first gallery shall have a seating capacity of not more than two hundred seats and furthermore provided there shall be two exit stairways not less than five feet in width each leading to the lobby of the main floor or entrance of the theatre The number of exits from the main auditorium shall be equal to the requirements for the aggregate capacity of the main floor and shall have in addition two (2) five foot doors for the exits of the galleries and provided that the said building shall be approved by the Bureau of Fire Bureau of Building Inspection and Fire Marshal

2 Lobby There shall be provided in the rear of the seats abutting upon a street a lobby of sufficient size to provide at least one and one-half square feet of lobby room exclusive of the aisle space between seats for every person who may be seated in the building

3 Booth The booth for the moving picture machine shall be constructed of fireproof material with a ventilator extending through the front of the partition Such booth shall be constructed to conform to regulations of the Fire Marshal and shall not be used until approved by him

4 Heating The heating shall be as required in section 4125 of Chapter Forty-one of this code

5 Lighting The lighting shall be as required in section four thousand one hundred twenty-six chapter forty-one of this code All electrical installation throughout the building shall be approved by the Chief of the Electrical Bureau of said cities

Section 4205 Types of construction 1 Every such building covering an area in excess of five thousand (5,000) square feet and or having a seating capacity in excess of five hundred (500) shall be of First Class Type A construction as defined in section 3200 of this code and shall comply in every respect with all the provisions in Chapter forty-one governing the erection of theatres When so erected such building may contain any or all of the structural and equipment features such as stage and scenery dressing rooms balcony and galleries etc permitted in Chapter forty-one and may contain stores and/or offices as provided in section 4129 and shall be subject to the use and occupancy restrictions prescribed in section 4131

2 Every such building covering an area of five thousand (5,000) square feet or less and or with a seating capacity of five hundred (500) or less need not be of First Class Type A construction but shall comply in its construction with the general requirements of section 4204 of this chapter and in addition with the following special minimum requirements

(a) Construction The building shall be enclosed with solid masonry exceptable to the bureau walls the rear wall to abut on a street or alley or other open space with proper exit therefrom Buildings located upon the corner of two streets may in lieu of one of the rear exits therein provided for have an exit upon the side street providing said street is at least ten feet in width he first floor of such building shall be constructed of iron steel or reinforced concrete filled in with masonry concrete or other fireproof material the said iron or steel to be thoroughly fireproofed and the basement columns to be of fireproof construction The ceiling shall be covered with metal lath plastered with cement or gypsum or shall be other incombustible construction affording fire protection Every such building shall not be over one story in height nor have a balcony between the first floor and the roof There shall be provided a solid masonry exceptable to the Bureau wall separating the auditorium from the platform said wall to continue to a height of at least four (4) feet above the highest point of the roof The platform shall be constructed of fireproof material except that portion equal to the width of the proscenium opening and the depth of the platform All partitions shall be constructed of fireproof material as prescribed in Chapter 23 and firmly secured to the floor and ceiling In the floor construction a wooden top floor may be used if attached to sleepers embedded in cinder concrete

(b) Frontage and Street Exits Every such building shall have at least one front abutting upon the street which front shall be not less than tweny-five (25) feet in width and shall be as wide as the widest part of the auditorium There shall be provided in the street front at least two five-foot exits where the seating capacity is two hundred and fifty (250) or less with two additional rear exits not less than five (5) feet in width and where the seating capacity is more than two hundred and fifty (250) and not more than five hundred (500) there shall be provided in the front at least three five-foot exits with two (2) additional exits in the rear each of which shall be six (6) feet in width Such rear exits shall lead directly to a street or alley not less than ten (10) feet in width The Chief may require additional exits in any case if in his judgment they may be deemed necessary or proper for the safety of the public

(c) Aisles All aisles shall be at least three (3) feet wide at the beginning and shall increase in width toward the exits in the ratio of one and one-half (1½) inches to five (5) running feet Aisles having seats on one side only shall be not less than two (2) feet wide at the beginning and shall increase in width in the above-mentioned ratio

(d) Gradients Gradients shall be used instead of steps wherever possible

(e) Seats All seats shall be placed not less than thirty (30) inches from back to back measured in a horizontal direction and firmly secured to the floor There shall be not more than fourteen (14) seats in any row extending from one aisle to another nor more than seven (7) seats in any row extending from one aisle to a wall No stool or seat shall be placed in any aisle

(f) Curtain The curtain shall be an approved asbestos curtain

(g) Decorations All decorations must be fireproofed and firmly fixed in position The flies or decorative fixtures upon the platform must be fireproofed and firmly fixed to the said platform

(h) Structural and Occupancy Restrictions No dressing room shall be allowed in such buildings The cellar shall not be used for manufacturing purposes or for the storage of materials No portion of any such buildings shall be occupied or used as a dwelling or tenement house apartment house hotel or department store Such restriction shall relate and be applicable not only to the portion containing the auditorium but also to the entire structure or building used for moving picture exhibitions or in connection therewith

Section 4206 Saving Clause It shall be within the power of the Mayor after [illegible] report from the Department of Public Safety to cause the [illegible]ng up of any motion picture building where in the judg[illegible] of the Mayor and the Department of Public Safety the ingress and egress are not reasonably safe for the safe and speedy exit of the audience in case of fire or panic

PART VII DWELLINGS ETC

CHAPTER 43 Dwellings and Buildings Similarly Light in Character and Private Garages

Section 4300 Application of Chapter The provisions in this chapter shall be taken to govern the construction and alteration of one and two-family dwellings and other buildings similarly light in character where such structures do not exceed three stories or forty (40) feet in height and do not exceed one thousand five hundred (1500) feet in undivided area to govern the construction and alteration of private garages in connection with such dwellings or otherwise located when such garages do not exceed two (2) stories or twenty-five feet (25) in height and are not greater in area than three car capacity All other buildings and garages than those herein provided for shall conform to the other requirements of the code

Section 4301 Lot and Yard No dwelling house shall be erected on a lot of a less average width than fourteen (14) feet Provided that this limitation shall not apply to lots of less than fourteen (14) feet in width having buildings erected thereon Provided further that a dwelling house may be erected on a lot of less width than fourteen (14) feet and a lot of less width than forty-two (42) feet may be sub-divided into lots of equal width upon which dwelling houses may be erected but no such lot shall be decreased in width to a greater extent than five per centum of fourteen (14) feet This provision shall only apply when the aforesaid lots are bounded by ground having buildings erected thereon at the time of the approval of this act or when bounded on each side by ground belonging to other owners at the time of the approval of this act and every such dwelling shall have an open space attached to it in the rear or at the side equal to at least one hundred and forty-four (144) square feet of clear space unobstructed by any overhanging structure and no portion of any alley shall be counted as a part of such yard space and where a garage is part of a dwelling the one hundred and forty-four (144) square feet of open space may be in the rear of the garage

Section 4302 Building over dwelling yard Where a dwelling property is made vacant for the purpose of building over the required yard space for business purposes the building shall be so altered as to make it unavailable for dwelling purposes excepting that where dwellings are erected on corner lots at the intersection of two streets neither of which is less than twenty (20) feet in width the yard space required for dwellings may be encumbered in whole or in part by structures not exceeding one story or twelve (12) feet in height provided such structures do not diminish the light of any room in the dwelling below that required for tenement houses in Section 12 of Act of the General Assembly No four hundred twenty approved June eleventh one thousand nine hundred fifteen and further provided that every room in such structures also complies with the above provisions

Section 4303 Cellars and requirements in lieu of Cellars In all dwellings hereafter erected the cellars shall extend underneath the whole house and be ventilated from both ends or in lieu of such cellar it shall have a free air space of not less than eighteen (18) inches between the surface of the ground and the underside of the floor joists except that where the floor is of waterproofed masonry construction not less than four (4) inches thick such free air space may be omitted In case of a free air space is provided in lieu of a cellar it shall be drained and there shall be openings in the exterior walls for cross ventilation Such openings shall be screened by heavy galvanized wire mesh screen or closely fitted iron bars or other acceptable substitute so as to prevent the ingress of small animals When cellars are omitted dwellings may be set upon piers or foundation walls which shall extend below the frost line and to a depth required by law and shall have suitable footings to a depth required by law and shall have suitable footings to keep load distribution within carrying capacity of the soil In low damp or made ground the bottom of all cellars shall be covered with concrete or asphalt at least three (3) inches thick or such material as shall be approved by the Chief Additions of fourteen (14) feet or less to existing dwelling houses with cellars shall not be required to have a cellar provided there is an air space of eighteen (18) inches between the underside of the joists and the ground beneath such additions

Section 4304 Footings and foundation walls In all soils of less than one thousand (1000) pounds per square foot of bearing value suitable piles shall be driven to insure a bearing value sufficient to safely carry the load to be imposed thereon All footings and foundation walls of dwellings and buildings similarly light in character hereafter erected shall conform to the requirements of this code relating to stonework brickwork plain concrete reinforced concrete or solid concrete block and shall start six (6) inches below cellar bottoms All such footings and walls shall be built and all footings shall be laid in cement mortar Foundation walls may be laid in lime mortar machine mixed the mortar shall be tempered with ten per cent of hydraulic cement and provided further that foundations supporting concentrated loads shall be laid in cement mortar Where mass concrete is used for footings and foundation walls it shall conform to the requirements for mass concrete given in Section 1103 Reinforced concrete foundation walls shall not be built as party walls When built of concrete cast in place foundation walls shall be at least as thick as the walls supported but in no case less than twelve (12) inches When built of solid concrete block foundation walls shall conform to the requirements for thickness of solid brick walls

Section 4305 Exterior walls above ground story levels All exterior walls of dwellings and other buildings covered by this Chapter otherwise than as may be provided for private garages shall be constructed in accordance with the requirements of the Chapters in this code relating to masonry except that such requirements may be modified as follows

(a) Stone walls Solid walls of stone masonry may be laid in lime mortar when not stressed beyond the limits provided in Section 1403

(b) Solid walls of brick sand-lime brick and concrete brick Such units having an average compressive strength of not less than two thousand two hundred and fifty (2250) pounds to the square inch as prescribed in Section 1500 may be used in bearing and non bearing walls but this Section shall not be taken to exclude the use of sound salmon clay brick when such units are not exposed to the weather Solid bearing and non-bearing walls may be nine (9) inches thick when not more than twenty-six (26) feet in height measured from the first floor joist height at the front facing the highest grade When gable construction is used for such dwellings an additional five (5) feet is permitted to the peak of the gable

(c) Plain concrete walls Bearing and non-bearing walls of concrete may be nine (9) inches thick when not more than twenty-six (26) feet in height When gable construction is used an additional five (5) feet is permitted to the peak of the gable

(d) Solid unmarked concrete block walls Walls of such units shall conform as to thickness and height with the requirements for walls of solid brickwork

e) Walls of hollow tile hollow concrete block hollow concrete tile hollow walls of brick Such walls shall be laid in cement mortar or cement-lime mortar except that lime mortar shall be permitted in hollow walls of brick sand-lime brick concrete brick or other units of similar size and shape made from clay or shale not exceeding two stories in height Bearing and non-bearing walls may be nine (9) inches thick for the uppermost twenty (20) feet When gable construction is used an additional five (5) feet is permitted to the peak of the gable

(f) Chases in thin walls Chases not exceeding one (1) inch in depth nor four (4) inches in width when intended for conduits or similar pipes may be cut in walls of solid construction nine (9) inches in thickness

Section 4306 Party walls Dwelling for one or two families not over twenty (20) feet in width and sixty (60) feet in length may have party walls of solid masonry nine (9) inches in thickness provided that the adjoining lot shall not be encumbered with more than nine (9) inches of stone wall and four and one-half (4½) inches of brick wall If over twenty (20) feet in width all the party walls shall be at least thirteen (13) inches thick the entire height Provided that no party wall shall encroach upon the adjoining lot more than the distance stipulated in the Chapter on Party Walls. In one-story buildings with solid division walls the said walls shall be built to conform with requirements of Party Walls All other sections of Chapter 18 on Party Walls Fire Walls and Fire Division Walls shall govern the construction of party walls in buildings of the character covered by this Chapter except as follows

(a) The requirements for construction of party walls may be met by complying with the requirements as to solid stonework solid brickwork and solid concrete block and chases in same as stipulated in Chapters 14 15 16 and 17 Sound salmon clay brick may be used in a manner provided in Section 4305

(b) Party walls shall not be required as a separation between open porches on the front or rear of dwellings nor as a separation between enclosed front porches with project beyond the wall above provided that between such an enclosed porch and the adjacent room there is a masonry wall with no opening or openings aggregating more than seven feet in height by six feet in width and provided further that where there are wood joisted floors to enclosed or open porches extending across the front or rear of dwellings the same shall be separated by a foundation wall to the underside of the floor

Section 4307 Openings in exterior masonry walls Dwellings having stores in part of the first story shall not be required to have the iron beams over bulk windows fireproofed Plank front frames of a width of five (5) feet or less may be exempted from the provisions of Section 1100 requiring masonry or metal lintels

Section 4308 Timbers and woodwork All such features of construction shall conform to the requirements elsewhere provided except that the minimum thickness of any wooden floor or in part over a garage opening unless the underside of such joists or rafters are not more than twelve (12) inches in depth and are spaced not more than sixteen (16) inches on centers and except that wood joists shall be spiked to stud-walls

Section 4309 Projections beyond walls All such projections shall conform to the requirements of Chapter 48 provided that no frame bathroom projecting from the upper story of any dwelling shall be erected within five (5) feet of any similar construction composed wholly or partly of wood unless the end of said bathroom facing such structure shall be covered with some approved fire-resistive material and in no case shall the distance dividing such structures be less than three (3) feet unless the ends shall have division walls of solid masonry not less than nine (9) inches thick built from the foundations of the buildings and carried up above the roof as hereinbefore provided for party walls It shall not be lawful to build a frame bathroom other than a projecting bathroom as provided for in this section and no such bathroom shall be greater in area than sixty (60) superficial feet It shall not be lawful to build such bathroom unless the plumbing fixtures for bath purposes be placed therein No frame projection shall be built wholly or in part over a garage opening

Section 4310 Frame sheds Frame sheds attached to dwellings shall not exceed twelve (12) feet in height nor have any floor or loft between the ground floor and the roof and shall not connect with a frame bay-window or bathroom projecting from any upper story said sheds shall not be erected within five (5) feet of any similar construction composed wholly or in part of wood unless the side of said shed facing such structure shall be covered with an approved fire-resistive material and in no case shall the distance dividing such structures be less than three (3) feet unless the ends shall have division walls of masonry not less than nine (9) inches thick built from the foundations of the building and carried up above the roof as hereinbefore provided for party walls or such other fireproof materials as shall be approved by the Chief The said shed may be open or enclosed but in no case shall it be lathed or plastered or lined with wood so as to constitute a room to be occupied as a habitation The roof of said shed must be covered with metal or other approved fire-resistive material No such shed shall extend to a greater distance than ten (10) feet in a direct line from the rear wall to which it is attached

Section 4311 Wooden dwellings and wooden buildings similarly light in character Outside the limits defined by Councils in Cities of the First Class wooden buildings may be erected subject to the following restrictions and regulations

A wooden building to be used as a dwelling house shall not exceed the height permitted by Section 3907 and external walls of said building shall not be placed at a less distance than three (3) feet from the party line of the lot upon which the building is to be erected unless a masonry external wall is substituted for the wooden wall and of a thickness regulating the thickness of masonry external walls Where a wooden building is already erected for dwelling purposes upon an adjoining lot there shall be between the wall of the building erected and the one to be erected—if of wood—a clear open space of four and one-half (4½) feet between the said buildings In the erection of wooden buildings in blocks of two or more houses to be occupied for dwelling purposes the said buildings shall have intercepting solid masonry walls not less than nine (9) inches thick said walls to be constructed in accordance with the provisions for Party Walls

Section 4312 Private garages When garages are constructed within the basements or cellars of dwellings or attached thereto they shall have no opening into or direct connection with the remainder of the house basement or cellar and the walls and ceilings of such garages shall be of a fire-protected construction A garage may be erected one story in height and not exceeding sixteen (16) by twenty (20) feet interior dimension on the rear of any lot or any alley or driveway not less than ten (10) feet wide such garage to have masonry walls subject to the approval of the Bureau or such garage may be one story of stamped steel construction of a size not exceeding twelve (12) by twenty (20) feet and not exceeding twelve (12) feet in height provided it be properly anchored to the ground All other private garages within the meaning of this chapter shall conform to the requirements herein provided for the construction of dwellings

Section 4303 Fuel storage and piping The piping and installation of fuel tanks and storage of liquids in garages and other buildings shall be in accordance with ordinances of Councils in Cities of the First Class

CHAPTER 44 Frame Structures

Section 4400 Enlarging Removing and Repairing of Frame Buildings Within the brick limits defined by Councils in Cities of the First Class it shall not be lawful to enlarge a frame building or to remove any such building except on the same lot or an adjoining lot belonging to the same owner. It shall not be lawful to repair reconstruct or remove any frame building which has been injured more than fifty (50) per cent of its original value by wear and tear or by the effects of the elements or by fire said value to be determined by the Bureau

Section 4401 Frame Structures on Wharves Within the brick limits defined by said Councils and to the extent provided by ordinance thereof it shall be lawful to erect on wharves frame sheds not exceeding twenty-seven (27) feet in height and elevators for the storage of grain or sheds of wood for the storage of coal or lumber when all the external parts of such sheds and elevators (except sheds for the storage of lumber) shall be covered with slate tile metal or incombustible material and their mode of construction and location shall be subject to the approval of the Bureau

Section 4402 Wooden Buildings Other Than Dwellings Wooden buildings to be used for other purposes than that of a dwelling house shall not exceed three stories or thirty-five (35) feet in height above the grade of the street or place upon which the said building is to be erected and shall not be placed at a less distance than ten (10) feet from any wooden building which is twenty-five (25) feet or more in height or at a less distance than four (4) feet from any other wooden building which is less than twenty-five (25) feet in height All Wooden buildings shall be built upon secure foundations of solid masonry in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 17 and carried up to the joists of the first story above the ground In the construction of workshops or other buildings of a like character for temporary purposes built upon soft or marshy land the Chief may in his discretion permit the sills to be placed upon mudsills or blocking or upon piles cut to the height of grade All wooden buildings shall be constructed to safely carry such weights per superficial foot for the several purposes for which they may be constructed

Section 4403 Frame Sheds Open shelter sheds of wood may be erected upon permit but no such shed shall be enclosed with combustible materials on any of its four sides The location and construction of said sheds shall be subject to the inspection and approval of the Bureau All permits granted for the erection of frame sheds may be revoked and the shed shall be removed within thirty days after notice from the Director of Public Safety

Section 4404 Frame Bay Windows Dormers Porches Sun Porches Stoops Etc. All frame bay-windows dormers cornices porches stoops and other such frame parts of buildings hereafter erected or altered shall be in accordance with the chapters in this code relating to such features and when not otherwise provided for shall be as Councils in said Cities of the First Class may from time to time ordain

Section 4405 Chimneys flues fireplaces and heating apparatus in frame buildings In all wooden buildings hereafter erected or altered the framing around flues and the construction of chimneys flues hearths trimmer arches fireplaces and hot-air flues and heating apparatus steam boilers and ranges shall be in accordance with the provision of Chapters 28 and 29 of this code

CHAPTER 45 Roofs Cornices Pent Houses Dormers Etc

Section 4500 Roof construction dormers mansards and incombustible coverings The roof construction of all buildings of the First Class and the Intermediate Class shall be fireproofed or fire-protected as provided in the Chapter and Sections of this code relating to such buildings The Roof Planking of all buildings of the Second Class may be of wood not less than (2) inches thick and of all buildings of the Third and Fourth Class may be of sheathing not less than one (1) inch thick all supported and constructed in accordance with the chapters in this code on Classification of Buildings and on Timber and woodwork The roof covering of all combustible materials except that built-up roofing of saturated felt on which are embedded slag gravel slate tile or other approved incombustible materials may be used when so permitted by the Chief The planking and sheathing of the roof of every building of the Third or Fourth Class hereafter erected or altered and the tops and sides of every dormer window thereon shall be covered with slate metal or such other equally good incombustible material as the Bureau may authorize and the outside of every dormer window hereafter placed or any building as aforesaid shall be made of or covered with some incombustible material Mansard roofs shall slope at least one and one-half (1½) inches per foot backwards from the vertical and be covered with metal or other hard incombustible material Provided that this shall not apply to roofs and dormers outside of brick districts as defined by Councils

Section 4501 Repairs to Wood Roofs Nothing in this Code shall be construed to prohibit the repairing of a shingle roof within the brick districts as pairing of a shingle roof within the brick districts as defined by Councils provided the repairs do not exceed one-half of the value of said roof

Section 4502 Pent houses The materials used in the sides and roofs of all pent houses shall be not less than in accordance with the requirements governing the construction of the story immediately below the roof of any building of the First Class or the Intermediate Class and the construction of same shall otherwise conform to the requirements of the chapters on Egress and Fire Prevention In buildings of all other classes except dwellings in rural districts pent houses shall be governed by the requirements for the story immediately below the roof except that any combustible material shall be covered by incombustile materials as hereinafter required

Section 4503 Roof gardens Buildings hereafter erected over four stories in height having roof gardens thereon shall be constructed entirely in accordance with the requirements for buildings of the First Class or Intermediate Class

Section 4504 Scuttles bulkheads etc All buildings of three or more stories hereafter to be built with portions of such buildings one or more stories less in height shall have scuttle frames and covers or bulkheads and doors and be covered with some incombustible material All scuttles shall have stationary ladders leading to the same and all such scuttles and ladders shall be kept so as to be ready for use at all times All scuttles shall be in size of opening at least eighteen (18) inches by thirty (30) inches and if a bulkhead is used in any building in place of a scuttle it shall have stairs with sufficient guard or hand-rail leading to the roof and in case the building be a tenement house the doors or covers to the scuttle or bulkheads shall at no time be locked but may be bolted or secured by hooks on the inside No roof half-story or attic space shall be constructed in any building that is not accessible by at least a trap door

Section 4505 Cornices and gutters All exterior cornices and gutters hereafter erected other than in rural districts shall be of some incombustible material and in every case except when carried on a frame work of iron or steel the greater weight of the material of which the cornice be constructed shall be on the inside of the outer line of the wall allowance being made for the leverage produced by the projection of the cornice beyond the face of the wall and in all cases except as otherwise provided in the chapter on Dwellings the walls shall be carried up to the under side of the roof planking and where the cornice projects above the roof the wall shall be carried up to the top of the cornice All exterior wooden cornices that may be or shall hereafter become unsafe shall be taken down and if replaced shall be constructed of some incombustible material All exterior wood cornices or gutters that may hereafter be damaged by fire or by decay to the extent of one-half of the value thereof shall be taken down and if replaced shall be constructed of some incombustible material but if not damaged to this extent may be repaired with the same kind of material of which originally constructed Any cornice on any building which cornice or its interior construction is of wood shall be separated from the cornice or an adjoining building by having the party wall corbeled out at least two (2) inches beyond all projections or by such other fire stop as shall be approved by the Bureau This section shall not be construed to prohibit the use of a wooden cornice upon the buildings which have shingle roofs in such districts as Councils may by ordinance stipulate

Section 4506 Rain water conductors All buildings shall be kept provided with proper metallic leaders for conducting water from the roof to the ground or sewer in such manner as shall protect the walls and foundations from damage and in all buildings over fifty (50) feet in height such leaders shall be installed inside the walls or buildings provided that the Chief may in exceptional occupancies exempt in writing this requirement

PART VIII SAFETY MEASURES

CHAPTER 46 Fire Prevention

Section 4600 All buildings of eighty-five (85) feet or six (6) stories or more in height hereafter erected or altered shall be equipped with standpipes for protection against fire as herein prescribed and all buildings hereafter erected or altered exceeding fifteen hundred (1500) square feet in area in the first story used or to be used as a store factory or warehouse shall have all basements and sub-basements equipped with a sprinkler system as herein set forth except that buildings having a greater area than one thousand five hundred (1500) square feet in the first story but in which the basement area is less than one thousand five hundred (1500) square feet need not be sprinkled provided the floor over the basement is of first-class fireproof construction and the means of entrance to the basement be from the exterior of the building only

Section 4601 Standpipes Standpipes shall not connect with any tank or the City water main direct and are intended for the use of the Fire Department only and all standpipes shall

(a) be not less than four (4) inches in diameter and of such additional diameter as may be necessary to supply one outlet of the size and construction of the standard City Fire Department hose outlets with hose valve on each and every floor of the building the standpipe extending through roof with an approved base outlet or monitor nozzle attached

(b) be located at point in or near each main stairway or stairway tower of such building

(c) have attached at a point convenient above the sidewalk outside of the building suitable steamer connections with check valve of standard City Fire Department size and construction so that connections can be made to such standpipes with City Fire Department hose and City water supply either from City fire engine or high-pressure hydrant where available and to be clearly marked "Standpipe Connection"

When in the opinion of the Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Fire a wet pipe system is necessary the water supply shall be by direct connection to the public water system (where the pressure is sufficient) or from an elevated tank of not less than five thousand (5000) gallons capacity located at an elevation above the highest hose connection at a point to be determined by the Chief of the Bureau of Fire or by an approved fire pump of a rated capacity of not less than five hundred (500) gallons per minute In addition to the Fire Department hose outlet above specified one (1) one-and-one-half-inch hose outlet with suitable valve may be provided at each floor with a one-and-one-half-inch linen hose attached Plans or diagrams showing the location of standpipes the size thereof the number and character of hose outlets and valves and the character of interior water supply from tank or pump shall be submitted for approval of the Bureau of Building Inspection and the Chief Engineer of the Bureau of Fire and such additional detailed plans and specifications as the chiefs of the bureaus of the above departments may require

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1125, as follows:

An Act to provide for the organization operation and supervision of cooperative savings and credit associations to be termed credit unions designating such credit unions as corporations and defining their powers and duties

Section 1 DEFINITION Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the term "credit union" as used in this act shall be a cooperative society in the nature of a corporate entity incorporated for the two-fold purpose of promoting thrift among its members and creating a source of credit for them at legitimate rates of interest for provident purposes

Section 2 ORGANIZATION Any seven residents of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania may apply to the Secretary of Banking of said Commonwealth for permission to organize a credit union as provided in this act

Section 3 A credit union may be organized in the following manner to wit

(a) The applicants shall execute in duplicate their application for permission to organize a credit union by the terms of which they agree to be bound The applications shall state (1) the name and location of the proposed credit union (2) the names and addresses of the subscribers to the application and the number of shares subscribed by each and (3) the par value of the share of the credit union which par value shall not exceed ten dollars ($10.00) for each share

(b) The applicants shall also submit with their application two copies of the proposed by-laws for the general governance of the credit union consistent with the provisions of this act and of the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

(c) The application and the by-laws both executed in duplicate shall be forwarded together with a filing fee of five ($5) dollars to the Secretary of Banking of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who shall peruse the same and determine whether the application and by-laws are in proper form and whether the name selected for the proposd credit union is so similar to that of any other credit union as to cause confusion on the records of the said Secretary of Banking

(d) If the application and by-laws are in proper form as required by this act and the Constitution and laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and if the name of the proposed credit union is not in conflict with that of any other credit union whose name is already on the records of the Secretary of Banking and if he further finds that the organization of the proposed credit union would benefit the members thereof and be consistent with the purposes of this act he shall notify the applicants of his decision which decision shall be made within sixty days after the filing of the application and by-laws in duplicate If the decision is unfavorable he shall so report to the credit union If the decision is favorable he shall so state in writing and forward the original application to the Secretary of the Commonwealth who if he finds that the laws pertaining to the creation of corporations of the second class including proper advertisements as required by law have been complied with shall upon the payment of thirty dollars ($30) grant a charter as now provided by law which he shall forward to the Secretary of Banking The Secretary of Banking shall then issue a license which he shall forward with the original application or charter and return to the same together with the original by-laws to the applicants The duplicate application and by-laws shall be filed by the Secretary of Banking who shall prepare and keep on file a list of all the credit unions organized under this act together with such information as he may deem material from time to time

(e) The applicants shall thereupon record the said certificate of organization or charter with the recorder of deeds and mortgages of the county within which the credit union proposes to maintain its permanent location and the said recorder shall upon the payment of the proper fees copy the same in the charter book or books of his office and return the same with his certificate of the recording thereof attached thereto to the credit union or the proper officer thereof

(f) Thereupon the applicants shall become and be a cooperative society or a credit union in accordance with the provisions of this act and shall thereafter be a corporation with certain limited powers and duties as defined by this act In order to simplify the organization of credit unions the said Secretary of Banking and the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall cause to be prepared an approved form of certificate of organization which may be used by proposed credit unions for their guidance and on written application of any seven residents of the State the Secretary of Banking shall supply them without charge supply them with the necessary blank applications and also with the necessary copies of suggested by-laws

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1941, as follows:

An Act to further amend section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and ninety-two) entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" by modifying the procedure for the collection of the tax on the stock of banks and savings institutions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and ninety-two) entitled "An act to provide revenue by taxation" as amended by the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and ninety-seven) entitled "An act to amend section one of the act approved the fifteenth day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and ninety-two) entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' eliminating from said act the provisions for the taxation of bank stock on the par value thereof" is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act every bank or savings institution having capital stock incorporated by or under any law of this Commonwealth or under any law of the United States and located within this Commonwealth shall on or before the twentieth day of June in each and every year make to the [Auditor General] Department of Revenue a report in writing verified [by the oath or affirmation of the present cashier or treasurer] as required by law setting forth the full number of shares of the capital stock subscribed as of the date of the report for or issued by such bank or savings institution and the actual value thereof which shall be ascertained as [hereinbefore] hereafter provided but any such bank or savings institution which makes its report and pays its tax prior to March first of any year may make such report as of December thirty-first preceding [whereupon it] It shall be the duty of the [Auditor General] Department of Revenue to assess such shares for taxation at the same rate as that imposed upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of the State that is to say at the rate of four mills upon each dollar of the actual value thereof the actual value of each share of stock to be ascertained and fixed by adding together the amount of capital stock paid in the purplus and undivided profits and dividing this amount by the number of shares [The Auditor General shall have the power and it shall be his duty in case he shall not be satisfied with the correctness of the report as made by the officers of any bank or savings institution to summon the officers of said bank or savings institution to appear before him upon notice to do so on a day to be fixed by him and to bring with them the books of said bank or savings institution for his examination and he shall have the right to have further evidence to satisfy himself as to the correctness of the report made to him on the question of the value of the shares of stock of such bank or savings institution according to the rule hereinbefore stated After the Auditor General shall have fixed the value of the shares of stock in any bank or savings institution by the method hereinbefore provided and settled an account according to law he shall thereupon transmit to the president cashier or treasurer of such bank or savings institution a copy of such settlement showing the valuation and assessement so made by him and the amount of tax due the Commonwealth on all such shares And it shall be the duty of the president cashier or treasurer of any such bank or savings institution immediately upon the receipt of said settlement to post the same in a conspicuous place in such bank or savings institution so as to give notice to the shareholders of such valuation and it shall be the duty of the Auditor General to hear any shareholder upon the subject of the valuation of such shares of stock at the Auditor General's office within a period of thirty days from the date of said settlement] It shall be the duty of every bank or savings institution within a period of [forty] sixty days after the date of such settlement by the [Auditor General] Department of Revenue at its option to pay the amount of said tax to the State Treasurer through the Department of Revenue from its general fund or collect the same from its shareholders and pay it over to the State Treasurer through the Department of Revenue Provided [That if any such bank or savings institution shall fail or refuse to make such report or to pay such tax at the time herein specified or shall make any false statement in such report or shall fail or refuse by its officers to appear before the Auditor General upon notice as aforesaid or shall fail or refuse to produce its books for examination when required to do so by the Auditor General he shall after having ascertained the actual value of each share of the capital stock of such bank or savings institution from the best information he can obtain add thereto fifty per centum as a penalty assess the tax as aforesaid and proceed according to law to collect the same from such bank or savings institution Provided further That if the president cashier or treasurer of any such bank or savings institution shall neglect or refuse to post the copy of the settlement in a conspicuous place in such bank or savings institution immediately upon the receipt of the same so as to give notice to the shareholders such president cashier or treasurer shall be adjudged to be in default and as a penalty for such default such bank or savings institution shall be responsible to the Commonwealth for the amount of the tax assessed against the shareholders of such bank or savings institution And provided further] That in case any bank or savings institution having capital stock incorporated under the law of this State or of the United States shall collect annually from the shareholders thereof said tax of four mills on the dollar upon the actual value of all the shares of stock of said bank or savings institution according to the rule hereinbefore stated that have been subscribed for or issued and pay the same into the State Treasury through the Department of Revenue on or before the first day of March in each year the shares and so much of the capital and profits of such bank or savings institution as shall not be invested in real estate shall be exempt from local taxation under the laws of this Commonwealth and such bank or savings institution shall not be required to make any report to the local assessor or county commissioners of its personal property owned by it in its own right for purposes of taxation and shall not be required to pay any tax thereon The procedure in case the Department of Revenue be not satisfied with the report made by any bank or savings institution and the penalties for failing to make such report and pay the tax shall be as provided by law

Section 2 This act shall take effect on the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 1955, file folio 5955, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the development of Cumberland Valley State Institution for Mental Defectives permitting inmates of the Rockview State Penitentiary to be used in constructive work at the site of Cumberland Valley State Institution for Mental Defectives and providing for the expense of keeping such inmates at the site of said new institution on page 21 of to-day's calendar, bills on third reading, passed finally, be reconsidered.

Mr. DAVIDSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The SPEAKER. How did the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Musmanno, vote when his name was called?

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker, I voted in the affirmative.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. KOHR. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Musmanno?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Musmanno, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUSMANNO. Yes.

Mr. KOHR. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ascertain the purpose of having the vote by which this bill passed finally reconsidered.

Mr. MUSMANNO. The purpose, Mr. Speaker and members of the House, is to determine from the sponsor of the bill, and I will now so interrogate him, if he will answer, as to whether this bill will permit inmates of a penitentiary to do work that is now done by labor throughout this State, and by labor I mean, those, of course, not inmates of a penitentiary?

Mr. KOHR. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a department measure which will provide for an institution for mental defectives with criminal tendencies, and the appropriation for the project is just enough to make a start. Of course, it is the desire to have it done as economical as possible. It is the desire to try to do the first unit on this appropriation, and it will perhaps be barely possible using the strictest economy to build that first unit. That is the purpose of having it so arranged.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

HOUSE BILL No. 896.

An Act providing for the refund of taxes erroneously or inadverently paid to the county treasurer or delinquent tax collector of counties of the second class

With the information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

Amend section 1, page 1, line 5, by striking out the word "hereafter."

Amend section 1, page 1, line 5, by inserting after the word "treasurer" the following: "after January first one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven or heretofore or hereafter received by the."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. BART RICHARDS. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask if House Bill No. 1952, file folio 5947, the first bill on page 21 of to-day calendar, passed the House finally. The reason for the question is that I was in the Resident Clerk's office on other business when the roll was called, and I would like to know whether the bill has passed.

The SPEAKER. The bill has passed the House finally.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to make a motion to reconsider the vote by which this bill passed finally. The situation is that I seem to have been inadvertently recorded as voting "Aye." I do not want to be so recorded. However, I am willing to let it pass.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's remarks under his question of personal privilege will be spread upon the Journal and that will correct his vote as recorded in the affirmative.

Mr. BART RICHARDS. Mr. Speaker, may that also include the vote on House Bill No. 1955?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman's remarks, including House Bill No. 1955, will also be spread upon the Journal.

RESOLUTION.

LABOR SAVING MACHINERY.

Mr. MUSMANNO, asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution, which was twice read and laid over under the rules for printing.

In the House of Representatives, April 3, 1929.

Whereas, it is becoming more and more prevalent in modern industry to bar from employment men over forty-five years of age;

Whereas, the progress in the development of labor-saving machinery has been such that from year to year more and more men lose employment, although it is understood that this resolution is not intended in any way to disparage the use of such machinery;

Whereas, the industrial and commercial systems of the State have also, in recent years, instituted pension and retirement plans in obedience to statutory laws are confronted with the cost of compensation insurance;

Whereas, from a preliminary study and survey it seems that through the installation of modern machinery, retirement systems, compensation laws and other contributory factors, there are at the present time, thousands of able bodied men unable to find or secure work;

Whereas, if it be true that industrial and commercial employers are barring from work men over forty-five years of age, this means that the burdens of industrial and commercial life are being placed upon younger shouders which will in time endanger the economic structure;

Whereas, the Honorable James J. Davis, Secretary of the Department of Labor of the United States, has frequently in public addresses called the attention of employers to this condition;

Whereas, the American Federation of Labor at the present time is conducting a national survey to ascertain the truthfulness of these reports;

Whereas, the Department of Labor and Industry of the State of Pennsylvania has been actively engaged in enlisting the employers of Pennsylvania in a cooperative way in the lifting of these age bans, and

Whereas, it is very evident that a thorough study of this unemployment problem should be made to ascertain the real facts;

Therefore, be it resolved (if the Senate concur) that His Excellency, the Governor of Pennsylvania ,be empowered and he is hereby empowered to appoint a commission to seven men to study this problem and report to the Legislative Session of 1931 with a full report as to the extent men of over forty-five years of age are being barred from employment, and to ascertain as nearly as possible the exact number of men affected by this rule of industry, if it exists; also to make such recommendations as to it seems fit and proper in the form of proposed legislation to the end that this situation may be remedied. This commission shall consist of seven members to be made up as follows: one Representative, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; one Senator, to be appointed by the President of the Senate; and five to be appointed by the Governor. Of these five, one shall be an employee or official of the State Department of Labor and Industry, one a representative of organized labor, and one a representative of industry, the remaining two may be appointed at the full discretion of the Governor.

COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA

Legislative Journal.

Session 1929 128th of the General Assembly

Vol. 11 HARRISBURG, MONDAY, APRIL 8, 1929 No. 33

SENATE.

MONDAY, April 8, 1929.

The Senate met at 9 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Arthur H. James) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. Christian H. Chirk, offered the following prayer:

Thou Omnipotent God, we invoke Thy blessing upon the members of this legislative body, and we pray that Thy guidance may rest upon them. The problems confronting them are often difficult and complex; the people of this Commonwealth are looking to them for assistance in their own betterment; and we pray that as far as it is humanly possible they may not be disappointed in their expectations.

Grant that the citizens of this State may not delude themselves with the thought that legislative enactments will take the place of their own industriousness and thrift, or that legislative enactments are substitutes for their own integrity in moral and social achievements.

Grant Thy blessing to rest upon the citizens of our State; that they may attain to the better things that they crave; and, with it all, that they may glorify Thee. We ask it in Thy most Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The PRESIDENT—A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. HARVEY, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

Mr. WILLIAMSON asked and obtained leave of absence for the Senator from Franklin, Mr. Bonbrake, on account of illness.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO AMENDING TARIFF LAWS TO PROTECT COAL, TEXTILE AND ART GLASS INDUSTRIES.

Mr. SCHANTZ offered a resolution, which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, April 8, 1929.

Whereas, The importation of bituminous and anthracite coal and their products into the United States from European countries is working a great injury upon the owners and workers of the bituminous and anthracite regions of Pennsylvania where thousands of miners are unemployed at the present time, and

Whereas, The importation of textiles from Asiatic and European countries into the United States is creating havoc and demoralization among these industries in Pennsylvania, among the owners and the workers thereof, particularly at this time when the industry is in need of a greater domestic market at a fair price for its products, and

Whereas, The importation of art leaded and memorial windows for churches and other buildings of similar design is working a great injury to the glass manufacturing industry of the United States, and

Whereas, The above mentioned importations are imposing these hardships upon the industries mentioned and the workers therein, because these importations are made, with the exception of textiles, into our country duty free, and

Whereas, The principal points of production and manufacture of coal, textiles and art glass and memorial windows are largely located in the State of Pennsylvania,

Therefore Be It Resolved, and it is hereby resolved, That the Senate and House of Representatives of the 1929 session of the Pennsylvania State Legislature memorialize the Congress of the United States and especially the United States Senator and Congressmen from Pennsylvania to use their best offices in an effort to amend the Tariff Law in a manner that will bring adequate protection to the coal, textile and art glass industries of Pennsylvania from this very destructive foreign competition.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

Mr. BUCKMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO BRIGADIER GENERAL CASIMIR PULASKI MEMORIAL DAY.

Mr. HARVEY offered the following resolution, which was twice read:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, April 8, 1929.

Whereas, On October eleventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine, will occur the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the death of Brigadier General Casimri Pulaski, Revolutionary War Hero, and

Whereas, The service rendered by him was of great value and assistance to the cause of American Independence and of such high importance that on September fifteenth, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven he was appointed Brigadier General of the Continental Army and Chief of Dragoons, and on March twenty-eighth, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight he was designated commander of an independent corps known as Pulaski's Legion, and

Whereas, He died on October eleventh, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-nine of wounds received on October ninth, one thousand seven hundred and seventy-nine at the siege of Savannah, Georgia, and

Whereas, It is but fitting that proper recognition should be given to the memory of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski whose illustrious service in the war for American Independence is well known to all who are familiar with our history, therefore be it

Section 1. Resolved, (If the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania is hereby authorized to issue a proclamation calling upon the State officials to display the United States Flag on the State Building, and the people of the State of Pennsylvania to display the flag at their homes or other suitable places on October eleventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine in honor of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the death of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski, Revolutionary War Hero.

Section 2. That October eleventh, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine shall be designated and known as General Pulaski's Memorial Day, and that the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania is urged to request its observance as provided in this resolution.

Section 3. That there is hereby established a commission to be known as the Pennsylvania Pulaski Sesqui-centennial Commission (hereinafter referred to as the commission), and to be composed of ten commissioners as follows: Six persons to be appointed by the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, two Senators to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, and two Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the State of Pennsylvania. The Commissioners shall serve without compensation therefor from the State of Pennsylvania.

Section 4. The commission is authorized to arrange an appropriate observance and commemoration to take place in the month of October, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine in the State of Pennsylvania of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the death of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski and to participate on behalf of the State of Pennsylvania in such manner as it deems advisable in any other observance or celebration of such anniversary which may be held in the State of Pennsylvania during the year of one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine.

Section 5. The members of the commission appointed shall be persons of high standing and character having a known interest in suitably observing and commemorating the events connected with the death of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski, Revolutionary War Hero. The Governor may for just cause based upon written charges specifying the alleged misconduct, remove any members of the commission after notice to such member, and a public hearing. Any vacancy caused shall be filled in the same manner as the original appointment.

Section 6. When the Pennsylvania Pulaski Sesqui-centennial Commission shall have finally completed such observance and commemoration of the death of Brigadier General Casimir Pulaski which may be arranged for in connection therewith, the Governor on request of the commission shall issue an order declaring the commission dissolved.

Section 7. The commission shall select a chairman from among its members.

Mr. HARVEY. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUITON RELATIVE TO INVESTIGATION OF CONSOLIDATION OF BANKS AND BANKING INSTITUTIONS.

Mr. SALUS offered the following resolution, which was twice read.

In the Senate, April 8, 1929.

Whereas, the consolidation and merging of banks and banking institutions and the results and effects of such consolidations and mergings are of interest to the public and should be investigated and studied for the protection of the interests of the public, therefore be it

Resloved, (if the House of Representatives concur) That the Senate and House Committee on Banks and Banking and Banks and Building and Loan Associations, are hereby authorized to investigate the consolidation and merger of all banks and other institutions doing banking or building and loan association business within the Commonwealth, and to report its findings from time to time to the Attorney General with any suggestions they may have to make as to any action to be taken by or in behalf of the Commonwealth and to file a complete report to the Senate at the beginning of the Session of the Legislature of one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, and be it further

Resolved, That the Committees on Banks and Banking and Banks and Building and Loan Associations shall have power to sit and continue such investigation or investigations, after the adjournment of the Legislature at such times and places as they may deem advisable, and shall have authority and power to issue subpoenas and compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of books, vouchers and records deemed necessary in any matter they are investigating. If any person refuses to appear and testify or to produce any books, vouchers or records, the committees shall have power to bring the matter to the attention of the court of common pleas of the county where the subpoena was served, which court shall thereupon issue its subpoena to require such witness to attend before it, and testify or to produce such books, vouchers or records, and be it

Resolved, That the Attorney General of the Commonwealth shall furnish such legal aid and advice as may be necessary to assist the said committees in making such investigation. The committees shall have power to employ stenographers or other employes necessary for the proper performance of their duties; the compensation of such persons to be fixed by the committees and to be paid from funds provided in the General Appropriations Act, and be it further

Resolved, That an item be inserted in the General Appropriations Act to pay the expenses incurred by the committees in making the investigation hereby authorized.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39, which requires concurrent resolutions to be referred to an appropriate committee be suspended and that the Senate do now proceed to the immediate consideration of the resolution just read.

Mr. ARON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, does this resolution carry with it any appropriation?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, not unless it is included in the General Appropriation Bill.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, the General Appropriation Bill is in the House of Representatives. It has been completed. And I question whether there will be sufficient to include an appropriation to carry out the purpose of this resolution.

I do not want to be understood as opposing this resolution, but it is broad in its scope and calls for a great deal of investigation; and I feel that there ought to be at least an opportunity for the members of the Senate to think of it with reference to two items; First, is the money available; and, second, what is the exact scope of the investigation?

I trust the sponsor of the resolution will give the members of the Senate at least a few moments to digest it before acting upon it; and, therefore, I ask that it be allowed to lie on the table until after a recess, if we have one to-night; otherwise, to lie over until tomorrow.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, it is satisfactory to me to have it lie over until tomorrow.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution will lie on the table.

BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY TESTIMONIAL TO HONABLE M. G. LESLIE.

The PRESIDENT. Members of the Senate, it now becomes my very pleasant duty to remind you of the fact that on Saturday last Senator Max G. Leslie, of Allegheny County, arrived at his majority of 65 years.

I wish that in the few moments that are allotted to me I could fittingly describe the qualities of this distinguished gentleman. He is a typical product of American life, the typical result of American opportunities. Born under the same circumstances as the great majority of men belonging to the rank and file of the common people, born out in that little village of Lawrenceville, in the City of Pittsburgh, for the last 45 years he has been one of the most active figures in the political life not only of Allegheny County but of the State of Pennsylvania and of the United States.

There is no department of government in which he has not been active. He has taken part in the functioning of government in Allegheny County, in the City of Pittsburgh, in the State of Pennsylvania and in the Councils of the Republican Party in the nation at large; and I believe that in the last decade there has been no member of the Senate of Pennsylvania who has done greater honor to this body than has the gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Max G. Leslie.

Any many who can be in public life for 45 years and preserve his escutcheon and his reputation as untarnished, as unblemished as has Senator Max G. Leslie, has achieved a record indeed most unusual; and he deserves the commendation and praise of his fellow citizens.

A group of his personal friends from the City of Pittsburgh, realizing that he does not care for any display, that he does not desire ostentatious advertisement of the fact that he has reached another milestone in his journey through life, gathered together last Saturday afternoon and in the short space of a few minutes decided that they would like to present the Senator with some token of their friendship and esteem. Some of them are here to-night. They decided upon something that is rather unusual, as a gift from them, something that will indeed evidence their personal esteem and affection. There are but two such articles in the United States,—known as the Chippendale Electric Orthophonic Radiola. Of all the radio receiving sets manufactured there are only two of this particular design, and Senator Leslie is the recipient of one of those two.

These friends of his want him to feel that this Radiola is an evidence of the harmony he has brought into their lives; and they desire that the sweet strains that will pour forth from it will be symbolic of the harmony, the peace and the happiness which they wish for him during the many, many years of usefulness which they hope are yet to come.

The Radiola is not here to-night, Senator Leslie, it is out in your home in Pittsburgh; and when you return at the end of this week's session you will find that beautiful gift, a symbol of the esteem and affection which these friends have for you. May we live, and may you live, to see many, many happy returns of your birthday.

Mr. LESLIE. Mr. President, friends and members of the Senate, I cannot respond as I would like to the remarks of the Lieutenant-Governor in presenting me with something that I have not yet seen, something of which I have had no knowledge whatever until to-night. I have noticed that quite a number of my Pittsburgh friends are here to-night, and I would make an effort to express my appreciation of their wonderfully generous thought in thus remembering me for the few things I have done, possibly, in the years of my activity,—I appreciate their kindly feeling, and I wish I could adequately respond to it: but I have not the words to express how deeply I reciprocate their esteem and affection, I can only repeat that

I do sincerely appreciate their thought, their love for me; and that feeling will go down with me to the last day that I live. I thank you all from the bottom of my heart.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. NORTON. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. NORTON, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1286, entitled:

An Act to amend section nine of the act, approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, (P. L. 736), entitled "An act making appropriations to institutions not wholly managed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania lines on the premises of such institutions, for the use of the Commonwealth, and providing for the collection thereof."

Also, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 1287, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the sixth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five, (P. L. 525), entitled "An act concerning the identification and marking of graves of soldiers and sailors of the Revolutionary War, imposing certain duties on the Adjutant General and on certain municipal officers, and making an appropriation," extending said act to soldiers and sailors of the war of one thousand eight hundred and twelve.

SENATE BILL No. 379 RETURNED WITH AMENDMENTS.

He also returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 379, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph two, section nine, article four and paragraph three, section fourteen, article four of the act approved the ninth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and eleven, (P. L. 756), entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania, and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith;" as amended.

with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that Rule 21, which requires amended bills to be noted on the calendar, be in this case dispensed with, and that the Senate proceed to the consideration of the amendments made by the House of Representatives to the foregoing bill.

Mr. EARNEST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Said amendments having been printed as required by the Constitution, were twice read as follows:

Amend section 1, page 2, line 14, by striking out the word "portion" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "portions"; also page 3, line 15, by striking out the word "the first cut-through in all" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "a distance of not less than twenty feet in all active"; also lines 18 and 19 by striking out the following: "no traveling except by mine officials or in which."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the same?

Section 3 The laws of every such society from and after five years from the date of the passage of this act shall provide that if the stated periodical contributions of the members are insufficient to pay all matured claims in full and to provide for the payment of its benefit fund obligations valued upon a valuation by one of the standards authorized in section twenty-three or section twenty-three B of this act and for the creation and maintenance of the funds required by its laws additional or increased rates of contribution [may] shall be collected from the members to meet such deficiency [Such laws may also provide that] or each certificate shall be charged with it proportion of any deficiency disclosed by the valuation [hereinafter] herein specified with lawful interest thereon

Section 2 That section ten of said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 10 The funds from which benefits shall be paid and the funds from which expenses of the society shall be defrayed shall be derived from regular monthly or other periodical rates of contribution paid by the members of the society and accretions of said funds and no part of any funds set aside for the payment of benefits shall be used for expenses other than expenses incurred in investigating or defending claims against such benefits funds Except as herein otherwise allowed every domestic society shall invest its funds only in securities permitted by the laws of this Commonwealth for the investment of the reserves of life insurance companies Unless the approval of the Insurance Commissioner shall be first obtained in writing no domestic society shall keep or maintain at a place outside of this Commonwealth any securities or other assets except such as are necessary for the collection of current dues and to enable it to comply with the laws of any other State or foreign country for the purpose of transacting business therein

Section 3 That section twenty-two of said act which was amended by the act approved the twenty-second day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred forty-three) entitled "An act to amend sections seventeen twenty and twenty-two of an act approved the twentieth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred sixteen) entitled 'An act defining fraternal benefit societies and their status authorizing such societies to create subordinate lodges and to pay benefits to members and their beneficiaries from funds collected and regulating such benefits and collections providing for the organization and incorporation of such societies and for their supervision regulation and examination by the Insurance Commissioner and for the admission of foreign societies designating tables of morality as a basis for rates of contribution requiring all societies to make annual and other reports and apponting the Insurance Commissioner as attorney for service of process providing penalties for any violations of this act exempting such societies from taxation and certain other societies from its provisions and requiring beneficial associations other than fraternal benefit societies to report to and be supervised by the Insurance Commissioner and repealing existing laws by providing for the practice and procedure to be followed by the Insurance Commissioner in refusing to license any foreign society and in revoking the license of such society and providing for jurisdiction practice and procedure upon appeals from the action of the Insurance Commissioner in such cases" be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 22 Before the Insurance Commissioner shall refuse to license any foreign society or shall revoke its authority to do business in this State he shall furnish to such society a concise statement of his reasons for such proposed refusal or revocation and give notice of a time and place of hearing at which such society may show cause why a license should be granted to it or why the license granted to it should not be revoked as the case may be

Upon request made to the Insurance Commissioner by such society he shall issue subpoenas to summon such witnesses as the society may desire to summon and upon the filing of a petition by such society duly verified by oath showing that the testimony of ecrtain persons named therein is competent and relevant to the issues to be heard by the Commissioner and that such persons are outside the State of Pennsylvania he shall appoint a suitable person duly qualified by law to administer oaths as a commissioner to take the testimony of such persons at such place or places specified in the petition as the testimony of such witnesses may be obtained Such testimony shall be taken upon oral examination and cross examination or upon written interrogatories and cross interrogatories as the Insurance Commissioner may determine and when so taken shall be reduced to writing and certified to the Insurance Commissioner by the commissioner so appointed and shall be made a part of the record of such hearing before the Insurance Commissioner The cost of issuing said subpoenas shall be paid to the commissioner by the society

Any notice of hearing required by this act shall be sufficient if sent by registered mail addressed to the society or to its president at its principal office in its home state territory province or county A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings had before the Insurance Commissioner at any hearing and all testimony taken at such hearings shall be reported stenographically and the completeness and accuracy of the record shall be certified by the Insurance Commissioner

All decisions rulings and findings of the Insurance Commissioner made under this act together with a statement of his reasons therefor shall be reduced to writing and filed in his office and he shall serve a copy thereof upon the society by registered mail addressed to the society or its president at its principal office in its home state territory province or country and the action of the Insurance Commissioner shall be reviewable upon appeal to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County in the following manner

Any Society aggrieved by any decision ruling or finding of the Insurance Commissioner may file within thirty days thereafter in the court of common pleas of Dauphin County a petition against the commissioner officially as defendant alleging therein in brief detail the action and decision complained of and praying for a reversal thereof Thereupon a summons shall issue returnable in ten days and shall be served with a copy of the petition upon the Insurance Commissioner On or before the return day the commissioner shall file an answer in which he shall allege by way of defense the grounds of his decision He shall also on or before the return day of such summons certify to the court of common pleas of Dauphin County the record of the proceedings to which the petition refers Such record shall include the testimony taken thereon the findings of fact and conclusions if any made by the commissioner based upon such testimony a copy of all notices and statements of reasons issued and served by the commissioner in the proceedings and a copy of the decision ruling or finding of the commissioner with his statement of reasons which the petition calls upon the court to reverse The cost of preparing and certifying such record shall be paid to the commissioner by the petitioner and taxed as part of the costs in the case to be paid as directed by the court upon the final determination of the case

Upon the filing of the commissioner's answer the case before the court of common pleas of Dauphin County shall be at issue without further pleadings and upon application of either party made thereafter the case shall be advanced and heard without further delay Mere technical irregularities in the procedure of the commissioner shall be disregarded

Such appeal shall not be supersedeas nor stay further proceedings by the Insurance Commissioner unless otherwise ordered by the court of common pleas of Dauphin County upon such terms and conditions as said court shall determine and then only in the case of an appeal from a decision ruling or finding of the commissioner revoking the authority of any such society to do business.

The case shall be heard upon the record certified to the court by the commissioner Additional testimony shall not be taken by the court but the court may in proper cases remit the record of the commissioner for the taking of further testimony

From the decision of the court of common pleas of Dauphin County an appeal may be taken to the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania as in other cases

In the case of any appeal or other proceeding for review heretofore taken from the decision of the Insurance Commissioner refusing to license any such society or revoking its authority to do business and now pending and undetermined in any court of this Commonwealth the court may make an appropriate order remanding the decision ruling or finding appealed from the Insurance Commissioner with directions to proceed in conformity with the provisions of this act and the making of such order shall restore the status of the appellant society as it was before the making of the decision ruling or finding appealed from

[Nothing contained in this section or in sections sixteen or twenty of this act shall however be taken or construed as preventing any such society from continuing in good faith all contracts made in this Commonwealth during the time such society was legally authorized to transact business herein]

Upon the revocation of the authority of any such foreign society to do business in this Commonwealth for the reason that the valuation of its certificates as hereinbefore provided shall show that the present value of future net contributions together with the admitted asses is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities such society shall reinsure all its business and contracts then in force in this Commonwealth within a reasonable time thereafter in such manner as shall be satisfactory to the Insurance Commissioner

Section 4 That section twenty-three of the said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 23 Every society transacting business under this act shall annually on or before the first day of March file with the Insurance Commissioner in such form as may require a statement under oath of its president and secretary or corresponding officers of its transactions for the calendar year standing on that date and shall include therein all accrued liability under unpaid claims where notice was received by the society at its home office before the end of such calendar year No society shall be required to include in such report any claim or claims notice of which had been received by the society at its home office before the end of such year. It shall also furnish such other information as the Insurance Commissioner may deem necessary to a proper exhibit of its business and plan of working. The commissioner may at other times require any further statement he may deem necessary to be made relating to such society

In addition to the annual report herein required each society shall annually report to the commissioner a valuation of its benefit fund obligations in force on December thirty-first last preceding excluding those entered into within the year for which the report is filed in cases where the contributions for the first year in whole or in part are used for current expenses Such report of valuation shall show as contingent liabilities the present mid-year value of the promised benefits provided in the constitution and laws of such society under certificates then subject to valuation at not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report less such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and as contingent assets the present mid-year value at the same rate of interest of the future net contributions provided in its constitution and laws as the same are in practice actually collected

In lieu of the above valuation any society at its option may show the net value of its benefit fund obligations subject to valuation at the rate of interest as hereinbefore provided and said net value when computed in the case of monthly contributions may be the means of the terminal value for the end of the preceding and of the current certificate years from which said tabular values shall be deducted such portion thereof as may have been assumed by other associations or companies and in addition there may be deducted the present worth of the probable future annual savings in death losses as specified in the preceding paragraph

Every such valuation report shall include as a contingent liability an estimate made by or on behalf of the society of the probable future payments under unpaid claims notice of which was received by the society at its home office before the end of the calendar year covered by the annual report but which has not been approved for payment at the date of such report

Deferred payments or instalments of claims whether involving a life contingency or not shall be included in the valuation report as contingent liabilities on the happening of the contingency upon which such payments or instalments are thereafter to be paid All such liability shall be the present worth of such future payments or instalments at the average rate of interest earned by the society during the five calendar years preceding the date of such annual report

Each valuation report shall be certified by a competent accountant or actuary or at the request and expense of the society verified by the actuary of the department of insurance of the home State of the society and shall be filed with the Insurance Commissioner on or before the first day of June succeeding the submission of the last preceding annual report

The minimum standard of valuation for all benefit fund obligations except for disability and dependent benefits shall be the National Fraternal Congress Table of Mortality hereinbefore referred to or at the option of the society by any other standard table or a table based upon the society's own experience of at least twenty years and covering not less than one hundred thousand lives with an interest assumption of not more than the average rate of interest earned on its invested assets during the five calendar years preceding such annual report

Every valuation report shall set forth clearly and fully the mortality and interest basis and the method of valuation Any society providing for disability benefits shall keep a separate account of the same in its said valuation report shall charge as a liability the balance to the credit of such fund or funds at the date of such valuation Where a combined contribution table is used by a society for both death and permanent and total disability benefits the valuation may be of death benefit only and in such case a separate accounting shall not be required

A report of such valuation with such explanation as the society may deem advisable shall be printed and mailed to each beneficial member of the society not later than July first of each year in lieu thereof may be published in the society's official paper and the issue containing the same mailed to each beneficial member of the society [The valuation herein provided for shall not be considered or regarded as a test of the financial solvency of the society but each society shall be held to be legally solvent so long as the funds in its possession are equal to or in excess of its matured liabilities]

Section 5 That section twenty-three B of said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 23B In lieu of the valuation hereinbefore required any society may value its certificates on a basis herein designated "accumulated basis" by crediting each member with the net amount contributed for each year and with interest at approximately the net rate earned and by charging him with his share of the losses for each year herein designated "cost of insurance" and carrying the balance if any to his credit The charge for the cost of insurance may be according to the actual experience of the society as applied to a table of mortality recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and shall take into consideration the amount at risk during each year which shall be the amount payable at death less the credit to the member

Unless specifically provided in its constitution or laws no charge shall be carried forward from the first valuation hereunder against any member for any past share of losses extending the contributions and credit If after the first valuation any member's share or losses for any year exceeds his credit including the contributions for the year the contributions shall be increased to cover his share of the losses

Any such excess share of losses chargeable to any member may be paid out of a fund or contributions especially created or required for such purpose Any member may transfer to any plans adopted by the society with net rates on which tabular reserves are maintained and on transfer shall be entitled to take such application of his credit as provided in the laws of the society Certificates issued rerated or readjusted on a basis providing for adequate rates with adequate reserves to mature such certificates upon assumption for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth shall be valued on such basis herein designated the "tabular basis" Provided That if on the first valuation under this section a deficiency in reserve shall be shown for any such certificate the same shall be valued on the accumulation basis

Whenever in any society having members upon the tabular basis and upon the accumulation basis the total of all costs of insurance provided for any years shall be insufficient to meet the actual death and disability losses for the year the deficiency may be met for the year from the available funds after setting aside all credits in the reserve or from increased contributions or by an increase in the number of assessments applied in the society as a whole or to classes of members as may be specified in its laws Savings from a lower amount of death losses may be returned in like manner as may be specified in its laws

If the laws of the society so provide the assets representing the reserves of any separate class of members may be carried separate for such class as if in an independent society and the required reserve accumulation of such class to set part shall not thereafter be merged with the assets of other classes of the society

A table showing the credits to individual members for each age and year of entry and showing opposite each credits the tabular reserve required in the whole life or other plan of insurance specified in the contract according to assumptions for mortality and interest recognized by the law of this Commonwealth and adopted by the society shall be filed by the society with each annual report and also be furnished to each member before July first of each year

In lieu of the aforesaid statement there may be furnished to each member within the same time a statement giving the credit for such member and giving the tabular reserve and level rate required for the transfer carrying out the plan of insurance specified in the contract No table or statement need be made or furnished where the reserves are maintained on the tabular basis. For this purpose individual bookkeeping accounts for each member shall not be required and all calculations may be made by actuarial methods

Nothing herein contained shall prevent the maintenance of such surplus over and above the credits on the accumulation basis and the reserves on the tabular basis as any society may provide by or pursuant to its laws nor be construed as giving to the individual member any right or claim to any such reserve or credit other than in manner and as expressed in its constitution and laws

Section 6 That the said Act be and the same is hereby amended by adding after Section twenty-three B thereof the following new section

Section 23C If the valuation of the certificates as herein before provided shall show that the present value of future net contributions together with the admitted assets is less than the present value of the promised benefits and accrued liabilities such society shall within three years from the date of the passage of this act either collect additional assessments or increase the rates of contribution from the members to meet such deficiency or classify its members according to the adequacy of the rates they are contributing and charge each class with its proportion of any deficiency disclosed by any such valuation

Section 7 That section twenty-five of said act be and the same is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 25 Any person who shall solicit membership for or in any manner assist in procuring membership in any fraternal benefit society not authorized to do business in this Commonwealth shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than [fifty] five hundred nor more than [two hundred] one thousand dollars Any officer agent or employe of any society neglecting or refusing to comply with or violating any of the provisions of this act the penalty for which refusal or violation is not specified shall upon conviction thereof be fined not exceeding [two hundred] one thousand dollars

Section 8 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

And the amendments made thereto having been printed as required by the Constitution,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HARRIS. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 783 has received considerable attention. It has been the subject of many communications as well as of several meetings; it has been sent back to committee twice, and has been on the postponed calendar four different times. Great objection was raised to this bill by the Modern Woodmen of America. It was presented at the request of Secretary Talbot, and I am happy to say now that he has met with the people who are interested, who were so greatly opposed to it, and they have reached a very satisfactory agreement.

I will read to you a letter which will perhaps show that the Modern Woodmen of America have withdrawn all objections to this bill. The letter is addressed to me, and is from M. H. Wyckoff, State Deputy. It is as follows:

"Through the influence of our friends in the State Senate satisfactory amendments have been made to Senate Bill 783, introduced by yourself, and our Society has withdrawn all opposition to the bill, as is evidenced by the following telegram received from our head officer, which I quote in full:

'Lincoln, Neb., April 3, 1929.

Mr. M. H. Wyckoff,
613 Fitzsimmons Bldg.,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

Replying your telegram please accept my personal appreciation and the gratitude of our management for your tireless and successful campaign in protecting our interests in the Legislature. You have kept the faith and won a great fight. Senate Bill Seven Eight Three as amended wholly satisfactory now. Kindly convey to our friends in the Legislature our appreciation and our gratitude for their assistance to you in protecting the Modern Woodmen.

A. R. Talbot, Head Consul.'

Trusting this letter will be sufficient for your purpose, I am
Fraternally and sincerely yours,
M. H. Wyckoff, State Deputy."

Mr. President, I think this sets aside all doubts as to the Modern Woodmen now being for this bill, and I ask that it be passed.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I think I need hardly add that the State Deputy of the Modern Woodmen of America has wired me along the same lines as Senator Harris has read. They have also agreed to write letters to the members of the House, telling them that all objections to the bill are withdrawn by the Modern Woodmen.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

JOHN S. FISHER.

VETO OF SENATE BILL No. 356.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval Senate Bill No. 356, file folio 307, entitled, "An Act to repeal the act approved the seventeenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, (Pamphlet Laws one thousand twenty-one), entitled 'An act fixing the number compensation mileage and duties of the officers and employes of the General Assembly and providing for their election or appointment term of office and manner of filling vacancies.' "

This bill would repeal the Act of June 17, 1915, P. L. 1021, which fixed the number, compensation, mileage and duties of officers and employes of the General Assembly and provided for their election or appointment, term of office and the manner of filling vacancies. The Act of 1915 was unquestionably repealed by the Act of July 1, 1919, P. L. 717, which covered exactly the same ground as the Act of 1915 and repealed all acts and parts of acts inconsistent therewith.

No useful purpose is served by enacting legislation to repeal an act which has already been repealed.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present.

Mr. SONES. Mr. President, I second the motion

The motion was agreed to.

VETO OF SENATE BILL No. 345.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I return herewith without my approval Senate Bill No. 345, file folio 287, entitled "An Act to repeal sections two and three of the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred eight), entitled 'An act to fix the salaries of the judges of the Supreme Court the judges of the Superior Court the judges of the courts of common pleas and the judges of the orphans' courts' ".

This bill proposes to repeal sections two and three of the Act of July 1, 1919, P. L. 708, which fixes the salaries of judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts.

The salaries of these judges are now fixed by the Act of March 10, 1921, P. L. 29, which repealed all prior inconsistent legislation.

Accordingly sections two and three of the Act of 1919 have already been repealed. No useful purpose is to be served in again repealing them.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass the objections of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

MONDAY, April 8, 1929.

The House met at 9.00 o'clock P. M.
The SPEAKER (Aaron B. Hess) in the Chair.

The Chaplain, Rev. Martin W. Schweitzer, Ph. D., offered the following prayer:

Father in heaven, we bow our hearts in reverence before Thy love. There is no day without its reminder of Thy care and never a twilight that does not bring the healing of Thy peace. Continue Thy mercy towards us, we beseech Thee. Help us when we come into temptation that it may not be an occasion for stumbling but a proving of our loyalty.

Let the beauty and the fragrance of the world be the servants to woo our wandering hearts to Thee again. Sweeten the jealous spirit with the oil of Thy gladness, cleanse our lustful minds and scatter the dreams of vanity. May we never grow weary of the service into which Thou callest us. Help us in our fellowship to strive to do bètter and dare to make life more worthy of Thy love. In His name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, April 3, 1929.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday. April 3, 1929, when, on motion of Mr. Peck, seconded by Mr. Batchelor, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTION.

INCREASE OF FEDERAL AID ROAD APPROPRIATION.

Mr. GRIFFITH offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over under the rules:

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1929.

Whereas, The full development of the various industries of the Commonwealth demands the construction of more improved highways, and

Whereas, The road building program as outlined and contemplated in the Commonwealth, involves the improvement of many roads of an interstate nature, justifying the co-operation and assistance of the Federal Government in its development, and

Whereas, The Congress of the United States has for many years been appropriating Federal aid for road construction at the rate of seventy-five million dollars ($75,000,000) per year, and

Whereas, In view of the rapidly increasing traffic on the interstate highways within the State, it is apparent that the building of roads in this State must be speeded up in order to adequately meet the needs of such interstate traffic, therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That we hereby recommend to the President of the United States and to the Congress, that at the coming special session of Congress the annual Federal aid road appropriation be increased from seventy-five million dollars ($75,000,000) per year to not less than one hundred million dollars ($100,000,000) per year, and be it further

Resolved, That on the passage of this resolution the Chief Clerk of the House shall certify a copy hereof to the President of the United States, to the President of the Senate, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, to the chairman of the Committee on Roads of the Senate and to the Chairman of the Committee on Roads of the House of Representatives, and to each State Legislature now in session.

RESOLUTION.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 835 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. GOODNOUGH offered a resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1929.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 835, 652 Printers No., White File Folio 4039, entitled: "An act to repeal sections one to three and to amend sections four six ten fourteen sixteen seventeen twenty twenty-one twenty-three twenty-five and twenty-six of the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and ten) entitled: 'An act allowing and regulating boxing sparring and wrestling matches and exhibitions establishing a State Athletic Commission making an appropriation therefor and appropriating moneys re ceived for monument and memorial purposes and prescribing penalties'" be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL No. 933 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. REED offered a resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1929.

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 933, Printer's No. 561, White Folio 3359, entitled: "An act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred nine) entitled 'An act providing for the postponement of the lien of a mortgage and bond accompanying the same to the lien of another mortgage or mortgages and band accompanying and providing for the recording of the agreement therefor' providing additional methods [or] of postponing such liens and validating certain postponements" be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,
The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1871, (Senate Bill No. 379), as follows:

An Act to amend paragraph two section nine article four and paragraph three section fourteen article four of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred fifty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" as amended

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That paragraph two section nine article four of the act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred fifty-six) entitled "An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith" which was amended by section one of the act approved the seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-five) entitled "An act to amend paragraph two section nine article four paragraph three section fourteen article four and sections one and three of article ten of an act approved the ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and fifty-six) entitled 'An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith'" is hereby further amended to read as follows

In such portions of a dry and dusty mine where explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall direct and see that the rooms and entries are moistened by water or other efficient means as often as necessary to keep the dust in damp condition and he shall direct and see that the dust is loaded and taken out of the mine as often as necessary [Provided however That the above provisions shall not prohibit the substitution for water of any other substance which will render coal dust on the sides bottom and timbers inert to explosibility]

In lieu of the above provisions rock dust may be substituted for or used in conjunction with water under the following conditions The rock dust to be used shall be pulverized so that one hundred per cent will pass through a sieve having twenty meshes per lineal inch and fifty per cent or more will pass through a sieve having two hundred meshes per lineal inch It shall not contain more than five per cent combustible matter nor more than twenty-five per cent of quartz or free silica particles and not be unduly absorbent of moisture Preference shall be given to the lighter colored rock dust

The rock dusting shall be done with such regularity and frequency that all surfaces required to be rock dusted shall be kept in such a condition that the incombustible content of the adhering dust shall not be less than fifty-five per cent

The rock dust shall be distributed on top bottom and sides of all main haulages and all active entries to the last open cut-through and to a distance of not less than twenty feet in all active rooms and pillars workings and in all returns airways where hauling or traveling is done

In other places in which no hauling is done the rock dust maybe distributed by the air current or other means provided be distributed by the air current or other means provided that the amount specified in this act is distributed or such places may be protected by rock dust barriers which shall be subject to the approval of the mine inspectors as to design and location When such barriers are installed the amount of rock dust used shall be at least one hundred (100) pounds per square foot of average cross section of entry at the barrier zone The barriers shall be maintained at all times in workable condition and inspected monthly and a report of such inspection showing the condition of the barrier shall be entered on the space provided for such purpose in the book furnished by the Department of Mines for recording the rock dust samples

The superintendent shall see that a sufficient number of samples of dust are gathered each month from the road roof rib and timbers on each split of air and tested to determine if any part of the mine required redusting and a record shall be kept in a book provided for that purpose showing the location at which samples have been taken and the results of the analyses or tests The book shall be furnished by the Department of Mines in the same manner as is provided for the record books of the mine officials When the working faces of entries airways rooms and other working places are kept damp by watering as provided in this article the outbye portions of such places when required shall be treated with rock dust or water

If in the judgment of the Mine Inspector of the district any mine or portion of a mine is of such a dry and dusty nature as to cause a hazard from coal dust he shall direct that the said mine or portion of a mine be rock dusted or watered as provided in this article However should the operator superintendent or mine foreman of any mine be dissatisfied with the decision of the mine inspector in regard to the watering or rock dusting or in regard to rock dust barriers of any mine or portion of a mine it shall be the duty of the dissatisfied person to appeal from such decision to the Secretary of Mines who shall at once direct two or more of the other inspectors to accompany promptly the inspector of the district to make further examination into the matter in dispute If the said inspectors shall agree with the decision of the inspector of the district their decision shall be final unless the dissatisfied person shall within seven days of the receipt of the decision of the committee of inspectors appeal therefrom to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which said mine is situated whereupon the court or the judges appoint a commission of five persons as required by article ten of this act and thereafter the proceedings had shall be as prescribed by sections one and two of said article ten

Section 2 That paragraph three section fourteen article four of said act which was amended by section two of said amending act is hereby further amended to read as follows

No shot-firer or any person shall fire a shot in any working place in any mine if his safety lamp can detect explosive gas at the roof In gaseous dusty mines in which approved locked safety lamps are used he shall fire no holes unless the entries and rooms which are dry and dusty are so thoroughly wetted as to prevent the existence of any dry dust for a distance of not less than eighty feet from the hole to be fired unless the dust is rendered inert to explosibility by [some other means] rock dust Provided however That in all mines wherein the coal is being blasted from the solid the mine foreman shall direct and see that the provisions of this section are fully complied with

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2099, entitled:

An Act to amend article twenty of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 209) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith."

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING (SPECIAL ORDER)

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 210, entitled:

An Act to require the owner of each motor vehicle registered in pursuance of the laws of this State to provide as a prerequisite to the registration thereof and to maintain during the entire period of such registration a means whereby such owner can and will respond in damages to the extent in this act provided in satisfaction of the legal liability of said owner and or of the person operating said motor vehicle with the consent of said owner for injury (including death resulting therefrom) to person and for damage to property resulting from the negligent maintenance use or operation of such motor vehicle within this Commonwealth giving said owner the election of providing and maintaining such means of responding in damages either by filing an insurance policy or policies or a certificate or surety bond or by satisfying the Secretary of Highways and or his agent of the financial responsibility of such owner aiding such owner in procuring and maintaining such insurance policy or policies or bond providing for the issuance of certificates of compliance and providing for penalties and for methods of enforcement.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not going to impose on your time by any lengthy explanation of the bill that is now before you for your consideration. But this matter has been before different legislatures since 1921, and to my mind there is a popular demand for legislation of this kind. It is my thought to put this bill before you now so that we may show to the people of this Commonwealth, from whom I have received many letters, just where the responsibility lies for the passage or non-passage of this very humane legislation. I believe that the members of this House are quite as familiar with what this bill proposes to do as I am. I have not the slightest doubt but that every member of this body has at some time or other had some concrete case, some pitiful case, brought to his or her attention, some one among your constituents who has been maimed or who has been killed by some irresponsible operator of a motor vehicle. The sponsor of this bill never intended or never claimed it was going to prevent accidents. It simply proposes to do this: To make it possible for those who are maimed or are the beneficiaries of those who may be killed to have some redress if it should be proven that the motor vehicle causing the accident was negligently operated. It provides four methods by which you can satisfy the Department of Highways. The matter is entirely up to the applicant for registration to satisfy the Department of Highways in four different ways. The first, by an ordinary policy of insurance; the second, by a surety bond; the third by a financial statement, and if the Secretary of the Department is satisfied as to your responsibility to respond in damages it is up to him to issue your license. Now then, Section (d) if I may enlighten the members of the House who have received telegrams from automobile clubs and from my information they are all in the insurance business themselves offering a low rate of insurance as an incentive to membership, and the production of a certificate from any one of these organizations, showing that the applicant holds one of their certificates of coverage that may be satisfactory to the Department. It also provides for repeal and cancellation of the license by the Department. In order to satisfy the minds of a great many members as to whether the companies will put up their rates, that is also provided for in the bill by making the company submit rates of insurance to the Insurance Commissioner, and he has the final say as to the rates. At a public hearing held in Philadelphia, there were twelve speakers who appeared before the Committee on Insurance, and out of twelve I was told seven of them favored the adoption of the bill. Four of them were neither for or against the bill, but said there should be legislation of some kind to cover these cases, and there was one speaker to appear in opposition to this legislation,—the same lone wolf who has appeared since 1921, the paid lobbist for the second-hand dealers, the people who sell machines to irresponsible parties for thirty-five to fifty dollars, and they compel them to buy insurance involving protection, not for you or me, but for themselves. The time has come when legislation should be provided for the traveling public, for the courts have said that the highways belong to the walking public, and not to the driving public. I am going to read a letter to you from Fred. Schwarz, Coroner of Philadelphia, who appeared before this committee. This letter is addressed to Hon. John Fisher, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Under separate cover I am forwarding to you a detailed report of the fatalities which have occurred in the County of Philadelphia during the twelve month period ending December 31st, 1928. This report will contain a record as to the number of persons kiled by automobiles, with particular reference to the age of the drivers of the said automobiles. I have particularly gathered for your information a record as to the number of the owners of such automobiles who have carried insurance, and those who have carried no insurance.

I feel that you will want this data in order that you may become cognizant of the severe hardships that have been placed upon the families of the deceased in the cases where the owners were without insurance. You will note from this report that persons go out in the market, buy upon the instalment plan a second-hand automobile for as low as $30.00 down payment, and then operate these automobiles about the City of Philadelphia, causing deaths.

It is my thought that these statistics will show you the need of Compulsory Insurance before persons shall be permitted to operate automobiles. I believe that this will not only reduce the number of deaths, but will avoid a great number of accidents where persons are injured and maimed for life. The Compulsory Automobile Insurance Bill will save a great number of lives during the coming year as well as the years to come, and will prevent a great number of persons becoming injured. It will do away with that class of irresponsible persons who operate automobiles.

I feel that it is your desire to make the highways of the State of Pennsylvania safer places for citizens to travel.

I further wish to call your attention to the fact that the lights on automobiles are responsible for a great number of accidents. They are blinding, and legislation should be passed to do away with blinding lights. May I also suggest that boys should not be permitted to be employed to drive five to ten ton trucks? To operate a five to ten ton truck is a man's job, and a person under twenty-one years of age should not be permitted to operate these trucks. We have had a great number of cases where boys under nineteen years of age operated large trucks, and due to their not having the required strength to control such trucks, deaths occurred. I believe that no person under the age of eighteen should be permitted to operate any car.

I trust that you will understand the spirit with which this letter is forwarded to you. It is solely and exclusively in the interests of each and every citizen of this Commonwealth.

Each of these recommendations is made after a careful study of all of the data gathered by me in each and every case that has come before me.

If I can be of any further assistance in submitting any further data that you may want, I am at your service.

Respectfully submitted,
FRED. SCHWARTZ, Jr.,
Coroner, Philadelphia County.

As I said before, members of this House, I am putting this bill squarely before you so you may let the people know whether you are for the interests of this so-called automobile club that has sent out telegrams; the second hand dealers, or whether you are for the walking public. You can never tell whether it will be yourself or one of the members of your family that will be called upon to ask the question whether the operator of a motor vehicle carries insurance, and if the answer is "No," that is all you get. I submit the bill for your careful consideration.

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Haws, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAWS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. PEELOR. There are three methods, a policy, a bond and a certificate?

Mr. HAWS. Yes.

Mr. PEELOR. A policy to the owner, that is, the owner must take out——

Mr. HAWS. Five to ten thousand dollars for personal liability and one thousand dollars for property damage.

Mr. PEELOR. He would have to give a bond for not more than thirty thousand dollars?

Mr. HAWS. That is for more than one machine.

Mr. PEELOR. Then he would take out a policy for $11,000 for one machine, and any one that would put up a bond for $30,000 might put a hundred machines on the public thoroughfare and would only be responsible to the extent of thirty thousand dollars, whereas the one who only gives a bond for $11,000 can use but one machine, is that true?

Mr. HAWS. That is the way the bill reads, but I do not think that every machine that they would have would have a bond. People who would have more than one machine and would have the alternative of putting up $30,000, could easily satisfy the Highway Department as to their responsibility in being able to respond to damages to the extent of five or ten thousand dollars.

Mr. PEELOR. Any one who would put up his bond for $30,000 could put any number of machines on the highway and thereby add to the danger of public travel?

Mr. HAWS. That is the way the bill reads, yes.

Mr. PEELOR. He who takes out a policy must pay a premium on his policy, and he who gives a $30,0000 bond might not have to pay a cent or be liable for anything because he could give a satisfactory bond?

Mr. HAWS. I don't get that.

Mr. PEELOR. Anybody who puts up a bond of $30,000 may do that without any expense at all?

Mr. HAWS. If it is a surety bond, it is an expense.

Mr. PEELOR. If it be anything that would satisfy the Department and they might take something other than a surety bond.

Mr. HAWS. Certainly, the Department would not take a bond that was not worth that much money.

Mr. PEELOR. No, all right. Then if a bond were given for $30,000 there is no limitation on the number of machines he might put on the public highways and thereby endanger the public?

Mr. HAWS. No, sir.

Mr. PEELOR. When it comes to satisfying the Department it would not be necessary either to have a policy with a premium or a bond but merely satisfy the Department that they have sufficient to guarantee.

Mr. HAWS. That they are able to respond in damages, yes.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Haws.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Haws, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAWS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. Under this act does it not provide that the Secretary give notice of the revocation of the license of any car owner?

Mr. HAWS. Yes.

Mr. TURNER. Under the fiscal code that we passed the licensing of all automobiles is under the Department of Revenue?

Mr. HAWS. That would not interfere with this bill.

Mr. TURNER. What has the Secretary of Highways to do with the licensing of cars under that act?

Mr. HAWS. I suppose they have coordinated that Department with the Highway Department, as they have every other department.

Mr. TURNER. Would it not have to be provided for in this bill?

Mr. HAWS. I don't think so. This has nothing to do with coordinating the departments.

Mr. TURNER. Well, if the Secretary of Highways has nothing to do with the licensing, and the Department of Revenue has, what has the Secretary of Highways to do with the revocation of the license?

Mr. HAWS. I understand they are coordinated, the Department of Highways and the Department of Revenue.

Mr. TURNER. Not as to the licensing of automobiles.

Mr. HAWS. The Department of Highways does it now.

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the last week end I took up the study of this bill with the Committee and we tried to approach this subject with a strictly unprejudiced mind, and after studying the reports from various states where they have tried out automobile insurance similar to ours and where they have placed more of a stress upon the responsibility of the operator, and after reading the report of the Hoover Committee relative to eliminating compulsory insurance, we came to the conclusion, as has been stated by the gentleman from Philadelphia, that an insurance policy will not decrease the number of risks. In other words, the number of fire insurance policies on properties will not decrease the number of fires. The Association studied one hundred properties as scheduled along that line, that is a comparison of where there is no protection, that is no insurance on the properties, and where they do carry insurance and they found the percentage of fires or of damages incurred to be the greatest where they have the protection of insurance. We will all acknowledge that there is some virtue in this bill. But, members of the House, as Secretary Davis has said eighty-five per cent. of us are poor and if that is true we have already placed a burden upon the poor people of our State by putting one dollar additional on the operator's license and putting an additional cent on the cost of gasoline by increasing the gasoline tax; and if we now require these persons to carry an insurance policy such as is described in this bill I feel that it will defeat the very purpose we have hoping for and that is to increase the receipts so that we may have more roads, and I am afraid that it will drive from five to ten per cent. of the poor people off of the roads, because they cannot afford to operate an automobile. I think this bill should be voted down.

Mr. VOLTZ. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is not very often that I address you, not because I cannot, but because I am a little defective in hearing, and do not get up; but on this bill I can't keep quiet. During my first term I introduced a similar bill, a compulsory insurance bill, and I could not get any satisfaction, and I did not know why until after the session adjourned. Then I found out it was because of the insurance companies. It was because the insurance in that bill was compulsory insurance and they were a little afraid of it for fear that the same thing would happen to this bill that happened to the compensation law, the state would take over the insurance and they would not be in it. This bill does away with that. The State does not want to assume that responsibility in that way. At a meeting several weeks ago in Philadelphia, our chairman called upon those who were opposed to the bill. There were fifty or sixty persons in the room, and there was no response. Those in favor of the bill were called upon and there was a ready response. One of them was a man on crutches. He walked into the council chamber, and said: "Here is an example of what no insurance means. I was struck down on the street six months ago, crippled as you see, in the hospital up to a few weeks ago, and the party that knocked me down was irresponsible. It was a fifty or seventy-five dollar machine, and I had no chance for recovery."

Now, what I want to impress on your mind is this: That I do not have an automobile of my own, nor do I represent any one interested in an automobile, but I have got the care of the public in mind, and the public in this State, eight out of every ten don't own cars. In other words, eighty per cent. of our people are people who walk on the sidewalks. We come here session after session, and we vote for what? Fifty millinos for what? To improve the highways. To improve them for what? To improve the highways for those who have automobiles to travel over. You say they pay for it. And we don't offer a bill here for fifty cents for sidewalks for pedestrians to walk on in safety. They must walk on the street. I tell you it is high time that a bill such as this should be passed in the interest of the public. We are here to represent the public, not any specific class, but all. We are not misrepresentatives, but we are representatives of the people who have sent us here.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the sponsor of the bill?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Haws, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HAWS. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. KAHLE. May I ask the gentleman from Philadelphia just what accidents this bill will cover. Will this bill cover all manner of accidents or just those accidents which have been proven to be due to the neglect of the driver?

Mr. HAWS. Certainly, only those which can be shown to have been the fault of the driver of the machine.

Mr. KAHLE. Then, if you are to recover anything under this bill you must go into court and prove that the driver of the automobile has been negligent?

Mr. HAWS. No, not necessarily, if you can convince the insurance company of that fact.

Mr. KAHLE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I represent a rural county. If we pass this bill it will put an additional expense upon hundreds of farmers who own and operate automobiles and trucks as a necessary part of their business. Many of them have two, or even four, automobiles and trucks on their farms and they must take out insurance on each of them and with the other additional expenses that have been imposed upon them I feel that it is an injustice to impose this bill upon them too. I would ask you to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, may I say in reply to Dr. Kahle, that the reasons given two years ago at a public hearing that was had on this very same bill the very same question was asked at that time, "What about the farmer?" and at that time it was stated that any farmer who owned an automobile would also have sufficient property with which he could satisfy the Highway Department of his ability to respond in damages for any injuries inflicted, and he seemed to be perfectly satisfied with this statement.

On the quetsion recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the ycas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I call up House Bill No. 536, file folio 2289, on page 51 of today's calendar, bills on third reading postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. Witkin,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 536, entitled:

An Act to fix the salaries and compensation of the judges of the Supreme Court, the judges of the Superior Court, the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas, the judges of the Orphans' Courts, the judges of the Municipal Court of Philadelphia, and the judges of the County Court of Allegheny County.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is the judges' salary increase bill, and it follows a recommendation made by the Salary Survey Board, the Board appointed during the last session of the Legislature. The increase provided for in this bill is a flat increase to every judge in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania of two hundred dollars, making no distinction between the judges in the rural counties and the judges in the cities.

May I say to the members of the House that in my opinion this is one of the most meritorious measures that has been presented to this body. The last increase in the salary of the judges of the Supreme and Superior Courts was in 1921; the last salary as to the common pleas courts and the municipal courts, was in the year 1919. I take it that there is not a person within the hearing of my voice who will dispute the fact that the purchasing value of a dollar has materially decreased since 1919, and yet we have permitted our judges, who are in a rather peculiar position in regard to even asking or seeking a raise in their salary, to remain in that position. Statistics show that the value of a dollar has decreased almost half. May I say to the members of this House that this bill will not put the judges of Pennsylvania on the plane they should be, it will not adequately compensate them. I believe that I am correct in saying that the State of Pennsylvania is far behind every other state of its kind or size in the United States in so far as the payment of the judges' salaries is concerned. I think it is time that we increase their salaries, and I hope that you will agree with me that we ought to give the judges at least such a raise as we think would be proper. May I ask your support on this bill, and ask you to vote "aye" in order that we may do in this session just a mite toward giving the judges of our State what they are properly entitled to, or at least the minimum that we ought to give them at this time.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE.

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the Law and Order Committee be discharged from further consideration of House Bill No. 742, pink file folio 2191, entitled:

An Act legalizing healthful and wholesome games, pastimes, diversions, entertainments and amusements on Sunday, and providing for the regulation of the same by the various municipalities of the Commonwealth, and further legalizing the sale of certain commodities on Sunday.

Mr. MULDOWNEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. STEEDLE. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I realize to the utmost that this procedure is one that is not readily digested by the membership of the House. However, it might be well to inform this body of the facts, and give a little resume of the history of this bill.

This bill before its introduction into the House was placed into the hands of the Governor of the Commonwealth. He read it thoroughly and informed the ladies and gentlemen who formed the committee from all parts of the State that if the House in its wisdom saw fit, and likewise the Senate, to pass this bill, this would be the only one of the various amendments to the Blue Laws that he would sign. This bill was introduced by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Wettach, on February 4th. I do not know with what speed it was referred to the Committee, or when the chairman of the committee received it, but that is the date of its introduction.

The chairman of the committee, and I regret very much to say this, has been anything but courteous to the membership of the committee, as well as to the people of the Commonwealth who called upon the lady early after its introduction and asked for a public hearing. She turned a deaf ear to all those appeals. I know of no time in my experience as a member of this House, either in the capacity of chairman, or as a member, that the chairman of a committee turned a deaf ear to a bill that was to correct a crying need in various districts of Pennsylvania. The committee that requested a public hearing was not composed of people of mediocre standing, but there were men of high standing and likewise women of high standing in the State, on that committee, and the least that could have been done would have been to have held a public hearing, that the proponents of the bill might be heard, and that the opponents of the bill might be heard. This was denied to the people of the Commonwealth by the chairman of the committee. Let me cite further: Last Wednesday morning she was very willing that we should have a public hearing this week, a most ridiculous circumstance that we should sit down in the closing hours of this House and have a public hearing, when it would be almost impossible to pass the bill in the House, or in the Senate. This bill does not commercialize sports, but it is an amateur proposition, it permits children—

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that this is a motion as to whether or not the committee shall be discharged from further consideration of the measure?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman understands the motion correctly.

Mr. STERLING. The merits of the bill should therefore not be discussed.

The SPEAKER. Do you raise the point of order?

Mr. STERLING. I do, sir.

The SPEAKER. The Chair sustains the point of order and the gentleman from Allegheny cannot discuss the bill under this motion.

Mr. STEEDLE. Then I shall confine my remarks to the motion.

As I said before, I realize that attempting to proceed with a proposition of this kind is almost impossible. I respect committee rights as much as any other member of this House, but when a lady or a gentleman on a committee, who acts as its chairman, denies the right of a public hearing, and upon being interviewed by representatives of the public press, kids them along and passes the buck, waiting for the hour of twelve to arrive when we are going to adjourn, then I think it is time we ought to have an opportunity to express upon the floor of this House whether we feel justified in the passing of a motion of this kind, and discharge a committee from further consideration of the bill. It is for that reason that I made the motion to discharge the committee from further consideration of the bill, and I hope the members of the House will vote "aye" on the motion.

Mrs. ADAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill has been considered and reconsidered on different occasions, and voted down by a large majority of my committee. It was my desire from the very first that the committee should have a hearing on this bill, but the committee voted it down.

Some of the objections to this bill—may I refer to the bill?

The SPEAKER. The lady must confine her remarks to the motion before the House.

Mrs. ADAMS. It was my desire that this committee should have a hearing, but they voted it down, and I ask the House to vote against this motion.

Mrs. KIRKBRIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am Secretary of this committee, and according to the minutes, this bill was voted upon and indefinitely postponed at a committee meeting. When the call for a public hearing came the chairman told the membership of this committee and it was voted down again. I think it is very unfair when two efforts have been made to comply with this request to say that there has not been an attempt at fair play. Mrs. Adams has been very fair with both sides and I think we always have to abide by the decision of the majority.

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is, I believe, the first time during this session, that the members have been asked to discharge a committee from consideration of a bill. The lady from Fayette, Mrs. Adams, as chairman of the Law and Order Committee, informs the House that the bill which is the subject of the motion before us, has twice been negatively acted upon by the committee. I feel, therefore, that the action of the committee should be sustained by voting down the motion.

Mr. WILSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise as a member of this committee to appeal to the membership of this House, not on the score of this bill, without regard to your feelings on it, or what committee it is, to sustain the orderly method by which the business of this House is conducted. If the committee chairman and the members of the committee act intelligently upon measures that have been placed in the custody of the committee, then this House should sustain them, unless there is some good and sufficient reason for not doing so; otherwise there is no reason for committee meetings or for the action of committees on legislation introduced in this House. The business of the House is necessarily conducted by committees. It is impossible for the legislation introduced into this House to be considered by the House in general. This bill has been referred to this committee, and we have given it fair and earnest consideration, and in the absence of some evidence to impune the motives of the committee, we feel, as members of the committee, that we are entitled to the confidence of the House, and I ask the members of the House to stand by your committee and to vote to support them in the action they have taken.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, Mr. Sterling of Philadelphia raised the point of order that no discussion as to the merits of the bill may be considered on a motion to discharge the committee from further consideration. Rule 40 of the House Rules contains no such provision. That rule sets forth, "That when a bill or resolution has been ten days in the hands of a committee, after having been referred to it, any committee may be discharged from the further consideration of the bill or resolution by a majority vote of all the members elect." That is where the rule stops. It seems to me, I am not concerned at all about this discussion that has been going on, that on a motion of so much importance as this, and particularly in view of the fact that the members of the House do not have the bill before them, that a discussion of the merits of the bill to determine the life or death of this bill should be permitted. I therefore ask that the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Steedle, be permitted to discuss the merits of the bill for the information of the House.

Mr. MUSMANNO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I also arise to a defense, if a defense is needed, of the chairman of the Law and Order Committee. Her whole conduct in this matter has been above reproach. It might almost be said, like Caesar's wife, above suspicion. It may be, Mr. Speaker, that the chairman of the Law and Order Committee erred in waiting eight weeks to call a meeting of that important committee, but if she erred, it was only an error, and not an intended deprivation of legislative rights. I know as a matter of fact that upon the two occasions that this committee met, she presided with absolute impartiality and complete fairness to all parties. The responsibility for the failure to report out this bill rests entirely upon the committee. Therefore, any vote to discharge this committee from further consideration of the bill cannot be construed by any stretch of the imagination as criticism of the chairman of the Law and Order Committee.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the Law and Order Committee in its wisdom saw fit to take the unprecedented, unreasonable, unfair and defiant attitude of denying a hearing on this bill. The subject of this bill is something that has been discussed and is now being discussed in every home in the Commonwealth. I do not wish to encroach, Mr. Speaker, upon the rule of order, which prevents my speaking on the merits of the bill, and for that reason, I will bring my remarks at once to a close. I had hoped that we might indicate to this Assembly that there is nothing dangerous in this bill, because it only legalizes what everybody does now on Sunday, what every member of this House does on Sunday. So, therefore, Mr. Speaker,——

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. WITKIN. The gentleman must confine his remarks to the motion, and cannot speak on the merits of the bill; the the same point of order raised by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling.

Mr. SPANGLER. I raised a point of order, and I ask for a ruling as to whether or not the merits of the bill cannot be discussed on a motion for the discharge of a committee.

Mr. MUSMANNO. I will abide by the decision of the Chair when I learn what the decision is. Has the Chair ruled upon the point of order raised by the gentleman from York, Mr. Spangler?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled that the merits of bill cannot be discussed under this motion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. GEORGE W. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I request a roll call on this motion.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 1958, file folio 4991, on page 53 of todays calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1958, entitled:

An Act relating to corporations, providing methods of determining what stockholders shall be entitled to notice of and to vote at meetings, or to receive dividends or allotments of rights, or to exercise rights, and the effect thereon of transfers of stock within sixty days of any election or meeting.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which this bill passed on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. SCHILLING. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. FLYNN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend section 1, page 1, line 11, by inserting after the word "effect" the following: "Provided however that in case of any such closing of the stock transfer books notice thereof shall be mailed to the stockholders at their last known address as the same appears upon the books of the corporations at least ten days before the closing thereof."

Amend section 2, page 2, line 6, by striking out the words "nor less than ten."

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 1060 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. WILSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution, which was twice read, considered and adopted.

In the House of Representatives, April 8th, 1929.

Resolved (if the Senate concur) that House Bill No. 1060, 653 Printer's No., White File Folio 4051, entitled "An act to amend section one of the act approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (Pamphlet Laws one thousand thirty-four) entitled 'An act to provide for the payment of moneys to school districts the taxes of which are reduced by the acquisition of lands and property by the Commonwealth for the conservation of water and to prevent flood conditions' extending the provisions of this act to the enlargement of forests" be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 1360, file folio 4201, on page 52 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called upon from the postponed calenuar by Mr. Haws,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1360, entitled:

An Act to amend section two of an act approved the fourteenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, (Pamphlet Laws, 774), entitled "An act authorizing sheriffs of the several counties of this Commonwealth to organize themselves into a State Association, for the purpose of holding annual meetings, to secure more uniformity and co-operation in the conduct of their offices and providing for the payment of certain expenses in connection with such meetings by the various counties."

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I just want to offer a word of explanation on this bill. This bill was given to me by the solicitor for the Sheriff of the county of Philadelphia, Mr. Roth. Since the defeat of the bill on last Wednesday he has written a letter to different members of the House in which he says he desires to explain that when the act auhorizing payments by the various counties towards the expenses of their representatives and of the association was passed in 1923, such payments were made voluntarily in counties of the sixth, seventh and eighth classes because it was assumed that the sheriff in such counties would continue to be paid by fees but since then the sheriffs in sixth and eighth class counties have been put on a salary basis and therefore it seems fair to the association that these counties should now be obligated to contribute to the maintenance of the association. I believe the opposition to the bill was due to misunderstanding of the reason for it. Therefore, in order to assist the association in continuing the good work it has accomplished in improving the procedure and efficiency of sheriffs offices, and securing co-operation between sheriffs, the vote by which the bill was defeated has been reconsidered and the bill is again before you.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 1955 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 8, 1929.

Resolved (if the Senate concur) that House Bill No. 1955, Printer's No. 1013, File Folio No. 5955, entitled:

"An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Property and Supplies for the development of Cumberland Valley State Institution for Mental Defectives permitting inmates of the Rockview State Penitentiary to be used in consruction work at the site of Cumberland Valley State Institution for Mental Defectives and providing for the expense of keeping such inmates at the site of said new institution."

be recalled from the Senate for the purpose of further consideration.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House for the information of the House I desire to state that this bill is House Bill No. 1955, file folio, 5955. It is one of the bills of which Mr. Kohr was the sponsor, and one of which was passed by this House last Wednesday afternoon. A number of members interested in the bill were not present at that session, and the sponsor of the bill agreed that the bill come back to the House for further consideration. That is the purpose of the resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker. I desire to call up House Bill No. 1804, (Senate Bill No. 576), file folio 2347, on page 53 of today's calendar, bills in final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1804, (Senate Bill No. 576), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen, (P. L. 507), entitled "An act to provide revenue for State and county purposes, and, in cities coextensive with counties, for city and county purposes; imposing taxes upon certain classes of personal property; providing for the assessment and collection of the same; providing for the duties and compensation of prothonotaries and recorders in connection therewith; and modifying existing legislation which provided for raising revenue for State purposes," by exempting from taxation for county purposes and in cities co-extensive with counties, for city and county purposes loans, shares of stock or other securities held by bankers or brokers solely for trading purposes, and accounts or debit balances owing by customers of bankers and brokers in the usual course of business.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STORB. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, if I understand this bill, it is simply to exempt brokers who are reaping a harvest just now. Why should they not pay the tax like other people? This is an exemption bill, it exempts securities in the hands of brokers from the tax, the four mill tax. You people have to pay it; let them pay it. They have had a harvest in stock speculation for the last two or three years.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, the thought expressed by the gentleman from Mongtomery County is the same thought that was expressed to this House last Wednesday by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sterling. Mr. Sterling looked into the matter from the standpoint of the Ways and Means Committee, and after a thorough consideration, he has told me that the bill is all right, and it does not do what it was thought it did do. What it does is this: It does away with a lot of bookkeeping in brokers' offices. It does not exempt anything from taxation, but it does away with a lot of reporting.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker declared the ayes appear to have it.

Whereupon, a division was called for, eighty-five members voting in the affirmative, and forty-six in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RICE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, when this bill was defeated, there was a total of one hundred thirty-six votes. I saw a number of the men personally who voted against the bill, and after talking to them they said to me that they had voted under a misapprehension. This bill gives the right to minors to buy life, health and accident insurance.

A precedent in legislation along this line was set by two previous sessions of the Pennsylvania Legislature. In 1921 a bill was passed which gave the right to minors to become members of fraternal benefit associations. In 1927 the right was given to minors to purchase stocks of building and loan associations. That is a very definite precedent in connection with this bill, House Bill No. 1634. Certainly no man or woman in this House will say that a minor should be given the right to purchase building and loan association stocks and become a member of a fraternal organization with full rights, and not have the right to purchase life insurance, which is considered one of the first steps in thrift. I ask this House to give its approval to this bill, and if there is any member of this House who has not carefully considered it I would appreciate it if they would read it before they vote "no."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 1469, (Senate Bill No. 97), file folio 1031, on page 52 of today's calendar, bills on final passage postponed.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1469, (Senate Bill No. 97), entitled:

> An Act to amend section fourteen of the act of May twenty-seventh, one thousand eight hundred and forty-one, (Pamphlet Laws four hundred) entitled "An act relating to the election of county treasurers and for other purposes" by providing for the removal by the courts of quarter sessions of constables in cases of malfeasance or misfeasance in office, et cetera.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STERLING. Mr. Speaker, without discussing the merits of the measure before you, I call your attention to the fact that this bill was introduced by Senator Daix in the Senate. It is similar in all respects to a bill introduced by myself in the House and passed by the House on February 19th. The bill of which I am the sponsor is still in the Senate committee. The bill of which Mr. Daix is the sponsor is now before the House, and I am of the opinion that the House must be consistent in its action, and for that reason alone I ask you to vote "aye" on the bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1609, entitled:

An act to amend sections one and two of the act approved the eighth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, (P. L. 764), entitled "An act authorizing suits brought to recover in cases of accidents in this Commonwealth in courts of common pleas to be certified to the Workmen's Compensation Board when discovered that the suit has been brought wrongfully," as amended; extending its provisions to all cases not finally adjudicated that may or shall have been begun in court within the limitations fixed to have proceeded before the Workmen's Compensation Board; also when the adjudication is within said period.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Barton,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 2112, (Senate Bill No. 261), as follows:

An Act to permit the use of voting machines for recording and computing the vote at all elections including primaries in any county city borough or township of the Commonwealth at the option of the electors thereof prescribing regulations with reference to the adoption requirements examination purchase installation preparation custody and demonstration of use of voting machines providing rules and regulations for the conduct of election held with voting machines prescribing the qualifications number and duties of election officers in election districts in which voting machines may be used placing duties upon county commissioners and the Secretary of the Commonwealth providing for redivision of wards of cities and boroughs into election districts and the consolidation of election districts providing for the payment of expenses incident to the purchase and use of voting machines by the counties in which they are used and providing penalties for violation of the provisions of this act

Section 1 Definition of Terms Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the list of officers and candidates and the statements of questions on the voting machine shall be deemed an "official ballot"

As used in this Act

The words "ballot-labels" shall mean the cards paper or other material containing the names of officers and candidates and statements of questions to be voted on

The word "diagram" shall mean an illustration of the official ballot when placed upon the machine showing the names of the parties offices and candidates and statements of the questions in their proper places together with the voting devices therefor and shall be considered a sample ballot

The word "question" shall mean a statement of such constitutional amendment or other proposition as shall be submitted to a popular vote at any election

The words "irregular ballot" shall mean the paper or other material on which a vote is cast on a voting machine for persons whose names do not appear on the ballot-labels

The words "vote indicator" shall mean those devices with which votes are indicated for candidates or for or against questions

The words "candidate counters" and "question counters" shall mean the counters on which are registered numerically the votes cast for candidates and on questions respectively

The words "public counter" shall mean a counter or other device which shall at all times publicly indicate how many times the machine has been voted on at an election

The word "protective counter" shall mean a counter or "'protective device" or devices that will register each time the machine is operated and shall be constructed and so connected that it cannot be reset altered or operated except by operating the machine

The words "voting machine booth" shall mean the enclosure occupied by the voter when voting

The word "model" shall mean a mechanically operating model of a portion of the face of the machine illustrating the manner of voting

The word "custodian" shall mean the person charged with the duty of testing and preparing the voting machine for the election and instructing the election officers in the use of the voting machine

The words "election" and "elections" whenever used in this Act shall be held to include and mean all general municipal primary and special elections

Section 2 Authorization of Voting Machines—Any county city borough or township may by a majority vote of its qualified electors voting thereon cast at any general or municipal election authorize and direct the use of voting machines for registering or recording and computing the vote at all elections held in such county city borough or township or in any part thereof

Section 3 Placing the Question on the Ballot Election thereon—(a) The county commissioners may upon their own motion submit to the qualified electors of the county or of any city borough or township thereof at any election the question "Shall voting machines be used in the (county city borough or township) of ?"

(b) The county commissioners upon receipt of a request from the council of any city or borough or from the commissioners or supervisors of any township said request being evidenced by the filing of a copy of a resolution certified by the secretary or clerk of the council commissioners or supervisors or upon the filing of a petition with them signed by qualified electors of the county city borough or township equal in number to at least one per cent of the total number of electors who voted in said county city borough or township at the preceding general or municipal election but in no case less than fifty unless the total number of electors who voted therein at the preceding general or municipal election was less than one hundred in which case one half of the number so voting shall be sufficient shall at the next general municipal or primary election occurring at least sixty days thereafter submit to the qualified electors of such county city borough or township the question "Shall voting machines be used in the (county city borough or township) of ?"

(c) The county commissioners shall cause the said question to be printed upon the ballots to be used at the election in the form and manner provided by the laws governing general and municipal elections

(d) The election on said question shall be held at the places during the hours and under the regulations provided by law for holding general and municipal elections and shall be conducted by the election officers provided by law to conduct such election The election officers shall count the votes cast at the elections on said question and shall make return thereof to the prothonotary of the county as required by law Said returns shall be computed by the court of common pleas or other return board and when so computed a certificate of the total number of electors voting Yes and of the total number of electors voting No on such question shall be filed in the office of the prothonotary and a copy thereof certified by the prothonotary shall forthwith be furnished to the county commissioners

(e) If a majority of the electors of any county city borough or township voting on such question shall vote against the adoption of voting machines the question shall not again be submitted to the voters of such political subdivision within a period of one hundred and three weeks

(f) Whenever under the provisions of this section the question of the adoption of voting machines is about to be submitted to the electors of any county city borough or township it shall be the duty of the county commissioners or other authority which levies taxes for county purposes in such county to ascertain whether current funds will be available to pay for said machines if adopted and purchased or whether they have power to increase the indebtedness of the county in an amount sufficient to pay for the same without the consent of the electors and if such current funds will not be available and the power to increase the indebtedness of the county in a sufficient amount without the consent of the electors is lacking it shall be the duty of the county commissioners or other authority aforesaid to submit to the electors of the county in the manner provided by law at the same election at which the adoption of voting machines is to be voted on the question whether the indebtedness of such county shall be increased in an amount specified by them sufficient to pay for such voting machines if adopted

Section 4 Installation of Voting Machines—(a) If a majority of the qualified electors voting on the question shall vote in the affirmative the county commissioners of the said county shall purchase for each election district of such county city borough or township one or more voting machines of a kind or kinds approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth as hereinafter provided and shall notify the Secretary of the Commonwealth in writing that they have done so The county commissioners shall provide machines in good working order and shall preserve and keep them in repair Voting machines of different kinds may be used for different districts in the same county city borough or township In each election district in which voting machines are used the county commissioners shall provide one voting machine for each six hundred registered voters or fraction thereof therein

(b) Such voting machines shall be installed either simultaneously or gradually in political subdivisions which adopt them Upon the installation of voting machines in any election district the use of paper ballots therein shall be discontinued except as otherwise provided herein

(c) If voting machines are installed gradually they shall be introduced in the case of counties in alphabetical order by cities boroughs and townships so that they will first be used in the city borough or township the name of which is first in alphabetical order and then in the city borough or township the name of which is next in alphabetical order and so on In cities boroughs and townships they shall be introduced in numerical or alphabetical order by wards and election districts if any so that they will first be used in the first election district of the first ward and then in the second election district of the first ward and so on After they have been installed in all the election districts in the first ward they shall be installed in the same manner in the second ward then in the third ward and so on In any event the machines shall be installed as rapidly as practicable after the electors have voted in favor of them

(d) If the question hereinbefore provided shall have been submitted to the qualified electors of the county city borough or township and the majority of the electors voting thereon shall have voted favorably thereon and if the county commissioners shall not within one year have executed their contract or contracts for the purchase or procurement of voting machines for use at the next general municipal or primary election occurring at least one year and sixty days after the referendum then the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall forthwith in writing notify the said county commissioners that after the expiration of thirty days he under the authority of this act on behalf of the said county will award make and execute such contract or contracts unless the said county commissioners meanwhile shall have made and executed the same

(e) If upon the expiration of said thirty days the county commissioners still shall not have made and executed the contract or contracts aforesaid the Secretary of the Commonwealth on behalf of the said county and upon the approval of the Attorney General as to form shall thereupon award make and execute a contract or contracts for the purchase or procurement of one voting machine approved as required by this act for each election district within each such county city borough or township and the cost of such voting machines including the delivery thereof and of making and entering into the said contract or contracts including the preparation and printing of specifications and all other necessary expense incidental thereto shall be the debt of the said county and upon the certificate of the Secretary of the Commonwealth it shall be the duty of the controller if any to allow and of the treasurer of the county to pay the sum out of any appropriation available therefor or out of the first unappropriated moneys that come into the treasury of the county

(f) Provided That if the county commissioners or the Secretary of the Commonwealth as the case may be shall find it impracticable to procure a voting machine or voting machines for each election district of the county city borough or township for use at the general municipal or primary election then next ensuing they or he shall provide as many machines as it shall be practicable to procure and as soon thereafter as practicable shall provide the remainder of such machines required hereunder The machines shall be installed in the election district or districts in the manner provided for the gradual introduction of voting machines in Paragraph (c) of this section

(g) Any county city borough or township may by a majority vote of its qualified electors cast at any general election held not earlier than one hundred and three weeks after they have voted to adopt such machines direct the discontinuance of the use of voting machines at elections held in such county city borough or township The question for the discontinuance of the use of such voting machine shall be submitted to the voters in the same manner and subject to the same requirements as to petition and signatures thereon as is required for the submission of the question on the authorization of the use of such voting machines

Section 5 Changing the Boundaries of Election Districts—(a) The courts of quarter sessions shall upon petition redivide wards of cities or boroughs where voting machines are adopted into election districts of compact and contiguous territory or shall consolidate election districts therein into new districts each having eight hundred registered voters as nearly as may be except that districts having less than eight hundred registered voters may be created whenever the court shall be of opinion that the convenience of the voters and the public interests will be promoted thereby

(b) Petitions may be presented to the court of quarter sessions to redivide wards of cities or boroughs into election districts or to consolidate election districts either by the county commissioners or by ten or more qualified voters of the districts involved Such petitions may specify the boundaries desired by the petitioners

(c) Upon the redivision of any ward of a city or borough into election districts and upon the consolidation of election districts under the provisions of this section the said court shall appoint the necessary election officers and fix the places for holding the first election thereafter in said new districts

(d) The cost of proceedings for the redivision and consolidation of election districts under this section shall be paid by the county

Section 6 Examination and Approval of Voting Machines by Secretary of Commonwealth—(a) Any person or corporation owning manufacturing or selling or being interested in the manufacture or sale of any voting machine may request the Secretary of the Commonwealth to examine the machine Before the examination such person or corporation shall pay to the treasury of the Commonwealth an examination fee of four hundred and fifty dollars ($450)

(b) The Secretary of the Commonwealth shall thereupon require such machine to be examined by three examiners whom he shall appoint for the purpose of whom one shall be an expert in patent law and the other two shall be experts in mechanics and shall require of them a written report on such machine attested by their signatures and the Secretary of the Commonwealth himself shall examine the machine and shall make and file in his office together with the reports of the examiners appointed by him his own report attested by his signature and the seal of his office stating whether in his opinion and in consideration of the reports of the examiners aforesaid the kind of machine so examined can be safely used by electors at elections as provided in this act If his report states that the machine can be so used the machine shall be deemed approved and machines of its kind may be adopted for use at elections as herein provided

(c) No kind of voting machine not so approved shall be used at any election

(d) When a machine has been so approved no improvement or change that does not impair its accuracy efficiency or capacity shall render necessary a re-examination or re-approval of the machine or of its kind

(e) Neither the Secretary of the Commonwealth nor any examiner appointed by him for the purpose prescribed by this section shall have any pecuniary interest in any voting machine or in the manufacture or sale thereof

(f) Each examiner appointed hereunder shall receive a compensation of one hundred and fifty dollars ($150) for each different type of voting machine examined by him which shall be paid by the proper fiscal officer of the Commonwealth upon the proper voucher or certificate of the Secretary of the Commonwealth out of any moneys received as fees for the examination of voting machines

Section 7 Requirements of Voting Machines—No voting machine shall be approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth or by any examiner appointed by him unless it shall satisfy the following requirements

(a) It shall provide facilities for voting for such candidates as may be nominated and upon such questions as may be submitted

(b) It shall permit each voter at other than primary elections to vote a straight party ticket in one operation and in one operation to vote for all the candidates of one party for presidential electors and in one operation to vote for all the candidates of one party for every office to be voted for except those offices as to which he votes for individual candidates

(c) It shall permit each voter at other than primary elections to vote a ticket selected from the nominees of any and all parties from independent nominations and from persons not in nomination

(d) It shall permit each voter to vote at any election for any person and for any office for whom and for which he is lawfully entitled to vote whether or not the name of such person appears upon a ballot-label as a candidate for nomination or election and to vote for as many persons for an office as he is entitled to vote for and to vote for or against any question upon which he is entitled to vote

(e) It shall preclude each voter from voting for any candidate or upon any question for whom or upon which he is not entitled to vote and from voting for more persons for any office than he is entitled to vote for and from voting for any candidate for the same office or upon any question more than once except in districts and for offices where cumulative voting is authorized by law

(f) It shall be capable of adjustment by election officers so as to permit each voter at a primary election to vote only for the candidates for non-partisan nomination if any and for the candidates seeking nominations by the political party in which he is enrolled if he is enrolled as a member of a political party and so as to preclude him from voting for the candidates seeking nomination by any political party in which he is not enrolled

(g) It shall permit each voter to deposit write in or affix upon receptacles or devices provided for the purpose ballots containing the names of persons for whom he desires to vote whose names do not appear upon the machine

(h) It shall permit each voter to change his vote for any candidate or upon any question appearing upon the ballot-labels up to the time he leaves the voting machine

(i) It shall permit and require voting in absolute secrecy and shall be so constructed that no person can see or know for whom any other elector has voted or is voting save a voter whom he has assisted or is assisting in voting as prescribed by law

(j) It shall have voting devices for separate candidates and questions which shall be arranged in separate parallel rows or columns so that at any election one or more adjacent rows or columns may be assigned to the candidates of a party and shall have parallel office columns or rows transverse thereto

(k) It shall have a counter or other device the register of which is visible from the outside of the machine which shall show during any period of voting the total number of voters who have operated the machine during said period of voting

(l) It shall have a protective counter or other device the register of which cannot be reset which shall record the cumulative total number of movements of the operating mechanism

(m) It shall be provided with a lock or locks by the use of which immediately after the polls are closed or the operation of the machine for an election is completed all movement of the registering mechanism is absolutely prevented

(n) It shall be provided with a screen hood or curtain which shall conceal the actions of the voter while voting

(o) It shall be constructed of material of good quality in a neat and workmanlike manner

(p) It shall when properly operated register or record correctly and accurately every vote cast

(q) It shall be so contructed that a voter may readily learn the method of operating it

(r) It shall be safely transportable

(s) It shall be so constructed that each separate voting device which is not to be used at an election may be locked against use during that election

(t) During the progress of voting it shall preclude every person from seeing or knowing the number of votes registered for any candidate and from tampering with any of the registering mechanism

Section 8 Payment for Machines—The county commissioners or such other authority as levies the taxes for county purposes of any county which adopts voting machines or of any county in which a city borough or township is located which adopts voting machines shall upon the purchase thereof provide for payment therefor by the county provided however that bonds or other evidences of indebtedness payable not later than ten years from their dates of issuance may be issued in accordance with the provisions of law relating to the increase of indebtedness of counties to meet all or any part of the cost of the voting machine

Section 9 Demonstration of Voting Machines—Whenever a referendum is about to be held upon the adoption of voting machines in any county city borough or township the county commissioners shall purchase lease or borrow a reasonable number of voting machines for demonstration purposes in such county city borough or township prior to such referendum

Section 10 Form of Ballot-Labels on Voting Machines—(a) The papers cards or strips closed within the ballot-frame or frames of any voting machine and containing the names of a candidate or candidates or political party or the statement of a question to be voted upon hereinafter referred to as ballot-labels shall be printed in black ink upon clear white material of such size as will fit the ballot-frame and in as plain clear type as the space will reasonably permit

(b) If the construction of the machine shall require it the ballot-label for each candidate group of candidates political party or question to be voted on shall bear the designating letter or number of the counter on the voting machine which will register or record votes therefor Each question to be voted on shall appear on the ballot labels in brief form to be determined by the Secretary of the Commonwealth in the case of constitutional amendments or other questions to be voted on by the electors of more than one county and by the county commissioners in other cases

(c) The ballot-label for each candidate or group of candidates nominated or seeking nomination by a political party shall contain the name or designation of the political party

(d) The titles of offices may be arranged horizontally or vertically with the names of candidates for an office arranged transversely under or opposite the title of the office

(e) The names of all candidates nominated or seeking nomination by a political party shall appear adjacent rows or columns containing generally the names of candidates nominated or seeking nomination by such party provided that the names of individual candidates for presidential elector shall not appear upon the ballot-labels but in lieu thereof the names of the candidates of said party for president and vice-president shall be printed on a single ballot-label together with the name of said party

(f) When the same person has been nominated for the same office by more than one political party his name shall appear in the rows or columns containing generally the names of candidates nominated by each such party

(g) The form and arrangement of ballot-labels to be used at any election shall be determined by the Secretary of the Commonwealth as nearly as may be in accordance with the provisions of the laws prescribing the form and arrangement of ballots at such election and shall be furnished by him to the county commissioners who shall procure such further copies of the same as may be necessary at the cost of the county

(h) In primary elections the ballot-labels containing the names of candidates seeking nomination by a political party shall be segregated on the face of the machine in adjacent rows or columns by parties

Section 11 Preparation of Voting Machines by County Commissioners (a) The county commissioners of each county shall cause the proper ballot-labels to be placed on each voting machine which is to be used in any election district within such county and shall cause each machine to be placed in proper order for voting shall examine each machine before it is sent out to a polling-place shall see that each registering counter on each machine is set at zero (000) shall lock each machine so that the counting machinery cannot be operated and shall seal each machine with a numbered seal The county commissioners shall adjust each machine to be used at a primary election so that the election officers may lock it on election day in such a way that each voter can vote only for the candidates for non-partisan nomination if any and for the candidates seeking nomination by the political party in which he is enrolled if he is enrolled as a member of a political party and so that no voter can vote for the candidates seeking nomination by any political party in which he is not enrolled

(b) The county commissioners shall appoint not more than one custodian for every twenty voting machines who shall prepare the machines to be used in the county at the elections to be held therein Each custodian shall receive from the county for each day he is actually employed under the provisions of this act such compensation as shall be fixed by the county commissioners but not less than five dollars or more than ten dollars per day All appointments to fill vacancies shall be made in like manner Such custodians shall under the direction of the county commissioners have charge of and represent the county commissioners during the preparation of the voting machines as required by this act and shall serve at the pleasure of the county commissioners Each custodian shall take the constitutional oath of office which shall be filed with the county commissioners

(c) On or before the thirtieth day preceding an election the county commissioners shall mail to the chairman of the county committee of each political party which shall be entitled under existing laws to participate in primary elections within the county and to the chairman or presiding officer of any organization of citizens within the county having as its purpose or among its purposes the investigation or prosecution of election frauds which has registered its name and address and the names of its principal officers with the county commissioners at least forty days before such election a written notice stating the times when and the place or places where the machines for use in the several election districts in the county will be prepared for use At such times and places one representative of each of such political parties certified by the respective chairmen of the county committees of such parties and one representative of each such organization of citizens certified by the respective chairmen or presiding officers of such organizations shall be entitled to be present and to see that the machines are properly prepared and are placed in proper condition and order for use

(d) The custodian or custodians of voting machines shall make a certificate in writing which each shall sign and request each representative of a party or a citizens' organization as aforesaid present at the preparation of the machine to attest and which shall be filed with the county commissioners stating (1) the identifying number or other designation of the voting machine (2) that each registering counter of the machine was set at zero (000) (3) the number registered on the protective counter or other device of the machine and (4) the number on the seal with which the machine is sealed

(e) No county commissioner nor custodian nor other employe of the county commissioners shall in any way prevent free access to and examination of all voting machines which are to be used at the election by any of the duly appointed representatives aforesaid and the county commissioners and their employes shall afford to each such representative every facility for the examination of all registering counters protective counters and public counters of each and every voting machine

(f) The county commissioners shall furnish at the expense of the county all ballot-labels forms of certificates returns and other papers and supplies required under the provisions of this act all of which shall be in the form and according to the specifications prescribed from time to time by the Secretary of the Commonwealth

Section 12 Delivery of Voting Machines and Supplies by County Commissioners to Election Officers

(a) The county commissioners shall deliver the proper voting machine or voting machines to the polling-places of the respective election districts at least one hour before the time set for opening the polls at an election or primary and shall cause each machine to be set up in the proper manner for use in voting Each machine shall then remain sealed until the examination immediately preceding the opening of the polls prescribed by this act

(b) The county commissioners shall provide ample protection against molestation of and injury to the voting machine and for that purpose shall and may call upon any police or elected peace officer of this Commonwealth to furnish such assistance as may be necessary and it shall be the duty of police and elected peace officers to furnish such assistance when so requested by the county commissioners

(c) The county commissioners shall furnish at the expense of the county and deliver with each voting machine

(1) A lantern or a proper substitute for one which shall give sufficient light to enable voters while in the voting machine booth to read the ballot-labels and suitable for the use of election officers in examining the counters The lantern or proper substitute therefor shall be prepared and in good order for use before the opening of the polls

(2) Two diagrams or sample ballots of suitable size representing such part of the face of such voting machine as will be in use in the election and accompanied by illustrated directions for voting on the machine Such diagrams shall be posted prominently outside the enclosed space within the polling-place

(3) A mechanically operated model of a portion of the face of a voting machine for the instruction of electors Such model shall be placed in the polling-place and at or outside of the guard-rail

(4) A seal for sealing the machine after the polls are closed an envelope for the return of the keys if the construction of the voting machine shall permit their separate return and such other election materials and supplies as may be necessary or as may be required by law

Section 13 Number of Election Officers—(a) The election board in each election district in which a voting machine is used shall consist of a judge of election and two inspectors of election chosen as is now provided by law There shall be no clerks on election boards in voting machine districts

(b) Where more than one machine is to be used in an election district two machine inspectors shall be appointed one by each of the inspectors of election who shall receive the same compensation as inspectors of election and whose duty it shall be to have charge of the operation of the voting machines under the supervision of the judge of election

Section 14 Instruction of Election Officers—Before each election at which voting machines are to be used the custodians shall instruct in the use of the machine and in their duties in connection therewith all judges and inspectors of election who are to serve thereat and who have not previously been instructed and found qualified and they shall give to each judge and inspector who has received such instruction and is fully qualified to conduct the election with the machine a certificate to that effect For the purpose of giving such instruction the custodians shall call such meeting or meetings of the judges and inspectors as shall be necessary Each judge and inspector shall upon notice attend any such meeting or meetings called for his instruction and receive such instructions as shall be necessary for the proper conduct of the elections with the machine and as compensation for the time spent in receiving such instructions each judge and inspector who shall qualify for and serve in the election shall receive the sum of five dollars to be paid to him at the same time and in the same manner as compensation is paid to him for his services on election day No judge or inspector of election shall serve in any election at which a voting machine is used unless he shall have received such instruction and is fully qualified to perform his duties in connection with the machine and has received a certificate to that effect from the custodians of the machines Provided however That this shall not prevent the appointment of a judge or inspector of election to fill a vacancy arising on the day of election or on the preceding day

Section 15 Examination of Machine at Polling-Place and Final Preparation Thereof—(a) The county commissioners shall deliver the keys which unlock the operating mechanism and the registering counters or counter compartment of the voting machine to the judge of election not earlier than noon the Saturday preceding an election nor later than three-quarters of an hour before the time set for the opening of the polls and shall take his receipt therefor The keys shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope on which shall be written or printed (1) the number of the voting machine (2) the name or designation of the election district (3) the number of the seal and (4) the number registered on the protective counter or device as reported by the custodian

(b) No election officer shall open an envelope so delivered until the minority inspector shall be present in the polling-place and shall have examined the envelope to see that it has not been opened

(c) Before opening the envelope all the election officers present shall examine the number on the seal on the machine and the number registered on the protective counter or device and shall see whether they are the same as the numbers written on the envelope containing the keys If either number shall be found not to agree the envelope shall remain unopened until the election officers shall have notified the proper custodian of voting machines or the county commissioners and until the custodian or some other person authorized by the county commissioners shall have presented himself at the polling-place for the purpose of re-examining the machine and shall have certified that it is properly arranged

(d) But if the numbers on the seal and the protective counter or device shall be found to agree with the numbers on the envelope the election officers shall examine the registering counters and for that purpose shall open the doors concealing such counters if the construction of the voting machine shall so require and before the polls are opened the judge and each inspector shall carefully examine every counter and shall see that it registers zero (000) and shall allow the watchers to examine the counters

(e) If the ballot-labels containing the names of offices parties candidates and questions shall not be in their proper places on the voting machine the election officers forthwith shall notify the proper custodian of voting machines or the county commissioners and the machine shall not be used until the custodian or some other person authorized by the county commissioners shall have supplied ballot-labels as herein prescribed If the ballot-labels for a voting machine shall not be delivered at the time required or if after delivery they shall be lost destroyed or stolen the county commissioners or custodian shall cause other ballot-labels to be prepared printed or written as nearly in the form of the official ballot-labels as practicable and shall cause such ballot-labels to be used in the same manner as nearly as may be as the official ballot-labels would have been used

(f) The judge and each inspector of election shall sign a certificate showing (1) the delivery of the keys in a sealed envelope (2) the number on the seal upon the machine (3) the number registered on the protective counter or device (4) that all of the counters were set at zero (000) and (5) that the ballot-labels are properly placed in the machine which certificate shall be returned by the judge of election to the county commissioners with the other certificates as hereinafter provided

(g) The machine shall remain locked against voting until the polls are opened and shall not be operated except by voters in voting If any counter is found not to register zero (000) the election officers shall immediately notify the custodian or the county commissioners who shall if practicable adjust or cause the counters to be adjusted at zero (000) but if it shall be found impracticable for the custodian or other person authorized by the county commissioners to arrive in time so to adjust such counters before the time set for opening the polls the election officers shall immediately make a written record of the designation or designating letter or number of each counter together with the number registered thereon and shall sign and post the same upon the wall of the polling-place where it shall remain until the polls are closed and in filling out the returns of the election they shall subtract such number from the number registered on the same counter when the polls are closed

(h) The exterior of the voting machine and every part of the polling-place shall be in plain view of the election officers and watchers The voting machine shall be located in the polling-place at least six feet back of the guard-rail in such a position that unless its construction shall require otherwise the ballot-labels on the face of the machine can be seen plainly by the election officers and watchers when the machine is not occupied by a voter The election officers shall not themselves be nor allow any other person to be in any position that will permit one to see or ascertain how a voter votes or how he has voted The election officers or one of them shall inspect the face of the machine at frequent intervals to see that the ballot labels are in their proper places and that the machine has not been injured or tampered with

(i) During an election the door or other covering of the compartment containing the counters of the machine shall not be unlocked or opened or the counters exposed except by action of the proper custodian of voting machines for good and sufficient reason a statement of which shall be made in writing and signed by him and attested by the signatures of the election officers or except upon the written order of the county commissioners for good and sufficient reason which shall be stated in the order

Section 16 Instruction of Voters Before an Election—(a) During the sixty days next preceding an election the county commissioners may place on public exhibition in any public place and at such times as they may deem desirable one or more voting machines containing the ballot-labels and showing the offices and questions to be voted upon the names and arrangement of parties and so far as practicable the names and arrangement of the candidates to be voted for Such machine or machines shall be under the charge and care of a person competent as custodian and instructor No voting machine which is to be assigned for use in an election shall be used for such public exhibition and instruction after having been prepared and sealed for the election

(b) During such public exhibition and instruction the counting mechanism of the voting machine shall be concealed from view and the doors or cover concealing the same shall be opened if at all only temporarily and only upon written authorization from the county commissioners

(c) Prior to any election the county commissioners may cause copies of any diagram or diagrams required to be furnished with voting machines at polling-places to be made either in full size or in reduced size and to be posted published advertised or distributed among the electors in such manner as they may deem desirable

Section 17 Instruction and Assistance of Voters on Election Day—(a) The election officers shall with the aid of the diagrams herein authorized and the mechanically operated model instruct each voter before he enters the voting machine booth regarding the operation of the machine and shall give the voter opportunity personally to operate the model

(b) No voter shall be permitted to receive any assistance in voting at any election unless he shall first state distinctly and audibly under oath or affirmation which shall be administered to him by the judge of election that he cannot read the names on the voting machine or that by reason of physical disability he is unable to see the machine or prepare it for voting or to enter the voting machine booth without assistance The voter shall state the specific physical disability which requires him to receive assistance Thereupon he shall be permitted by the judge of election to select a qualified voter of the election district to aid him in voting and the judge of election shall forthwith enter in writing on the record of assisted voters (1) the voter's name (2) the fact that the voter cannot read the names on the voting machine if that be the reason for requiring assisance and otherwise the specific physical disability which requires him to receive assistance and (3) the name of the person furnishing the assistance but

(c) If any voter after entering the voting machine booth shall ask for further instructions concerning the manner of voting he may choose an election officer or any qualified voter of the district who shall give him such instructions but no person giving a voter such instructions shall in any manner request suggest or seek to persuade or induce any such voter to vote any particular ticket or for any particular candidate or for or against any particular question After giving such instructions and before the elector votes the election officer or qualified voter shall retire and the voter shall forthwith vote

Section 18 Manner of Voting (a) The election officers shall ascertain as required by law whether each applicant to vote is entitled to vote If he is found to be entitled to vote and not otherwise the election officer in charge of the ballot check list shall insert therein opposite the voter's name the letter B and shall enter his name on one of the numbered lists of voters and he shall be admitted within the voting machine booth and shall be permitted to vote

(b) The election officers shall permit within the enclosed space at any one time not more than twice as many voters waiting to vote as there are voting machines in use in said district

(c) No voter shall remain within the voting machine booth an unreasonable length of time and if he shall refuse to leave after a reasonable period he shall be removed by the election officers Provided however That they may grant him a longer time if other voters are not waiting to vote

(d) As soon as a voter leaves the voting machine booth the election officer in charge of the voting check list shall insert the letter V opposite his name therein and shall enter his name on the other numbered list of voters

(e) In primary elections before a voter is admitted to the voting machine it shall be adjusted by the election officer in charge thereof so that such voter will only be able to vote for the candidates of the party in which he is enrolled and for candidates for non-partisan nomination if any

(f) It shall be the duty of the judge of election and machine inspectors if any to have especial charge of the operation of the voting machine and to see that the provisions of this section are enforced

Section 19 Voting for a Person Other Than a Nominated Candidate—(a) No irregular ballot shall be cast on a voting machine for any person for any office whose name does not appear as a candidate nominated for that office except it be deposited written or affixed in or upon the appropriate receptacle or device provided in or on the machine for that purpose

(b) Where two or more persons are to be elected to the same office and the name of each candidate is placed upon or adjacent to a separate key handle pointer or knob and the voting machine requires that all irregular ballots voted for that office be deposited written or affixed in or upon a single receptacle or device a voter may vote in or by such receptacle or device for one or more persons whose names do not appear upon the machine with or without the names of one or more persons whose names do so appear

(c) With these exceptions no irregular ballot shall be cast on a voting machine for any person for any office whose name appears on the machine as a nominated candidate for that office Any ballot so cast shall be void and not counted

(d) Nothing in this section contained shall prevent the use of ballots at any election when and as permitted by sections twenty-one and twenty-two of this act

Section 20 Voting for Presidential Electors—(a) At any general election at which presidential electors are to be chosen each elector shall be permitted to vote by one operation for all the presidential electors of a party For each party nominating presidential electors a ballot-label shall be provided containing only the words "Presidential Electors" preceded by the name of the party and followed by the names of the candidates thereof for the offices of President and Vice-President and the corresponding counter or registering device shall register votes cast for said electors when thus voted for collectively

(b) If an elector desires to vote a ticket made up of the names of persons nominated by different parties or partially of names of persons so in nomination and partially of names of persons not in nomination by any party he may write or deposit a paper ballot prepared by himself in the receptacle provided in or on the machine for the purpose

(c) The machine shall be so constructed that it will not be possible for any one voter to vote a straight ticket for presidential electors and at the same time to deposit a ballot for presidential electors in a receptacle as hereinabove provided

(d) When the votes for presidential electors are counted the votes appearing upon the counter or registering device corresponding to the ballot-label containing the names of the candidates for President and Vice-President of any party shall be counted as votes for each of the candidates for presidential elector of such party and thereupon all candidates for presidential electors shall be credited in addition with the votes cast for them upon the ballots deposited in the machine as hereinabove provided

Section 21 Voting by Ballot If a method of election for any candidates or offices is prescribed by law in which the use of voting machines is not possible or practicable or in case at any election the number of candidates nominated or seeking nomination for any office renders the use of voting machines for such office at such election impracticable the county commissioners may arrange to have the voting for such candidates or offices conducted by paper ballots In such cases ballots shall be printed for such candidates or offices and the election conducted by the election officers herein provided for and the ballots counted and return thereof made in the manner required by law for such candidates or offices in so far as paper ballots are used

Section 22 Unofficial Ballot-Labels Repair of Machine or Use of Paper Ballots (a) If ballot-labels for an election district at which a voting machine is to be used shall not be delivered to the election officers as required by section fifteen (e) of this act the judge of election of such district shall cause other labels to be prepared printed or written as nearly in the form of official ballot-labels as practicable and the election officers shall cause the labels so substituted to be used at the election in the same manner as near as may be as the official labels Such labels so substituted shall be known as unofficial ballot-labels

(b) If any voting machine being used in any election shall become out of order during such election it shall if possible be repaired or another machine substituted by the custodian or county commissioners as promptly as possible for which purpose the county commissioners may purchase as many extra voting machines as they may deem necessary but in case such repair or substitution cannot be made paper ballots printed or written and of any suitable form may be used for the taking of votes

Section 23 Canvass of Vote and Disposition of Machine—When the polls are closed all qualified voters who are then waiting within the voting room to vote shall be permitted by the election officers to do so As soon as the polls are closed and the last voter has voted the election officers shall immediatly lock the voting machine against voting and shall then sign a certificate stating (1) that the machine has been locked against voting and sealed (2) the number of voters as shown on the public counters (3) the number on the seal which they have placed upon the machine (4) the number registered on the protective counter or device and (5) that the voting machine is closed and locked which certificate shall be returned by the judge of election to the county commissioners with the other certificates as herein provided The election officers shall compare the number of voters as shown by the machine with the number of names written in the numbered lists of voters which lists shall then be placed in envelopes and sealed The election officers in the presence of the watchers and all other persons who may be lawfully within the polling-place shall then make visible the registering counters and for that purpose shall unlock and open the doors or outer covering concealing the same giving full view of all the counter numbers The judge of election shall under the scrutiny of the majority and minority inspectors and the watchers and in the order of the offices as their titles are arranged on the machine read and announce in distinct tones the designation or designating number and letter on each counter for each candidate's name the result as shown by the counter numbers the votes recorded for each office for persons other than nominated candidates and the designation or designating numbers and letters on each counter and the results as shown by the counter numbers for and against each question voted on The counters shall not be read consecutively along the party rows or columns but shall always be read along the office columns or rows completing the canvass for each office or question before proceeding to the next The vote as registered shall be entered by the election officers in ink on duplicate return sheets and also on a general return sheet and statement all of which shall be signed by the election officers The vote for presidential electors shall be computed and returned as provided hereinbefore in section 19 of this act If more than one machine is used in any election district the vote registered on each machine shall be ascertained in like manner and separately entered in appropriate spaces on the duplicate return sheets The total vote cast for each candidate and for and against each question shall then be computed and entered on the duplicate return sheets and such totals only shall be entered on the general return sheet and statement In the case of primary elections duplicate return sheets shall be prepared for each party The registering counters of the voting machine shall remain exposed to view until the said returns and all other reports have been fully completed and checked by the inspectors During such time any candidate or duly accredited watcher who may desire to be present shall be admitted to the polling place The proclamation of the result of the votes cast shall be announced distinctly and audibly by the judge of election who shall read the name of each candidate the designation or designating numbers and letters of his counters and the vote registered on each counter also the vote cast for and against each question submitted During such proclamation ample opportunity shall be given to any person lawfully present to compare the results so announced with the counter dials of the machine and any necessary corrections shall then and there be made by the election officers after which the doors or other cover of the voting machine shall be closed and locked Immediately upon the close of the polls the election officers shall so lock or seal the operating lever or mechanism of the machine that the voting and counting mechanism will be prevented from operation Any ballots deposited written or affixed in or upon the voting machine shall be inclosed in properly sealed packages and properly endorsed and shall be delivered by the judge of election as hereinafter provided The judge of election shall promptly deliver to the county commissioners or their duly authorized representative the keys of the voting machine inclosed in a sealed envelope if the construction of the voting machine shall permit their separate return Said envelope shall have indorsed thereon a certificate of the election officers stating the number of the machine the election district where it has been used the number on the seal and the number on the protective counter or device at the close of the polls As soon as possible after the completion of the count the county commissioners shall have the voting machine properly boxed and removed to the place or places of storage provided for in this act

Section 24 Return of Votes The general return sheet duplicate return sheets and statement shall be printed to conform with the type of voting machine used and in form approved by the Secretary of the Commonwealth The designating number and letter if any on the counter for each candidate shall be printed thereon opposite the candidate's name Immediately after the vote has been ascertained the statement thereof shall be posted on the door of the polling place The minority inspector shall retain one of said duplicate return sheets one numbered list of voters sealed as aforesaid the voting check list (in districts other than cities) and one set of oaths of election officers and other affidavits The other duplicate return sheet numbered list of voters oaths of election officers and affidavits of voters and others and the ballot check list (in districts other than cities) shall be sealed up and given to the judge of election who shall deliver them together with the general return sheet and the package of ballots deposited written or affixed in or upon the voting machine to the prothonotary in the case of general municipal or special elections and to the county commissioners in the case of primary elections provided that returns of elections for borough and township officers shall be made to the officer directed by law to receive them

Section 25 Preservation of Ballots and of Record of the Machine The voting machine shall remain locked against voting for the thirty days next following each election and as much longer as may be necessary or advisable because of any existing or threatened contest over the result of the election with due regard for the date of the next following election except that it may be opened and all the data and figures therein examined upon the order of any court of competent jurisdiction or judge thereof or by direction of any legislative committee to investigate and report upon contested elections affected by the use of such machine and such data and such figures shall be examined by such committee in the presence of the officer having the custody of such machine

Section 26 Provision for Recanvass of Vote Whenever it shall appear that there is a discrepancy in the returns of any election district or upon petition of three voters of any district verified by affidavit that an error although not apparent on the face of the returns has been committed therein the court of common pleas board of county commissioners or other return board shall at any time prior to the completion of the computation of all of the returns for the county summon the election officers of the district and said officers in the presence of said court or board shall make a record of the number of the seal upon the voting machine and the number on the protective counter or other device shall make visible the registering counters of such machine and without unlocking the machine against voting shall re-canvass the vote cast thereon Before making such re-canvass the said court or board shall give notice in writing to the proper custodian of voting machines and to each candidate and to county chairman of each party or independent nominating body affected by the canvass and each such candidate may be present in person or by attorney and each of such parties or nominating bodies may send two representatives to be present at such re-canvass If upon such re-canvass it shall be found that the original canvass of the returns has been correctly made from the machine and that the discrepancy still remains unaccounted for the said court or board with the assistance of the custodian in the presence of the election officers and the authorized candidates and representatives shall unlock the voting and counting mechanism of the machine and shall proceed thoroughly to examine and test the machine to determine and reveal the true cause or causes if any of the discrepancy in returns from such machine Each counter shall reset at zero (000) before it is tested after which it shall be operated at least one hundred times After the completion of such examination and test the custodian shall then and there prepare a statement in writing giving in detail the result of the examination and test and such statement shall be witnessed by the persons present and shall be filed with the said court or board If upon such re-canvass it shall appear that the original canvass of the returns by the election officers was incorrect the said returns and all papers being prepared by the said court or board shall be corrected accordingly

Section 27 Custody of Voting Machines and Keys (a) The county commissioners shall designate a person or persons who shall have the custody of the voting machines of the county city borough or township and the keys therefor when the machines are not in use at an election and shall provide for his compensation and for the safe storage and care of the machines and keys

(b) All voting machines when not in use shall be properly boxed or covered and stored in a suitable place

Section 28 Penalties Any election officer or other person who shall violate any of the provisions of this act or who shall tamper with or injure or attempt to injure any voting machine to be used or being used in an election or who shall prevent or attempt to prevent the correct operation of such machine or any unauthorized person who shall make or have in his possession a key to a voting machine to be used or being used in an election shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to undergo imprisonment for not more than one year or to pay a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) or both in the discretion of the court

Section 29 Applicability of Election Laws Except as modified by the provisions of this act the general laws regulating general municipal primary special and other elections shall apply to all such elections held in counties cities boroughs and townships adopting voting machines under the provisions of this act

Section 30 Partial Invalidity Legislative Intent It is the intention of the General Assembly that if this act cannot take effect in its entirety because of the judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction holding unconstitutional any section paragraph or clause thereof the remaining provisions of the act shall be given full force and effect as completely as if the section paragraph or clause held unconstitutional had not been included herein

Section 31 Repealer All acts or parts of acts of assembly in conflict with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed so far as the conduct of elections in political subdivisions adopting voting machines is concerned provided that such acts shall remain in force with respect to such subdivisions to regulate the conduct of elections therein by paper ballots when and as permitted by sections twenty-one and twenty-two of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. MARCUS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The Speaker. The amendments will be read by the Clerk for information.

Amend page 6, line 28, by striking out after the word "missioners" and before the word "provide" the word [shall] and inserting in lieu thereof the word "may".

Amend page 6, line 29, by inserting after the word "therein" the following "and shall provide one voting machine for each eight hundred registered voters or fraction thereof therein."

Amend page 15, line 3, by striking out at the beginning thereof before the word "It" the letter [(h)] and inserting in lieu thereof the letter "(n)".

Amend page 40, line 26, by inserting after the word "to" and before the word "county" the word "the".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the insertion of the amendments at this time? Is there any objection? The Chair hears none and the amendments will be inserted in accordance with the instructions of the House.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1394, (Senate Bill No. 539), entitled:

An Act defining the powers of the courts in criminal cases where sentence has been suspended or defendants committed to reform institutions

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. HEFFNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for further study and amendment.

Mr. J. G. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1816, entitled:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 70, as follows:

An Act to amend the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-one) entitled "An act to exempt pianos melodeons and organs leased or hired from levy or sale on execution or distress for rent" extending said act to radios and radio equipment

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six (Pamphlet Laws one hundred seventy-one) entitled "An act to exempt pianos melodeons and organs leased or hired from levy or sale on execution or distress for rent" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That hereafter all pianos melodeons radios radio equipment and organs leased or hired by any person or persons residing in the Commonwealth shall be exempt from levy and sale on execution or distress for rent due by such person or persons so leasing or hiring any such piano or pianos melodeon or melodeons radio or radios or radio equipment organ or organs in addition to any articles or money now exempt by law' Provided That the owner or owner of any such piano melodeon radio radio equipment or organ or his or their agent or the person or persons so leasing or hiring the same shall give notice to the landlord or his agent that the instrument is leased or hired

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HOLMES. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call your attention to this bill, House Bill No. 70. As the law now stands, any one that wants to sell a musical instrument, or a radio, has to notify the owner of the property and ask him to sign a waiver of attachment for rent. If you pass this bill you will be taking away from the owner of the property the right to say whether or not the instrument shall be exempt of attachment and delegate to the musical dealer the right to place that instrument into the house, or into the building, merely by serving a notice on the owner of the property. I do not believe that this House is willing to delegate that authority to the musical dealers of this State, and take it away from the real estate owners of the State.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Schwartz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHWARTZ. I refuse to be interrogated, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SOWERS. I only wanted to know whether the gentleman was for or against the bill.

Mr. JONES. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this Legislature in other years, has passed bills exempting pianos and organs. Today the radio has taken the place of both piano and organ. It required two or three years for any one to learn to play a piano or organ, but the new instrument, the radio, any member of the family can learn to play in one night. We feel that it has taken the place of both the piano and organ, and I do not believe that any member of this House wants to take the joy out of life by refusing to grant this concession to the users of the radio. Everybody knows that I have been trying to spread a little sunshine, and in order that everyone may enjoy the pleasure of radio I ask you to vote for this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1641, (Senate Bill No. 415), as follows:

An Act providing a method of annexation of boroughs having a population of less than ten thousand inhabitants townships or parts of townships or outlying lots of cities of the third class providing for the addition of such territory to adjacent ward or wards of such cities or for the erection of such territory into a new ward or wards providing for the regulation of indebtedness and assets of annexed territory regulating the proceedings pertaining to such annexation and repealing inconsistent legislation

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That any borough having a population of less than ten thousand inhabitants township or part of a township or outlying lots in any township contiguous to any city of the third class whether wholly or partially within the same or different counties may become annexed to any such city of the third class in the following manner

In the case of a borough the borough council may pass an ordinance for such annexation whenever three-fifths of the voters of such borough shall present a petition accompanied with the written consent of a majority in number and interest of property owners of the borough asking for such annexation and in the case of a township or part of a township whenever three-fifths of the voters of such township or part of a township shall present a petition to the council of said city accompanied with the written consent of a majority in number and interest of property owners of such township or part of a township asking for such annexation or if there are no voters residing in a part of a township then whenever three-fifth of the owners in number and interest of property shall present a petition to the council of said city asking for such annexation

Before any such petition is circulated or signed notice thereof shall be given by advertisement once a week for four weeks in two newspapers published in or circulated throughout the territory to be annexed Such notice shall state the purpose of the petition and the date it will be ready for signing All such petitions shall be accompanied by a plot or plots of the territory to be annexed showing all streets and highways municipal improvements and public buildings provided that nothing in this act contained shall be deemed to require any city of the third class to annex any borough township or part of a township

Section 2 Upon presentation to the council of such city of a certified copy of the ordinance in case of a borough or of the petition in the case of a township or part of a township together with the required plots in any case said council of said city may by ordinance annex such borough township or part of a township to the said city and certified copies of the borough and city ordinances and the petition and the plans shall be filed in the office of the Clerk of the court of quarter sessions of the said county

Section 3 After thirty days from the filing of the said annexation ordinance by the said city council such ordinance and the action of the said city council shall be finally conclusive unless a referendum petition be filed as is provided by the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and sixty-eight) its supplements and amendments or unless an appeal therefrom is taken within the said thirty days by petition to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the city is located

If an appeal is taken by any person aggrieved by such annexation ordinance within thirty days of the filing thereof the court shall fix a day for hearing the same Notice shall be given to all parties interested in such manner as the court shall direct After such hearing the court shall decide whether the proceedings are in conformity with this act making an order or decree dismissing the appeal and approving the annexation or sustaining the appeal and dismissing the annexation From any such final order or decree any party in interest aggrieved by such order or decree may have an appeal to the Supreme Court as in other cases Upon final determination and approval of the annexation ordinance by the court of quarter sessions or by the supreme court the annexation shall take effect immediately

Section 4 Upon application by petition signed by a majority or more of the taxable inhabitants accompanied by the written consent of a majority of the property owners in number and interest of any outlots of sections of land in a township containing not more than one hundred acres of land lying adjacent to any city of the third class and being part of the county in which the same is situated and upon application by petition of the council of any such city for the annexation of any out lots or sections of land as aforesaid to the court of quarter sessions of the respective county stating that they desire the same to be annexed to said city the necessity therefor and describing the lots or land to be annexed with a map or draft of the same which petition shall be sworn to by one or more of the petitioners and accompanied by a resolution of the council of said city approving the annexation the said court shall thereupon appoint three viewers who shall be non-residents of the city or of the territory to be annexed to inquire into and investigate the allegations and facts stated in the said petition Notice of the first hearing of the said viewers shall be given to the city and to at least one of the petitioners as the court may direct The said viewers or a majority of them shall make report to said court at its next session after their appointment If they report that they find the statements and facts of said petition to be true and recommend the annexation as prayed for and if no appeal is taken within thirty days therefrom the said court shall thereupon make an order or decree to carry the annexation into effect

If within thirty days after filing of such report any person aggrieved thereby shall take an appeal by petition to the court of quarter sessions setting forth their complaint the court shall fix a day for hearing the same Notice thereof shall be given to all parties interested in such manner as the court shall direct After such hearing the court shall decide whether the proceedings are in conformity with this act and make an order or decree either dismissing the appeal and approving such annexation or sustaining the appeal From any such final order or decree any party in interest aggrieved by such order or decree may have an appeal to the supreme court as in other cases When the court of quarter sessions makes an order to carry such annexation into effect where no appeal is taken and upon final determination and approval of the annexation ordinance by the court of quarter sessions or by the supreme court where an appeal has been taken the said outlots or sections of land shall at once and thereafter be a part of said city as fully as if the same had been originally a part thereof

The viewers herein provided for shall be allowed five dollars per day for each and every day actually spent by them in the performance of their duties together with their actual necessary expenses The costs of the proceedings in all cases shall be paid by the city

Section 5 Within thirty days from the effective date of any such annexation the city council shall cause a petition to be presented to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the said city is located praying for the distribution of the annexed territory among the wards of the said city or for the creation of a new ward or wards out of the same as is provided by law and the said court shall in case of the creation of a new ward or wards appoint the election and other officers of the same and name the place or places of holding the first election in the said ward or wards for ward officers and for that purpose may order a special election if said court shall deem the same necessary to be conducted in the manner provided by law for conducting municipal elections The officers elected at such special election shall hold their respective offices until their successors who are hereby required to be elected at the municipal election held on the Tuesday following immediately after the first Monday of November in the odd numbered year next succeeding the same shall be duly qualified

Section 6 All the indebtedness of each borough or township annexed to a contiguous city under the provisions of this act as well as the indebtedness of the city to which the same is annexed shall be paid by the city as enlarged by such annexation and all territory included within the limits of the same shall be liable for the payment of the floating and bonded indebtedness and the interest thereon of all the territory included within such enlarged city and all taxes thereafter levied therefor shall be uniform throughout the territorial limits of such enlarged city

Section 7 All of the public property owned by any borough or township hereinafter annexed to any city of the third class shall become and remain the public property of the said city

Section 8 Where any part of any township is hereinafter annexed to any city of the third class the township officers of that part of the said township not annexed and the city council of the said city shall make a just and proper adjustment and apportionment of all public property owned by the said township at the time of said annexation both real and personal including funds as well as indebtedness if any to and between the said township and the city in making such adjustment and apportionment of the property and indebtedness the township and the city shall be entitled respectively to share in a division of the property and indebtedness in the proportion that the assessed valuation of the land remaining in the township bears to the assessed valuation of the land annexed The adjustment and apportionment as made shall be reduced to writing in proper form and duly executed and acknowledged by the proper officials and filed in the office of the clerk of the court of quarter sessions in the county in which said city is located

Section 9 In case the said council of the said city and the township authorities cannot make such amicable apportionment and adjustment of their property and indebtedness in compliance with this act within six months after any such annexation then in that case the said council or any officer of the said township may present a proper petition to the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the said city is located whereupon the said court shall appoint three disinterested commissioners residents and taxpayers of said county not residing in the said city not in the said township who after hearing due notice of which shall be given to the city and township interested as the court may direct shall make report to the court making an apportionment and adjustment according to the provisions of this act of all the property as well as indebtedness if any to and between the said city and the said township said report to state the amount if any that shall be due and payable from the city to the township or from the township to the city as well as the amount of indebtedness if any that shall be assumed by the city or township or both of them

Section 10 The aforesaid commissioners shall give the said city and the said township at least five days notice of the filing of their report and unless exceptions are filed thereto by the city or by the township within thirty days after filing thereof the same shall be confirmed by the court absolutely and any sum awarded by said report to the said city or to the said township shall be a legal and valid claim in its favor against the city or township charged therewith and the amount of debt if any apportioned to any city or township shall be a legal and valid claim against such city or township charged therewith and any property real or personal given and adjudged to the city or the township shall become and be the property of the city or the township to whichever one the same is given and adjudged and upon such report being confirmed such claim or indebtedness charged against any city or township may be collected in the same manner as a judgment is collected against any city or township Such commissioners shall be allowed five dollars per day for each day actually spent by them in the performance of their duties together with their actual necessary expenses All costs and expenses of such proceedings shall be apportioned by the court to and between the said city and the said township as it shall deem proper

Section 11 In case exceptions are filed to the report of such commissioners the court shall dispose of the same taking testimony therein if deemed advisable and the decision of the court thereon shall be final and binding on the several cities and townships unless an appeal is taken within thirty days to the Superior or Supreme Court as in other cases

Section 12 In cases in which such cities or townships are situated in two or more counties the court of quarter sessions of the county in which the city is located shall have exclusive jurisdiction over the matter but the same shall be heard by a judge not a resident of either of the judicial districts affected who shall be called to preside specially in the matter and in such case the court shall appoint the commissioners hereinbefore provided for from both or all of such counties

Section 13 The following acts and parts of acts are repealed so far as they relate to annexation to cities of the third class

The act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred and three (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and thirty-two) entitled "An act for the annexation of any city borough township or part of a township to a contiguous city and providing for the indebtedness of the same"

The act approved the nineteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and five (Pamphlet Laws two hundred sixteen) entitled "An act to amend section one of an act entitled 'An act for the annexation of any city borough township or part of a township to a contiguous city and providing for the indebtedness of the same' approved the twenty-eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three providing for percentage of petitioners"

The act approved the tenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and nine (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and one) entitled "An act to amend section six of an act entitled 'An act for the annexation of any city borough township or part of a township to a contiguous city and providing for the indebtedness of the same' approved April twenty-eighth one thousand nine hundred and three"

The act approved the sixth day of May one thousand nine hundred and fifteen (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and seventy-two) entitled "A supplement to an act approved the twenty-eighth day of April one thousand nine hundred and three entitled 'An act for the annexation of any city borough township or part of a township to a contiguous city and providing for the indebtedness of the same, by providing that any city heretofore or hereafter enlarged by any annexation under the terms of said act shall be liable for and shall pay the indebtedness of such city and the territory so annexed and providing for the levying of a uniform tax upon all the territory included within such city as enlarged by such annexation for the payment of such indebtedness"

The following acts and parts of acts are repealed absolutely

The act approved the eighth day of June one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and seventy-nine) entitled "An act for the annexation of boroughs or townships or parts of townships to adjacent cities"

Article three of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws five hundred and sixty-eight) entitled "An act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto"

The act approved the third day of May one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and forty-three) entitled "An act to amend sections one three and five of article three of an act entitled 'An act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto' approved the twenty-seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and thirteen"

The act approved the sixth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred and fifty-one) entitled "An act to amend section one of article three of an act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen entitled 'An act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto"

Sections three and four of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of May one thousand nine hundred and nineteen (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and ten) entitled "An act to amend and revise an act entitled 'An act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto' approved the twenty-seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and thirteen enlarging changing modifying and defining certain powers of cities of the third class"

The act approved the eleventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws one thousand forty-seven) entitled "An act providing a method of annexation of boroughs townships or parts of townships to cities of the third class regulating the proceedings pertaining thereto and repealing inconsistent legislation"

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILL RECOMMITTED.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Education.

Mr. TALBOT. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this motion, because I feel that it is a very meritorious bill. This is a bill that the school teachers of the State have looked forward to for a long time.

This is legislation that has been passed in fourteen or seventeen other states, been very much approved of, and in no instance has a request been made for a repeal of it. I think the least we can do is to be fair to our teachers, who I feel have a great responsibility and are entitled to a great deal of respect from a law-making body, and permit this bill to come up for third reading and give the House an opportunity to pass on the measure.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, it seems to me rather an extraordinary procedure to object to the recommitting of a bill when the sponsor of the bill asks it to be recommitted to the committee. I would like to say to the members of the House that there is nothing unfair to the people who are interested in this bill in recommitting it. I asked the Committee on Education to report this bill out one morning as a favor to me, because I was in a hurry to attend a hearing on another bill in another committee. I was requested to put the bill back into the committee after second reading, and I think I am only playing fair with the committee in putting the bill back after second reading. There will be a meeting of the Educational Committee tomorrow, and I will take the bill up before the meeting of that committee, and it will lose very little time on the calendar.

Mr.. HERMANSEN. Mr. Speaker, I cannot understand why the bill should be referred back to the committee. The bill is good as it stands and we are willing to take a chance with the House as it is at the present time. Now, it does not mean anything to the teachers, or any one else interested, to have this bill come out for two readings if it was to go back to be killed. What we want is the bill to be passed.

Mr. EACHES. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Turner, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TURNER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. EACHES. Will the gentleman tell the House what the purpose is for recommitting the bill?

Mr. TURNER. For further consideration.

Mr. DAVIDSON. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am going to appeal to you to vote this motion down. I cannot see any reason for recommitting the bill at this time, after it has passed two readings, although the sponsor requests it. I imagine this bill was put forth in good faith, and I believe we should keep our faith with the school teachers of Pennsylvania, and vote "no" on this motion to recommit. Therefore, I ask you to vote this motion down.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker declared the ayes appear to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for, and sixty-two members voting in the affirmative and forty-three in the negative, the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

Section 2 The board of commissioners may propose by resolution to initiate a public improvement the cost of which is to be assessed in whole or in part against abutting or non-abutting property materially benefited thereby as provided in article two of this character Such resolution shall set a date for a public hearing shall refer to the map of the proposed area of benefit which shall be on file at the office of the secretary of the board of commissioners prior to the hearing shall describe the proposed area of benefit by the use of an outline map or other readily understandable means shall state the aggregate assessed valuation of land which may be subject to special assessment within the proposed area of benefit as evidenced by the last assessment roll on which taxes for the consolidated city were levied and shall state in general terms the location and character of the proposed public improvement and its estimated cost A copy of such resolution shall be sent to the governing body of each municipal division any part of which is included in the proposed area of benefit and shall be published once in a newspaper published in the consolidated city and of general circulation therein and in a newspaper published in each of the said municipal divisions and of general circulation therein if there be such a newspaper The hearing shall be held not less than fifteen days after the last publication and the receipt of the resolution by the governing bodies of said municipal divisions

Section 3 The presentation to the secretary of the board of commissioners on or before the date set for the hearing of a petition signed by owners of land representing ten per cent in interest of all real estate as determined by the last assessment roll within the proposed area of benefit shall make it mandatory on the board of commissioners to provide for a further hearing at a date not less than fifteen days after the first date assigned for the hearing

Section 4 The presentation to the secretary of the board of commissioners on or before the date for the continuance of the hearing of a petition objecting to the proposed improvement and signed by owners of land representing sixty per cent in interest of all real estate as determined by the last assessment roll within the proposed area of benefit shall serve as a veto on the power of the board of commissioners to proceed with the improvement Nothing in this section shall be construed as limiting the power of the board of commissioners to re-initiate the proposed improvement in its original form after the lapse of one year from the date of the original notice of intention or in modified form at any time always subject to the foregoing provisions relating to notice hearing continuation of hearing and veto

Section 5 In the award of contracts for the construction of such a public improvement the board of commissioners shall proceed under the provisions of article seven of this charter

Section 6 In the exercise of the right of eminent domain for the acquisition of lands rights and easements essential to such a public improvement the board of commisisoners shall proceed under the statutes of the state now or hereafter providing for the exercise of eminent domain by municipal corporations and in all cases damages shall be awarded and except as otherwise hereinafter provided benefits shall be assessed in accordance with the procedure provided for municipal corporations in such cases and liens may be filed for the collection of such benefits in accordance with the laws of the commonwealth for the collection of municipal claims

Section 7 After the passage of the ordinance authorizing the said public improvement the board of commissioners shall apply to the court of common pleas for the appointment of viewers to ascertain the damage to the property proposed to be taken injured or destroyed by such public improvement and such board of viewers shall proceed to ascertain the said damages without then considering any special benefits arising from said public improvement and shall proceed in accordance with law The board of commissioners may at [illegible] time prior to the actual entry upon and the taking possession of said property so damaged repeal the said ordinance and reimburse the said owners for any expense actually incurred

Section 8 At any time after the completion of the said public improvement and not later than one year thereafter the board of commissioners shall by resolution order one or more members of the board for the assessment and revision of taxes hereinafter called the assessment board to prepare an assessment roll and assessment map for the area of benefit Such resolution shall direct the assessment board to consult with the heads of the departments having charge of the design or construction of such improvement and such other officers or employes as may be designated in said resolution The said resolution shall contain a statement of the aggregate cost incurred for the said public improvement which shall be grouped under the following heads

(a) Amounts actually paid for the costs and damages for the lands rights and easements taken injured or destroyed together with the amounts finally determined and not paid together with the amounts fixed by the latest determination in cases in which the litigation is not concluded

(b) The actual total cost of the construction of the public improvement

(c) All costs of engineering and inspection incident to the planning for and construction of the said public improvement

(d) Interest paid on indebtedness incurred on account thereof during the period of the planning for and construction of the said public improvement

The said resolution shall also fix and determine whether all or what percentage of said aggregate cost shall be assessed against the properties specially benefited

Section 9 The assessment board shall thereupon promptly proceed to ascertain the amount of special benefit advantage or increase in value which the respective lots and parcels of land shall be determined to receive by reason of such public improvement and in no case shall any assessment on any parcel of land exceed in amount such special benefit advantage or increase in value or its just proportion of said aggregate cost or the percentage thereof fixed by the board of commissioners

In preparing the said assessment roll the assessment board shall classify the real estate within the area of benefit into urban surburban or rural or into as many of such classes as may exist within the area of benefit

Section 10 When the assessment board shall have completed such assessment roll and such map it shall give notice in the manner prescribed in section two of this article that the assessment roll and assessment map are open for inspection in its office for a period of thirty days and that it will on a certain date thereafter hear all objections to the said assessments It shall also mail to every known owner of land against which an assessment appears on such roll whose address or whose agent's address is on file in its office or in that of the treasurer of the consolidated city a copy of such notice together with the statement of the amount assessed against each and every parcel of which such person was the known owner on the date of completion of the roll This requirement is directory and not mandatory and failure to mail any such notice shall not invalidate any proceeding or assessment hereunder

Section 11 Objections to the said assessments shall be filed in such form as may be prescribed by the assessment board and within such limit of time as may be set forth in the notice provided for in the preceding section The said assessment board shall thereupon proceed to consider such objections and hold such hearings in connection therewith as it may determine advisable and make such changes in the assessments as may appeal to it to be proper and reasonable under the circumstances After its final determination the assessment board shall as promptly as possible transmit the assessment roll and the assessment maps to the board of commissioners

Thereupon the board of commissioners shall direct the solicitor of the consolidated city to apply to the court of common pleas for the appointment of viewers and to attach to the petition for the appointment of said viewers a copy of the said final assessment roll and assessment maps Thereupon notice thereof shall be given to the said property owners in the same manner as is provided in section ten hereof Said requirement as to mailing is directory and not mandatory and failure to mail any such notice shall not invalidate any proceeding or assessment hereunder Said assessment shall become final and conclusive with respect to all assessments to which no exception is taken within thirty days after said last publication and the board of viewers shall thereupon approve and confirm the same With respect to all assessments to which exception is taken before the said board of viewers within said thirty days the board of viewers shall proceed to determine the special benefit advantage or increase in value and such and all further proceedings shall be in accordance with the laws providing for the assessment of benefits for improvements made by municipal corporations

House Bill No. 1142, file folio 2285, entitled, "An act to amend section six of the act approved the third day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five (Pamphlet Laws sixty-two) entitled 'An act to provide for the establishment and maintenance of a home for disabled and indigent soldiers and sailors of Pennsylvania' as amended".

JOHN S. FISHER.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILLS NOS. 50, 1227 AND 1619.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 3, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I have the honor to inform you that I have this date approved and signed the following:

House Bill No. 50, file folio 4053, entitled, "An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twentieth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws one thousand one hundred forty-one) entitled 'An act fixing the salary of the deputy coroner of counties having a population of one million five hundred thousand is over.'"

House Bill No. 1227, file folio 2251, entitled: "An Act to amend the act approved the third day of May one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws one hundred forty-five) 'A supplement to an act approved the fifth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirteen entitled " An act regulating the operation of motor-boats and providing a penalty" giving the Board of Commissioners of Navigation jurisdiction to enforce the provisions of this act' conferring police powers on employes of the board".

House Bill No. 1619, file folio 2877, entitled, "An Act to regulate the salaries of tipstaves in the courts of common pleas oyer and terminer and general jail delivery quarter sessions of the peace and orphans' courts in counties of the second class".

JOHN S. FISHER.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 946.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 946, file folio 2345, entitled: "An Act to amend the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five (Pamphlet Laws three hundred twenty-four) entitled 'An act for the distribution by the Commonwealth and counties to townships and school districts of moneys received from the United States from Forest Reserves within the Commonwealth' providing for the distribution of said moneys directly by the Commonwealth to townships and school districts."

This bill would provide that moneys paid to the Commonwealth by the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States under the provisions of the act of Congress authorizing receipts from the Forest Reserves to be paid to this Commonwealth shall be credited by the fiscal officers to the several townships in which the Forest Reserves are situated without passing through the State Treasury in the usual way.

The bill is not harmonious with House Bill No. 915, which passed both Houses of the Legislature and will revise the procedure for the receipt, custody and disbursement of State moneys and it would be a mistake in my judgment to approve any legislation which does not harmonize with that act.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WHEELER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1087.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 5, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 1087, file folio 2331, entitled: "A supplement to the act approved the third day of April one thousand nine hundred and three (Pamphlet Laws one hundred thirty-seven) entitled 'An act regulating the confinement of children under the age of sixteen years awaiting trial' providing for the management of houses of detention for juveniles in counties of the second class and imposing expenses in connection therewith on the county."

This bill would bring to an end within sixty days after its effective date the terms of the present board of managers in charge of the House of Detention for Untried Juvenile Offenders in Allegheny County and would require the judges of the court of common pleas to appoint a new board consisting of six members instead of five as at present. It would also remove from the jurisdiction of the board of managers control over the salaries to be paid to the superintendent and matron and would vest control over these salaries in the County Salary Board. Finally, the bill would repeal entirely, as far as it is applicable to cities and counties of the second class, the Act of July 2, 1901, P. L. 601, which regulates houses of detention in cities of the first and second classes.

Certain highly important provisions of the Act of 1901 would not be supplied by the present bill, the most important of which is that which permits delinquent, dependent and neglected children to be lodged in the house of detention by a probation officer without a formal court commitment.

I am advised that the House of Detention for Untried Juvenile Offenders in Allegheny County is being well managed, although it does seem proper that the County Commissioners should be vested with authority in budgeting and regulating expenditures. I feel, however, that it would be a step backward to strip the board of managers of the authority vested in it by the Act of 1901, and especially to rip out the present incumbents.

For these reasons this bill in its present form is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. RHODES. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1182.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 1182, file folio 1463, entitled, "An Act validating certain proceedings and elections of counties cities boroughs townships school districts and other municipalities or incorporated districts had and held pursuant to the provisions of an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four entitled 'An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof and the amendments and supplements thereto and validating bonds issued or authorized to be issued in pursuance of such proceedings and elections."

This bill would validate certain proceedings of counties and municipalities held for the purpose of increasing their indebtedness under the Act of April 20, 1874, P. L. 65.

I have already approved Senate Bill No. 535, which, I am advised, fully covers the subject matter of the present bill. Accordingly, the present bill is not necessary.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. HEFFERON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. SIMON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 1040, file folio 1087, entitled: "An Act to validate deeds and other conveyances of real estate made in this Commonwealth by married women direct to their husbands without the husband having joined in the said conveyance and the intervention of a second party."

This bill seeks to validate deeds and other conveyances of real estate made by married women direct to their husbands without the husband's joinder in such deeds or conveyances.

Since the passage of the Act of June 3, 1911, P. L. 631, such conveyances are valid, and legislation is unnecessary to confirm the title conveyed.

The Supreme Court in ELDER vs. ELDER, 256, Pa. 139, decided that prior to the Act of June 3, 1911, P. L. 631, such conveyances were absolutely void, and that Section 2 of the Act of 1911 which sought to validate them offended against Article I, Section 9, of the Constitution.

Accordingly, as applied to conveyances made prior to June 3, 1911, the present bill is unconstitutional, and as applied to conveyances made subsequent to that date, it is unnecessary.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 830, file folio 1327, entitled "An Act to amend section three hundred and three of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws three hundred nine) entitled 'An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith' as amended."

This bill would permit a person, either resident or non-resident, in a school district, to be elected secretary of a school board for four years and at the same time serve as superintendent, assistant superintendent, supervising principal or teacher in the district.

The School Code originally permitted such dual positions, and it led to abuses detrimental to the efficient and responsible administration of school affairs. To correct such abuses the section of the School Code was amended to its present form. I believe the interests of the school districts are better served by retaining the act in its present form.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WAY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1093.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 1093, file folio 4109, entitled, "An Act to amend clause four of section three hundred and eighty-six of the act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred forty) entitled 'An act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto' as amended construing the validity of township contracts."

This bill forbids any board of township supervisors from setting aside or invalidating any contract for the purchase, construction and improvement of roads or for the purchase of materials used in such work which has been regularly and lawfully entered into by the same board or its predecessors in office.

Under existing law no valid contract may be breached or abrogated without rendering the township liable in an action in damages. The proposed bill merely reiterates this principle of the law and is therefore unnecessary.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. HARTSOCK. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 718.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 718, file folio 1423, entitled: "An Act validating certain proceedings and elections of counties cities boroughs townships school districts and other municipalities or incorporated districts had and held pursuant to the provisions of an act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four entitled 'An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" and the amendments and supplements thereto and validating bonds issued or authorized to be issued in pursuance of such proceedings and elections.'"

This bill purports to validate certain proceedings and elections of counties, cities, boroughs, townships, school districts and other municipalities, held pursuant to the provisions of the Act of April 20, 1874, P. L. 65, in cases where certain technical defects might invalidate the proceedings or elections.

Every defect which this bill would cure is covered by Senate Bill No. 535, which I have already approved. Accordingly, the present bill is not necessary.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the vote of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WELTY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. FRED W. PATTERSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 5, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 967, file folio 1805, entitled, "An Act to amend section six hundred and ninety-nine of the act approved the fourteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred and seventeen (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred and forty) entitled 'An act concerning townships and revising amending and consolidating the law relating thereto' as amended by prohibiting the stopping filling up confining paving or otherwise interfering with any drain ditch watercourse or drainage facilities in any township of the first or second class without the approval of the township commissioners or supervisors by making certain provisions with regard to the approval and filing of plans thereof."

This bill would prohibit any person from interfering with any drainage, ditch, watercourse, or drainage facility in a township without first submitting plans thereof to and obtaining the approval of the township commissioners or supervisors.

If this bill were approved, both the Department of Highways and the county commissioners would be obliged before proceeding with any road building projects involving changes in watercourses to obtain permission from the township commissioners or supervisors.

This would be an unnecessary interference with the prosecution of the work of the Department of Highways and of the county commissioners in improving and rebuilding highways under their respective jurisdictions.

If the bill contained proper exceptions exempting from its operation the Department of Highways and the county commissioners, it would be unobjectionable, but these exceptions are lacking.

For these reasons the bills is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. WITHERSPOON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 1280.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 1280, file folio 3443, entitled, "An Act prohibiting the construction opening or dedication of any road street lane or alley or any drainage facilities in connection therewith for public use or travel in any borough township of the first or second class without the approval of the borough council township commissioners or supervisors making certain provisions with regard to the modification approval and filing of plans thereof providing for appeals prohibiting any public authorities from doing any construction work or operating any public facilities constructed opened or dedicated for public use without the approval of the borough council commissioners or supervisors and authorizing the council commissioners and supervisors to enter on land and do certain acts thereon when necessary for carrying out their powers and duties thereunder and declaring the violation of this act to be a misdemeanor and prescribing penalties therefor."

This bill is intended to forbid the construction and dedication of any highway or any drainage facilities for public use in any borough or township unless and until the plans therefor have been formally approved by the municipal authorities. Its purpose is to control real estate developments in boroughs and townships.

The bill goes too far, however, because it forbids any public authorities from doing any highway or drainage construction work without securing local municipal consent and approval. This inhibition in the act would apply to the work of the Department of Highways, by requiring local consent to be secured on all State highway relocations and on all construction work and drainage operations by that department.

Under existing law townships of the second class may dedicate roads to public use only with the consent of the court of quarter sessions of the proper county. The bill would eliminate the necessity of securing such consent. This well established principle of the law should not be set aside.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. PETERS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. HAWS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 546, file folio 1581, entitled, "An Act to repeal sections one and two of the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws thre hundred thirty-seven) entitled 'An act amending sections four and six of an act approved the second day of April one thousand nine hundred three entitled "An act to establish a Department of Fisheries to provide for its proper administration and to provide for the protection and propagation of fish by the Department of Fisheries" by fixing the salaries of the Commissioner and the clerks in the Department of Fisheries and repealing certain acts.'"

This bill would repeal sections one and two of the Act of May 23, 1913, P. L. 337, which amended the Act of April 2, 1903, P. L. 128, by fixing the salaries of the Commissioner of Fisheries and certain clerks in the Department of Fisheries.

The Act of 1903 was specifically repealed by the Act of July 28, 1917, P. L. 1215, and the Act of 1913 was repealed by Section 2804 of The Administrative Code of 1923.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. WILLIAM B. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 3, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 547, file folio 1583, entitled, "An Act to repeal the act approved the eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one hundred and seventy) entitled 'An act authorizing the appointment of interpreters in each county of this Commonwealth and providing for their compensation.'"

The act which this bill would repeal was clearly repealed by the Act of July 7, 1919, P. L. 725, which increased the maximum annual salary of interpreters from two thousand dollars, as provided in the Act of 1913, to two thousand five hundred dollars. The Act of March 24, 1927, P. L. 62, amended the Act of 1919 by further increasing the maximum annual salary to three thousand five hundred dollars.

There is, therefore, no necessity for the enactment of this bill to repeal the Act of 1913.

For these reasons the bills is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. YEAKEL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 589.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 589, file folio 1551, entitled "An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-third day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred twenty-three) entitled 'An act to fix and determine the salary of the several court clerks of the court of common pleas of the county of Philadelphia in accordance with article five section seven of the Constitution of this Commonwealth.'"

This bill would repeal the Act of May 23, 1927, P. L. 223, which fixed the salaries of court clerks of the courts of common pleas of Philadelphia County.

This act was unquestionably repealed by the act of June 7, 1913, P. L. 463, which covered the same subject matter and repealed all acts inconsistent therewith.

Accordingly the present bill is unnecessary.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 548.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 548, file folio 1553, entitled: "An Act to repeal the act approved the eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirteen (Pamphlet Laws one hundred sixty-four) entitled 'An act fixing the compensation of the Assistant Librarian of the Senate and the Assistant Resident Clerk of the House of Representatives."

This bill would repeal the Act of May 8, 1913, P. L. 164, which fixed the compensation of the Assistant Librarian of the Senate and the Assistant Resident Clerk of the House of Representatives.

This act was completely supplied by the Act of July 1, 1919, P. L. 717, Section 12 of which repealed all previous legislation inconsistent therewith. The Act of 1913 has therefore already been repealed, and it is not necessary to repeal it again.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. YEAKEL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 549.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith, without my approval, House Bill No. 549, file folio 2133, entitled: "An Act to repeal the act approved the first day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred twenty-four) entitled 'An act regulating the number of employees in the Adjutant-General's Department and in the State Arsenal fixing the annual salaries to be paid to each authorizing the Adjutant-General to make the appointment of employees in the Adjutant-General's Department and the State Arsenal and giving authority to make such assignments to duty and to change or alter such assignments as may in his judgment be necessary to subserve the interests of the Commonwealth fixing the salary of the Adjutant-General and providing for payment of such salaries as now provided by law."

This bill seeks to repeal the Act of June 1, 1911, P. L. 624, which fixed the compensation of a number of employes of the Adjutant General's Department.

Section 2804 of The Administrative Code of 1923 unquestionably repealed the Act of 1911, and it is not necessary to repeal it again.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 605.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 605, 605, file folio 1597, entitled: "An Act to repeal the act approved the fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws one hundred eighty-two) entitled 'An act to fix the salaries of the judges of the Supreme Court the judges of the Superior Court the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas and the judges of the Orphans' Courts.'"

This bill would repeal the Act of May 5, 1911, P. L. 182, which fixed the salaries of the judges of the Supreme Court, the Superior Court, the Common Pleas Courts and the Orphans' Courts of this Commonwealth.

This act has been repealed by the Acts of July 1, 1919, P. L. 708 and March 16, 1921, P. L. 29, which covered the same subject matter and repealed all inconsistent legislation.

There is no reason for repealing a statute which has already been repealed by other legislation.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. EDWARD P. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 540, file folio 1585, entitled, "An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-eighth day of February one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws seven) entitled 'An act fixing the salary of the Private Secretary to the Governor of the Commonwealth.'"

This bill proposes to repeal the Act of February 28, 1911, which fixed the salary of the Private Secretary to the Governor. This bill was repealed by section 2804 of the Administrative Code of 1923, and there is no good reason for again repealing it.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. THOMAS J. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 584.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 3, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 584, file folio 1563, entitled: "An Act to repeal the act approved the twenty-fifth day of May one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws two hundred thirty-two) entitled 'An act to further amend an act entitled "An act amending the eighty-ninth section of the act entitled 'An act relating to counties and townships and to county and township officers'" approved the fifteenth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and thirty-four and amendment thereto approved the twenty-fourth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven making the compensation of assessors two dollars and fifty cents per day."

The compensation of assessors and assistant assessors in first class townships is provided for by the Act of July 11, 1923, P. L. 1040, while that of assessors and assistant assessors in townships of the second class was fixed by the Act of May 12, 1921, P. L. 534. These acts rendered obsolete the act proposed to be repealed. No confusion can arise from its remaining on the statute books and to enact a repeal will add another unnecessary act to the 1929 Pamphlet Laws.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. YERG. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

VETO OF HOUSE BILL No. 587.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 3, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 587, file folio 1561, entitled: "An Act to repeal the act approved the seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred and seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred fifty-two) entitled 'An act to amend section fourteen of an act entitled "An act to provide for the classification of the townships of the Commonwealth with respect to their population into two classes and to prescribe the form of government for townships of each class."'"

The Act of 1907 is rendered obsolete by the Township Code of 1917, P. L. 840, Section 271 of which fixes the compensation of treasurers of townships of the first class and Section 286 of which, as amended by the Act of June 28, 1923, P. L. 887, fixes the compensation of treasurers of townships of the second class.

The Township Code has, therefore, very effectively repealed the Act of 1907 and an additional act to accomplish the same result is entirely unnecessary.

For these reasons the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. LOWE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 4, 1929.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I return herewith without my approval House Bill No. 539, file folio 1555, entitled: "An Act to repeal the act approved the fourteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred eleven) entitled 'An act fixing the compensation of the deputy factory inspectors.'"

This bill proposes to repeal the Act of June 14, 1911, P. L. 911, which was unquestionably repealed by Section 2804 of the Administrative Code of 1923.

To again repeal the Act of 1911 would serve no useful purpose.

For this reason the bill is not approved.

JOHN S. FISHER.

On the question,

Shall the bill become a law, the veto of the Governor to the contrary notwithstanding?

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the veto be laid upon the table.

Mr. HEFFERNAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

PETITION.

PROTESTING AGAINST PASSAGE OF HOUSE BILL No. 210.

The SPEAKER laid before the House a telegram from the Pennsylvania Automotive Association protesting against passage of House Bill No. 210.

Referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. BATCHELOR. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until to-morrow morning at 11.00 o'clock.

Mr. SHEELY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to, and at 11.59 o'clock P. M., the House adjourned until to-morrow morning at 11.00 o'clock.
